Federal Job Priority Of Veterans Is Affirmed

Supreme Court Holds Preference Greater Than in Private Employment

Veterans have first claim on Government jobs, the Supreme court held yesterday, even though others have longer service or better ratings.

All the justices agreed that the Civil Service Commission rules in force for the last four years, which give veterans "superseniority," were lawful. This means the 800,000 veterans now on Government payrolls, about 45 per cent of the total, will remain there as long as their ratings are "good" or better.

Last year the court held that men who left private jobs for the armed forces had a right to get them back but on no better terms than before. So the veterans were liable to be laid off ahead of nonveterans who had been on the job longer.

Policy of Congress

Justice Black said for the court that Congress had given veterans on the public payroll a higher preference than was given those in private jobs. "It is a policy adopted by Congress," said Black, "and our responsibility is to interpret the act, not to override the congressional policy."

The attack on the Civil Service Commission rules was brought to the court by Earle W. Hilton, who worked 12 years at the Charleston (S. C.) Navy Yard. Then he and others like him were laid off, while veterans who had lately come to the yard were kept. Hilton's counsel argued that some of these veterans had been trained in shipbuilding by those being laid off.

Convict's Claim Rejected

Only one other ruling was given yesterday. By an 8-to-1 vote, the justices turned down the claim of Joseph Palermo, a New York convict, that he was wrongly jailed for attempted theft—to which he pleaded guilty—when he had first been charged with receiving stolen goods. That was 11 years ago. Palermo attacked the sentence in 1945, because he pleaded guilty to robbery and got a heavier sentence because of his first crime.

There are 34 cases which have been heard but not decided, so the court probably will not adjourn for the summer next Monday as planned. Some of these are likely to be decided without opinion, others may be set down for a new hearing next year.

Court orders entered yesterday:

Granted a hearing of the National Labor Relations Board claim that four cotton mills which owned the only hall in North Belmont,

U. S. Pay Bill Chances Slump To 50-50 as Leaders Disagree

By Jerry Kluttz
Post Reporter

Top GOP congressional leaders yesterday failed to agree on a Federal employe pay raise bill. Their inaction on it gives the legislation no better than a 50-50 chance to be enacted into law before Congress adjourns on June 19.

The pay bill was not among the three measures which a joint meeting of the Senate-House Republican steering committees voted to indorse. However, Senator Taft (R., Ohio) said it would be taken up again at a similar session next Monday.

Earlier, there were reports the leaders would be asked to approve a new pay bill which would give a flat $450 to each postal employe, and $375 to each employe whose salary is fixed by the Classification Act. Also, the Classification Act would be overhauled which would give small additional raises to some employes under it.

BEC: At long last, a definite date has been fixed for the transfer back to this city of the Bureau of Employes Compensation which was moved to New York "temporarily" six years ago. The date is June 25. The agency expects to be in full operation here by July 1. It will have offices in the big Social Security Building.

The agency has about 300 employes in New York. A check will be made of those who wish to be transferred here with their agency. It's estimated that from 75 to 100 will either resign or be transferred to other Federal jobs in New York. This means that the agency will be in the market for clerks, stenos and typists in a few weeks.

PEOPLE: David Lasser resigned as of yesterday from his Commerce Department post. He had helped to get up the Harriman committee report on the Marshall Plan. He had been under fire from several members of Congress, but that isn't a new experience for him . . . Robert Huse, Social Security's press chief, is helping the Economic Cooperation Administration set up an information office. He may land the top information job there. The post has been refused by half a dozen newsmen . . . Arthur Ruderman has retired from Civil Aeronautics after 38 years of Federal service.

CENSUS must shift and shake down its personnel, but the net result will be a larger staff than it has now. Its general reshuffling is being forced by its 1949 budget which becomes effective July 1. For example:

That agency this year had $5,700,000 for current statistical studies; after July 1 it will have only $5,100,000 for that work. This means that between 200 and 300 jobs must be eliminated, but only

Measure to Control Reds

5000 Expected Here Today To Oppose Mundt-Nixon Bill

By the United Press

A hastily formed committee of union officials, supporters of Henry A. Wallace and others yesterday announced the "mobilization" of more than 5000 persons to "move on the Capitol" today to demonstrate against the Mundt-Nixon Communist control bill.

[The Subversive Squad of the Metropolitan Police said they expected about 4500 persons here at about 9:30 this morning. The full squad will be on hand.—Editor's note.]

The Mundt-Nixon bill, to require annual registration of the Communist Party and its "front" organizations was passed by the House, 319 to 58, last month. The Senate Judiciary Committee Monday completed four days of hearings on it, but has not yet decided whether to send it to the Senate floor before adjournment on June 19.

Special Trains Chartered

Former Representative Jerry J. O'Connell (D., Mont.) was named chairman of the "committee to defeat the Mundt bill." He promptly announced that special trains and planes had been chartered, and motorcades organized, to bring thousands of "labor and progressive leaders" here today.

Representative John McDowell (R., Pa.), a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee which drafted the bill, told his colleagues to "leave your watches and valuables at home." He said in a floor speech that up to 10,000 Communists and fellow travelers "will be up here smearing their dirty sayings on our buildings and our statues."

O'Connell said his committee is "temporary" and open to all individuals and organizations opposing the bill. He described it as "a spontaneous outgrowth of the tremendous uprising of the American people against the House Un-American Activities Committee conspiracy to wreck their civil liberties . . ."

Mass Meeting Planned

The committee said in a press statement that its backers include Wallace's third party organization, the Civil Rights Congress; the New York Committee for Democratic Rights; the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union (CIO), and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (CIO).

Elizabeth Sasuly, an official of the Food, Tobacco, Agricultural and Allied Workers (CIO), was appointed "executive assistant" to O'Connell.

The committee said a "giant open-air mass meeting" would be

Trade Act Faces Rough Time in Senate

Finance Unit Hearing Reveals GOP Plans Drastic Changes

By Ferdinand Kuhn, Jr.
Post Reporter

The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act faces almost as rough handling in the Senate as in the House.

A Senate Finance Committee hearing yesterday showed key Republicans determined to make drastic changes in renewing the present act which expires June 12.

Former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton argued for more than three hours for unhampered renewal of the act. He declared that American world leadership was at stake, and that world confidence and world recovery would be shaken by a "hesitant" renewal with crippling amendments.

Appeal Apparently Wasted

But his appeals and warnings apparently failed to budge Republican committee members.

Chairman Eugene D. Millikin (R., Colo.) and Senator Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) made it clear that they favored renewing the act for only one year, and with severe limitations on the President's tariff-cutting powers.

Millikin did say he would be willing to delete from the House bill the Congressional power of veto over tariff reductions. Chairman Harold Knutson (R., Minn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee said later that he thought the House conferees would accept such a change.

Would Protect U. S. Producers

But both Millikin and Taft insisted yesterday that the new law should prevent tariff reductions which inflicted "serious injury" on American producers. Taft offered to put the "serious injury" standard into the language of the new law to guide the President, instead of requiring the Tariff Commission to make the determination.

But Clayton objected vigorously

Georgetown Ban on Business Before Zoning Board Today

Proposals to ban retail store expansion and prevent erection of new apartment houses in a Georgetown area east of Wisconsin ave. nw. will be heard today by the District Zoning Commission.

The public hearing will begin at 10 a. m. in the District Building board room, Henry G. Ashton, Zoning Commission executive officer, announced.

The amendment to the city's zoning map, which would change the area from commercial to restricted residential zoning, was requested by the Progressive Citizens Association of Georgetown and the Georgetown Citizens Association, he said.

Properties which would be affected include those on the south side of P st. nw., between Wisconsin ave. and 31st st.; north side of O st. nw., between Wisconsin ave. and 31st st.; both sides of 31st st. nw., between M and N sts.; both sides of Olive st. nw., between 27th and 30th sts.; both sides of 28th and 29th sts. between Olive and M, and east side of 30th st. between Olive and M sts.

A similar request covering Georgetown areas west of Wisconsin ave. was granted by the Zoning Commission last February 25 following a sharp debate at a public hearing February 11. At the hearing, 19 witnesses opposed and 15 favored the plan, while two said they favored it with certain qualifications.

Also to be considered at today's hearing is a zoning regulation change which would permit nursery schools in residential districts, proposed by the Forest Hills Citizens Association.

Flood Crest Rages Past Portland

100 Miles of Dikes Still Threatened; 50,000 Homeless; Loss $40,000,000

Portland, Oreg., June 1 (AP). The costliest Columbia River flood in history hurled its crest toward the sea tonight through the last 100 miles of its valley where 15,000 persons have already fled to safety.

The crest apparently passed Portland late this evening when waters in the Portland harbor, which had held at 29.9 feet four hours, dropped to 29.8. Flood stage is 18 feet. It was the first drop in days.

The surging river, which has flooded farm lands and towns the length of its 1200-mile course from Canada, northern Idaho and Montana, now will throw its full weight against dikes protecting rich dairy land in the 100 miles from Portland to the sea.

If they hold, the worst will be over tomorrow. For days to come, however, the river will be a threat. The weather bureau estimated the Columbia would remain above flood stage for a month.

On this last stretch the estimated 15,000 residents fled to higher ground as the Army ordered evacuation of districts behind weakened dikes.

Many of them previously had moved to safety, warned by the Memorial Day Vanport disaster, which left 18,700 homeless.

In the entire Columbia Basin there were an estimated 50,000 homeless. At least 23 were dead, apart from Vanport, where no bodies have yet been found in the 15-foot depths covering the city.

Damage was estimated at a minimum of 40 million dollars already, in the lower Columbia Valley. Army engineers said they were unable to gauge upriver loss.

Earlier—before extensive damage in the lower area—they had estimated a minimum 30-million-dollar loss in the Columbia Basin, which stretches to the headwaters in Montana, Idaho and Canada's British Columbia. It was there that melting snow started the river on its rampage.

So precarious was the condition of the dikes that engineers feared the wake of a ship might collapse them. The Army ordered all craft off the river from Portland to the ocean. The river will remain closed

Parents Sought 2 Days, 55 Children Unclaimed

Portland, Oreg., June 1 (AP).—The first indication of possible deaths in the Vanport disaster came tonight in a Red Cross announcement that 55 children were unclaimed after two days of search for their parents.

The Red Cross held out hope, however, that many of the parents yet would turn up among the thousands of refugees scattered through Portland and as far away as Salem, 50 miles south.

Arabs, Jews Accept Truce But Defer Cease-Fire Orders; Israeli Airmen Blast Amman

Syrians Announce Retaliatory Attack On Nahariya Port, Setting Big Fires

Amman, Trans-Jordan, June 1 (AP).—Jewish airmen blasted Amman with high explosives and incendiary bombs today in the first attack on an Arab capital. Arab officials said six civilians, including two children, were killed in the surprise assault.

Tonight the Syrians announced that their air force had struck back in an attack on the port of Nahariya, setting big fires and sinking two boats in the harbor north of Acre. The Syrians said they also raided the settlements of Dan and Kafar Geladi in the north.

(Dispatches from Tel Aviv said unconfirmed reports there were that the Jews had been compelled at last to turn their attention to the Egyptian threat to their capital from the south. They said full-scale fighting had broken out in that direction.

Jerusalem Shelled

(The Israeli army said its troops had slashed into the 20-mile inland flank of the Egyptian column moving up the coast. The Israelis indicated the Egyptian spearhead had penetrated to near Yibna within about 14 miles of Tel Aviv, an advance of about 6½ miles. The Jews said they had captured Beit Tima, 3 miles from the Egyptian supply road and 18 miles below Yibna.)

The communique said the Egyptian spearhead was near Yibna, in Jewish coastal territory only 14 miles from Tel Aviv. The last previously announced position of the Egyptian troops was at Isdud, 6½ miles south of Yibna. The Jews said they took Beit Tima, 3 miles from the Egyptian supply road and 18 miles below Yibna.

Guns of Trans-Jordan's legionnaires pounded modern Jerusalem's commercial center intermittently. Jewish small arms fire there was directed at the old city's Jaffa Gate.

Both the Legion and the Iraqi army continued moving large forces of men and artillery into the 40-mile line extending north and west of Jerusalem.

British Field Bombed

The British army said in Haifa that the Israeli planes also bombed a Royal Air Force airfield near Amman, damaging a number of grounded aircraft. The British announcement listed the casualties as 12 Arabs killed and 30 wounded.

A pooled dispatch from the Jewish side of the lines in Jerusalem quoted an official source as saying the raid was made with a small number of bombers operating with fighter escort. This was the most active day of the war for Israel's air force. Jewish planes bombed

Action on Draft Wins Priority Over All Measures But One

By John G. Norris
Post Reporter

Republican leaders of Congress yesterday made passage of draft legislation a "must" item of business before adjournment.

Senator Robert Taft (R., Ohio) said after a policy meeting of Senate and House GOP chiefs, that selective service had been put on the calendar of both Houses for action by June 19—scheduled closing date for the Eightieth Congress.

"The House feels that if we (the Senate) can pass the selective service legislation, it can pass it," he told reporters.

Taft said he had no doubt that the Senate would approve the draft.

The Senate is scheduled to take up the draft when it finishes consideration of a bill to admit displaced persons into the United States—possibly today. A threatened fight and possible filibuster over tacking racial segregation and civil rights legislation to the measure are the chief threat to its passage.

House leaders want to wait and see the outcome of the Senate battle before opening debate. Speaker Joe Martin, however, said after yesterday's leadership conference that he thinks the House will pass the bill.

Earlier in the day, the House Armed Services Committee modified the measure to make it a bit easier for on-the-fence Congressmen to swallow in an election year. The group unanimously approved an amendment putting the responsibility for actually ordering the draft upon President Truman.

This action on the draft coincided with two other developments in defense legislation:

The Senate Armed Services Committee overrode Air Force objections to Navy plans to build a 65,000-ton-or-more "super" aircraft carrier and unanimously indorsed the project.

A bill authorizing the establishment of a "national industrial reserve" of Government-owned war plants which have been on the for-sale or rent list was passed by the Senate and sent to the House. Some 254 wartime-built factories worth an estimated three billion dollars would be renovated where necessary and maintained in readiness for an emergency. They would be leased or sold with a recapture clause if possible.

The amendment to the draft bill would require that before any men could be inducted the Presi-

Israel Also Lists Five 'Assumptions' And Foes Promise 'Details' Later

Lake Success, June 1 (AP). The Jews and Arabs today announced acceptance of a United Nations plea for a four-week armistice in Palestine.

However, their replies to the U. N. left unanswered such questions as when the shooting would stop.

Israel's acceptance was handed to Secretary-General Trygve Lie approximately four hours ahead of the Security Council's 6 p. m. (EST) deadline for reply. The Jews followed this up by issuing cease-fire orders to their troops, effective at that hour (3 a. m., Wednesday, Israeli Time), on condition the Arabs took the same step.

[At a late hour last night no word had been received to indicate that the Arabs had taken any action.]

Questions Unanswered

The seven-nation Arab League's decision to accept the U. N. plan was given to Lie two hours ahead of the deadline but it made no mention of a cease-fire hour. The Council had asked the two parties to agree to the proposals by the appointed hour. The Arab reply left open the actual time of laying down arms.

Also unanswered were the diplomatic and political questions as to whether the acceptances were unconditional. The Arabs said a detailed reply would be sent to the Security Council.

An Israeli spokesman insisted that his government's acceptance was unconditional. However, the Jews stipulated that they were making five assumptions about the plan, including one that the food supply route to Jerusalem would be opened.

Faris El Khoury of Syria, the leading Arab spokesman here, took over the presidency of the Council today under a monthly rotation plan. A study of the replies indicated the terms still would have to be fought out under his gavel in the Council.

Details Promised Later

Charles Malik, delegate of Lebanon, read the initial Arab reply to reporters after handing it to Lie. He refused to answer questions as to whether it could be considered conditional but said the details would come along later. The Arab note said:

"The political committee of the Arab League which met in Amman (Trans-Jordan) accepted the Security Council's request for a cease-fire for the indicated period (four weeks). The political committee will communicate its detailed reply to the Secretary-General and to the President of the Security Council.

"The acceptance by the Arab governments (Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Yemen) of these proposals proves once more their genuine desire to see peace restored in the Holy Land and a just solution to the Palestine problem arrived at."

A British spokesman said his government has made new appeals to the Arabs over the weekend to

Pennsylvanians May Start Bandwagon for Vandenberg

By Edward T. Folliard
Post Reporter

Pennsylvania's big delegation may start a Vandenberg bandwagon rolling at Philadelphia this month.

A survey of the Keystone State yesterday showed the situation to be something like this:

Gov. James H. Duff, although disavowing any commitments or deals in advance, leans toward Senator Vandenberg and makes no secret of it. He not only admires him; he is convinced that the Michigan law-maker is the man most likely to get the 1948 GOP presidential nomination.

Owlett Favors Dewey

E. Mason Owlett, Republican National Committeeman for Pennsylvania and also a power in the State, is favorable to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. So, too, are most of the lieutenants of former Senator Joseph Grundy, although Grundy himself appears to be on the fence.

Pennsylvania will have 73 delegates, the largest bloc at the convention next to New York's 97.

The delegates have pledged themselves to support a favorite son, Senator Edward Martin, in the early balloting. Once this is done they will be free to break away.

Governor Duff, it is estimated, will be able to swing at least 30 delegates to Vandenberg, including those from Philadelphia and Allegheny County (Pittsburgh), who are pledged to follow his lead. The number might run much higher than this.

The Owlett-Grundy group would control most of the remainder.

Stassen Has 6 or 7

Six or seven delegates are prepared to vote for Harold E. Stassen, including Stassen's Pennsylvania manager, Jay Cooke.

Where Joseph N. (Sunoil) Pew stands is a mystery to Pennsylvania observers. He has been reported at various times to have a light in his eye for Speaker Joe Martin, Senator Robert A. Taft and even his friend Jay Cooke's man, Stassen.

Recently, Arthur Vandenberg,

GOP Leaders Plan June 19 Adjournment

'Must' Tag Placed Only on DP, Draft, Tariff Measures

By Robert C. Albright
Post Reporter

Republican congressional leaders yesterday formally set a June 19 adjournment goal and in so doing dimmed the prospects of a long list of major bills.

Only three of them were definitely slated for passage—admission of 200,000 displaced persons, limited extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements program and the draft.

Left up in the air was the fate of long-range housing legislation, repeal of the Federal oleomargarine tax, Federal aid to education, a Government pay increase and many another bill caught in the session's-end jam.

None Definitely Ruled Out

The GOP leaders said none was specifically ruled out at yesterday's conference—they simply did not agree what to do about them. If Congress goes through with its plan to adjourn in less than three weeks a lot will be left on the shelf.

To speed displaced persons legislation—the first of the three bills given the "go" sign, the Senate agreed to meet an hour early today and remain in night session if necessary.

Selective service legislation, out of committee and on the calendar in both Houses, will follow. Next and last in line on the "must" and last in line on the "must"

Andrews to Retire From Congress After 18 Years

Chairman Walter Gresham (Ham) Andrews (R., N. Y.) of the House Armed Services Committee yesterday announced his retirement from Congress, effective at the end of this year, for reasons of health.

His departure from the Washington scene will leave Representative Dewey Short (R., Mo.) in line for the key post, if re-elected and the Republicans again have control of the House.

Short, noted in the House for his silver-tongued oratory, has a legislative record far less pleasing to Pentagon chiefs than Andrews. The latter has been a stanch supporter of national defense measures during his 18 years in Congress. Short, however, is an opponent both of universal military training and the stopgap draft. He supported the 70-group Air Force program.

A native of Galena, Mo., Short studied for the ministry and was a college professor before coming to Congress for one term in 1929. He has served continuously since 1935. A veteran of World War I, he is 50 years old.

Father Sees Daughter, Racing To Greet Him, Killed by Truck

When the iceman comes along Lily Pond dr., all the children run screaming and laughing behind him.

For in any neighborhood, the arrival of the iceman is one of the most exciting happenings of the morning.

So it was yesterday, when a Terminal Ice truck made its deliveries. To one of the children, 2-year-old Virginia Carol Jackson, it was of particular interest, for her father was the iceman, when he wasn't on his full-time job as St. Elizabeths Hospital attendant.

And she saw him, seated beside Gordon Burch, who was driving the truck, as they turned into her street.

Carol's father, "Dickie" Jackson, saw his daughter, too, and called to her to "come on home."

The truck squeaked to a stop in the T-shaped drive in front of Jackson's home at 4371 Lily Pond dr. He went in and came out again in a moment to see the truck start backing out.

Carol, running down the lane to greet her father, slipped and fell under the right rear wheel. The truck passed over her face and shoulder.

A 28-year-old Marine Corps veteran, the father had been on Guadalcanal and in the Solomon Islands. He had seen death in many forms. Not like this.

"Whenever she'd see me, she'd run to meet me," he said, his eyes wide with shock. "This wasn't anybody's fault. It's just one of those things.

5-Cent Tax Hike Provided

Budget for $6.2 Million Is Submitted in Montgomery

A proposed $6,251,633 Montgomery County budget, calling for a 5-cent tax rate increase, was submitted to the Montgomery County commissioners yesterday by County Supervisor I. G. McNayr.

Public hearing on the record budget figure will be held June 15 at 8 p.m. in the Circuit Court room at Rockville. The budget must be adopted prior to July 1.

Representing an increase of almost a million dollars over the present budget, the proposed budget increases school appropriations $487,000 to $2,225,000 and police funds $113,000 to $565,000.

The school figure, however, remains $544,000 below the $3,429,000 requested by the county board of education and the police figure $121,000 below the $686,000 asked by Police Chief Charles M. Orme.

The proposed budget slashes the $25,000 granted this year to Montgomery County Junior College to $15,000 and the $9000 granted this year to nursery schools to $6000.

McNayr said these reductions were made because he felt these institutions should not continue indefinitely to be operated by tax funds.

The budget proposals recommend the County Home be discontinued as an alms house on July 1, provided the county's Board of Public Welfare can make other arrangements for the home's 10 inmates.

The county's present tax rate is $1.88 per $100 assessed valuation. Under the proposed budget, the tax rate would be increased to $1.93.

Rep. Andrews, Soon to Retire, Has Proved Himself Good Friend of Armed Services

The GOP will lose a staunch party-liner, the House of Representatives an able committee organizer and the armed services a good friend, in January, when Representative Walter G. Andrews (R., N. Y.) retires.

Andrews, 58, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, announced yesterday he will not seek reelection for reasons of health—"heart trouble, nothing serious, but they tell me I need a rest."

REP. W. G. ANDREWS
Says he will retire

Stocky, gruff, always sun-tanned, Andrews has represented the solidly Republican North Buffalo-Niagara Falls district for 18 years in the House. Consistently, he has been a down-the-line Republican conservative.

His politics comes by family inheritance, as well as by conviction. His grandfather, Walter Q. Gresham, served as Postmaster General and Secretary of the Treasury under President Arthur.

A student of military history, and a World War I soldier who rose from private to major, earning the Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry in action, he found a suitable niche for himself on the Military Affairs Committee, early in his congressional career.

He was for years ranking minority member. And so his chairmanship of the combined Armed Services Committee, to which he was named a year and a half ago, was inevitable. This committee is a merger of the former House Military and Naval Affairs Committees.

Andrews has great respect for high brass. And "Ham," a nickname derived from his middle name, Gresham, loves to play convival host in his smart Dorchester House apartment to top military leaders. Which has led one columnist to characterize the Representatives as a genial idolator of bright brass.

He is, in fact, something of a military martinet himself. He was reported to have instructed civilian experts on the Armed Services Committee to show respect for their seniors and rise when committee members enter the room.

Few observers, however, cavil at the effectiveness with which he has organized the merged House committee, one of the preludes to unification of the armed services.

Here he has stressed cooperation between the services and between Republicans and Democrats, believing as he does that national defense is a national necessity, not a party issue.

He helped gather a professional staff of high-caliber experts and organized subcommittees on a functional, rather than service basis. War and Navy Department liaison officers, who once exerted great influence on the unmerged committees, are relegated, in his plans, to service as contact men.

Committee work has been his principal arena. His speeches are not frequent. When he does talk even veteran reporters find his word-slurring hard to follow.

Andrews was born in Evanston, Ill., in 1889, grew up in Buffalo, N. Y., was educated at Lawrenceville Academy and Princeton University. He entered his father's paint and varnish business in Buffalo as a factory hand, then enlisted in the Army when World War I broke out. He was wounded during the attack on the Hindenburg Line, was decorated for heroism.

Returning to the business world, he served as superintendent of a Canadian plant, employment manager, service and central sales manager. His debut in politics was in 1928, as vote-getting Erie County chairman of the Hoover campaign. In 1930 Hoover named him a census supervisor. Elected to the Seventy-second Congress as Representative from the Fortieth District, he survived the Democratic New Deal landslide, repeatedly garnering healthy majorities.

Why did he enter politics? He believes, today, it was probably because of the St. Lawrence waterway project and prohibition—he was dry on the first, wet on the second.

His plans when he leaves Congress? He hasn't decided yet. But chances are he will remain a confirmed bachelor, he laughingly confides. He'll probably get some hunting and fishing and loafing. hunting and fishing and loafing in, too.

Powers Reach Agreement on Western Reich

London, June 1.—The six-power conference on the political and economic future of western Germany ended tonight after six weeks of tense negotiations.

The result was agreement on recommendations to be submitted to the governments of the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg on plans to:

1. Convene a constituent assembly September 1 to draw up a constitution for a western German government which is expected to assume its limited powers early next year.

2. Establish a seven-power international authority to control the allocation of the coal, coke and steel of the Ruhr.

3. Provide for long-term security guarantees against a revival of Germany as an aggressor, including arrangements which envisage military occupation of the Ruhr and the Rhineland—the heart of Germany's industrial and war potential—even after the full-scale occupation of western Germany ends.

Although the conference ended officially just before 6 p. m. today, the final communique will not be issued until 6 p. m. tomorrow (London Time). The delay was understood to be due to plans to issue the communique simultaneously in the six capitals.

The final meeting today was only for the purpose of signing the lengthy report to the governments and the proposed public summary of it. The summary will be the basis for parliamentary debates on the recommendations.

Greek Rebels Propose Peace Negotiations

Athens, June 1 (U.P.).—The Communist-led guerillas today proposed a negotiated peace in Greece's civil war, but government leaders said the rebels must choose between unconditional surrender and total defeat.

The guerilla radio said that Gen. Markos Vafiades' "Provisional Democratic Government" would discuss any proposals for peace, provided that the democratic rights and independence of the Greek people were safeguarded and that "every foreign interference be ended."

But the announcement warned the government against taking the offer as a sign of weakness, saying that "the democratic army is not relaxing its hold on the rifle . . ."

The unexpected peace proposals, the first time the rebels had ever mentioned conciliation, came soon after the opening of the Soviet "peace offensive" call for negotiations with the United States.

Arab troop concentrations in Lydda, Tulkarm and Jenin.

The air raid caught Amman by surprise. Street lights were burning when the first of four Jewish flights appeared over Trans-Jordan's little capital in the early morning darkness. No air raid precautions had been taken.

Raid Arouses Bitterness

A short time late Count Folke Bernadotte, the U. N. mediator, arrived from Haifa for talks with Arab leaders on the proposed truce. During the afternoon Count Bernadotte conferred with King Abdullah and then left by plane, his destination possibly Cairo or Tel Aviv.

Bitterness over the raid was at a high pitch when the Arab League's political committee met to discuss the U. N. cease-fire proposal. Some Arab quarters said the haid was a deliberate attempt by the Jews to frighten the committee.

Rumors circulated in committee circles that Egyptians and Iraqi planes bombed the center of Tel Aviv in reprisal for the Jewish attack.

Members of the Arab league's political committee consulted during the morning with high military officers of Trans-Jordan, Iraq and Egypt. There is fresh evidence in military quarters that the Arab states are awakening to the magnitude of the forces required for an effective assault on the Jews.

Girl Cadets to Hold Annual Drill Thursday

Annual competitive drill of companies of the Girls High School Cadet Corps, divisions 1-9, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at Central High School stadium. In the event of inclement weather, the competition will be held at the same time June 7.

Companies in the competitive drill will be "M" and "K" of Anacostia attalion, "L" and "R" of Central Battalion, "C" of Roosevelt Battalion, and "C" of Chamberlain Battalion.

dent must make a finding that the armed forces cannot be maintained by voluntary means. He must issue a proclamation to this effect, ordering the draft into operation.

Such a proclamation could not be issued until 75 days after the bill becomes law, to allow time for volunteers to flow in. Actual inductions could begin 15 days later. Officials estimate that it will take at least two and a half months to set up draft machinery.

Representative Carl Vinson of Georgia, ranking minority member of the committee, offered the amendment. It will be presented when the bill comes up on the House floor. The measure—approved by the House Armed Services Committee a month ago—is still before the House Rules Committee.

Spaatz Differs With Denfeld

The Senate committee vote on the aircraft carrier came after a closed hearing at which Defense Secretary James Forrestal, Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan and Admiral Louis Denfeld, chief of naval operations, backed the proposal.

A letter from Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, retiring Air Force chief of staff, was presented to the committee. In it, Spaatz took issue with prior statements by Denfeld that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had approved the big carrier.

The Admiral said yesterday the 65,000-top flattop had been included in "the estimated force requirements for war plans approved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff last December 5, before he became a member of the group.

Not Approved by Air Force

Spaatz's letter declared this plan had been furnished the President's Air Policy Commission which was making recommendations on Air Force and Navy plane strengths. At the time, he said, he went on record with the JCS that he was not approving all of the supporting data for these plane strengths.

The retiring USAF chief stated that the Air Force had not approved the carrier and that it had not been presented to the JCS in "sufficient detail" for him to reach an opinion as to its worth. If the carrier is to be used for "strictly naval purposes" that is one thing, but if based in part for use in strategic air operations, Spaatz said, the Air Force must be consulted, under approved procedure.

In a prepared statement presented the committee and released afterward, Denfeld said the requirement for the carrier rests principally on the primary war functions of the Navy.

Sullivan, in a lengthy statement, refuted charges that the proposed carrier would be "unreasonably vulnerable," citing figures from the Pacific war to substantiate his words. He said the Navy concedes "strategic bombing is a job primarily for the Air Force."

"However," Sullivan added, "at the beginning of hostilities and until the Air Force could acquire operating bases within flying range of the enemy we must fight with whatever we have.

Would "Buy Time for Defense"

In such a situation carrier-based Navy air could and would deliver attacks that would certainly slow up enemy attacks upon our allies and our homeland (and) buy for us time to defend ourselves."

After the meeting, Chairman Chan Gurney (R., S. Dak.) said that Forrestal and Gen. Omar Bradley, Army member of the JCS, favored the carrier, while Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Spaatz's successor on the military policy group, had not taken a stand.

The legislation approved by the committee would permit the Navy to stop work on 13 warships now building and use the money for the carrier and other new vessels.

Seventh Vote For Schuman

Paris, June 1 (NYHT).—The National Assembly gave Premier Robert Schuman an impressive vote of confidence today on a question involving the dismissal of surplus civil servants. The vote was 402 to 183, with only the Communists opposing the government.

It was Schuman's seventh and most clear-cut parliamentary indorsement since he took office last November, and it came about because his Socialist allies were placated by a compromise that also satisfied leaders of the Workers' Strength Civil Servants' Union.

As a result of the vote, the Assembly's commission of the interior will have to reconsider its rejection of a bill calling for the progressive discharge of some 150,000 surplus government employes. As a concession to the Socialists, the bill is being rewritten to limit firings, so far as possible, to temporary employes.

Arabs and Jews Accept U. N. Truce

accept the Council plan unconditionally.

The Jews accepted the peace plan a few hours after Israeli airmen bombed Amman, the Trans-Jordan capital, where Arab League leaders were debating the U. N. appeal for an end to hostilities.

The Jewish reply listed these assumptions:

1. That the ban on importing arms in the Middle East also should apply to the delivery of arms from stores owned and controlled by foreign powers in the territories involved. A spokesman said this referred to British stores that might be supplying the Arab field armies of Egypt, Iraq and Trans-Jordan under treaty obligations.

2. That the Arabs and Jews should maintain the positions held at the time of the Council cease-fire (3 a. m., Israeli time, Wednesday, June 2).

3. That food supplies would be assured for Jerusalem and normal civilian entry and exit would be guaranteed. A Jewish spokesman said his government would regard any attempt to stop food supplies for Jerusalem as a violation of the cease-fire.

Immigration Rights Demanded

4. That any attempt to stop normal transport of goods assigned to Israel and other states concerned would be regarded as an act of armed force. This was understood as a reference to efforts of some Arab states to put into effect a sea blockade against the Jewish state.

5. That Israel's freedom to admit immigrants would not be impaired.

Under the U. N, plan, the sixth effort here to stop the war, an arms embargo would be instituted against the Jews and the seven warring Arab nations.

The Security Council meets tomorrow (1:30 p. m. EST) to receive the replies officially.

Assumptions Declined Essential

A Jewish spokesman said his government would have to reconsider its position should the Council refuse to agree to the five assumptions laid down.

The Council cease-fire plan, submitted by Britain and amended by the United States, Canada and France, was passed by the Council last Saturday night.

Settlement efforts in Palestine would be carried out by Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte, the U. N. mediator. He already is on the scene and conferred with King Abdullah in Amman today.

'Voice' Had Comedy Touch, Says Writer

By The Associated Press

A writer of the radio stories about America that made Congress hopping mad said yesterday that National Broadcasting Co. officials compelled him to put "cheap comedy" into them.

The writer, Rene Borgia, 52-year-old Venezuelan, told Senate investigators that he wanted to turn out "beautiful" scripts, but officials of NBC, which employed him, made him write the way they wanted, under threat of discharge. His superiors, he observed, lacked culture.

Borgia testified at an investigation of "Know North America" broadcasts which NBC beamed in Spanish last winter to Latin America under contract with the State Department. He wrote many of the scripts.

Didn't Ask Citizenship

He has been in this country off and on since 1916, Borgia said, but hasn't asked for citizenship. He has been writer, translator and adapter of books and radio programs.

"Amazement" was expressed to reporters later by two Senators, Smith (R., N. J.) and Ferguson (R., Mich.), because Borgia was entrusted with the series. Smith said he couldn't understand how anyone could have thought that a man of Borgia's background could have reflected what America is.

Smith, presiding, said the object of the hearings is to strengthen the "Voice of America" against mistakes or misuse. He made this observation as testimony began before subcommittees of the Foreign Relations and Expenditures Committees.

For the State Department, George V. Allen, Assistant Secretary of State, said the Department had "overall responsibility" for the "Know North America" series. But, he said, it doesn't have funds or people for close supervision.

Wants More Money

Allen requested Congress to clarify the department's responsibility for overseas broadcasts. He said the service could expand if a requested 27 million dollars for the year beginning July 1 is approved.

Investigations quickly were ordered last week when Senators heard portions of the Know North America series read. They contained such expressions as "New England was founded by hypocrisy and Texas by sin."

Most of his source material was drawn from WPA guide books and a book about the United States by John Gunther, Borgia said. He wrote the series from a broadcast last November 24 through one which went out February 16.

Borgia was critical of his NBC superiors. His immediate supervisor, Alberto Gandero, he characterized as "just another announcer or something—not very intellectual."

He observed, however, that the broadcasts "were not offensive" in Latin America.

Gandero, now in radio work in Cuba, lost his supervisory job with NBC at the same time Borgia was relieved of his script writing post.

Last week in Havana he claimed that "isolated sentences were taken from them (the scripts) which do not reflect the true spirit of the broadcasts."

He said "these broadcasts were a real service to the country."

Gandero, a Cuban-born American citizen, said "there never was a criticism of these shows from any nation in Latin America. The scripts, if not perfect, certainly had no malicious inspiration.

"I can say that the people who are doing these Voice of America shows, every single one of them, have in their hearts only the best interests of their country."

Distortion Charged

Senator Smith, opening the hearing, declared there was a "persistent tendency towards ineffectiveness and distortion" in the broadcasts.

In an opening statement, Smith said the objective of the hearing will be to determine how the "Voice of America" can be "strengthened and protected" against mistakes or misuse.

"With the European recovery program under way," Smith said, "it is vitally necessary that the truth be told to the world about our country to offset the vicious anti-American propaganda that is now being carried on, and the misrepresentation as to America's true purpose in the present attempt to cooperate with the other nations of the world."

New Trieste Note Sent to Soviet by U. S.

By The Associated Press

The United States made another attempt yesterday to get talks going with Russia over a trouble spot. It renewed a demand that Trieste be given back to Italy.

Officials who helped draft the Trieste note—fourth on the subject—told a reporter it would test Russia's newly proclaimed desire to reach an understanding with the West.

Last week the United States suggested a conference on Danube River navigation. A reply has not been received. On May 17, Premier Stalin said a "peaceful settlement" of differences between the countries is desirable.

Yesterday's Trieste note, delivered to the Russian Embassy, tried to hurry an overdue answer from Moscow to British-French-American proposal to turn the free territory of Trieste over to Italy.

The State Department said it understood Britain and France have sent similar notes, making it plain they stand with the United States view.

The free territory is a strategic 305-square mile area on Italy's northeastern border. Under the Italian treaty, it was to have been placed under United Nations control.

British and American troops occupy the northern zone, and Yugoslavian troops the south. Those forces have been marking time there, because Yugoslavia and the West have been unable to agree on a governor to rule the internationalized area.

United States, Britain and France have suggested that they and Russia meet with Italy to change the treaty provision regarding Trieste.

In today's note, the State Department said the protection of the interests of the inhabitants of the area requires "a very early resolution of the problem."

"It is hoped that the Soviet government will communicate its views at an early date concerning the procedure to be followed for the joint consideration of the matter by the powers concerned," the note added.

De Gasperi Looks to U. S.

Rome, June 1 (U.P.).—A confident Premier Alcide de Gasperi told Parliament tonight the Marshall Plan was the keynote of his new government's foreign policy. He predicted American money would help rebuild a new Italy.

De Gasperi outlined a program of social reforms, promised grimly to disarm organized gangs and warned Communist-dominated labor that he would "regulate" the right to strike.

The Social Democrat leader, cheered by the majority Right and heckled by the strong Leftist minority, said that strict anti-inflation economic controls would continue until Italy was able to steer her own course to recovery.

Writers Sue Movies to Lift Bar on Reds

New York, June 1 (AP).—Thirty writers, who said they were not Communists, today filed suit to prevent motion picture producers from barring Communist screen authors from the film industry.

The suit in Federal Court seeks to enjoin an alleged conspiracy by producers and producers' groups in violation of Federal anti-trust laws.

The action was brought by the Screen Writers Guild, Inc., and members of the Authors League of America, Inc., against the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers and a group of producers.

The writers alleged a resolution adopted by the defendants November 23, 1947, "is so vague and uncertain as to forbid to screen writers any opinions or associations which may at the time be unpopular."

The resolution, the complainants said, stated the producers "will not knowingly employ a Communist or a member of any party or group which advocates the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force or by any illegal or unconstitutional methods."

Thurman Arnold, former assistant United States Attorney General and counsel for the writers, said in a statement that "each producer surrenders his own individual judgment to the judgment of the group."

Individual directors of the Screen Writers Guild named as plaintiffs were Sheridan Gibney, Robert Ardrey, Art Arthur, Claude Binyon, Charles Brackett, Frank Cavett, Valentine Davies, Richard English, Everett Freeman, Paul Gangelin, Albert Hackett, F. Hugh Herbert, Milton Krims, Arthur Kober, Ernest Pascal, George Seaton, Arthur Sheekman, Leonard Spigelgass, Dwight Taylor and Harry Tugend.

Other individual plaintiffs who also are members of the council of the Authors League of America, which itself is not a plaintiff, were Oscar Hammerstein, 2d; John Hersey, Russel Crouse, Moss Hart, Christopher La Farge, Howard Lindsay, Richard Rodgers, Rex Stout, John Vandercook and Glenway Wescott.

Stachel Faces Deportation, Free on Bond

New York, June 1 (AP).—Jacob Abraham (Jack) Stachel, educational director of the Communist Party, was arrested here today and taken to Ellis Island to await deportation proceedings. He later was freed on $3500 bond.

Stachel, who was picked up by FBI and immigration agents in front of his home at 203 West 94th st., is accused of entering the United States illegaly and of joining a subversive organization after his entry.

Committee Protests

The American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, protested Stachel's arrest in a telegram to Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

Stachel, 49, is the latest of a dozen top figures in the Communist Party to be arrested for deportation.

The Justice Department said he is a member of the Communist Party's national committee and of the Communist national board as well as education director.

Stachel, a native of Horosimoff, Galicia, now a part of the Soviet Union, is married and has one child.

The warrant said he last entered the United States at an unknown port in November 1931, when he came in without an immigration visa.

Called "Political Gesture"

Communist Party national headquarters had no immediate comment and referred inquiries to the Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born, which a Communist spokesman said was "handling the case."

Abner Green, executive secretary of the committee, said in his telegram to Clark that "Mr. Stachel's arrest is an obvious attempt to promote political persecution and to terrorize the American people. We condemn your attempt to carry off deportation proceedings in violation of the law.

"Mr. Stachel's arrest is a political gesture since it is today impossible for the Justice Department to proceed with deportation hearings until it complies with the law as enacted by Congress."

held possibly at the Lincoln Memorial, or on the Capitol steps.

Negro singer Paul Robeson, who refused Monday to tell the Senate Judiciary Committee whether he carries a Communist Party card, was listed along with three Congressmen as having been "invited to speak" at the rally.

Similar invitations were extended to Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho, Wallace's vice presidential running mate; Representative Vito Marcantonio (ALP, N. Y.), and Senator William Langer (R., N. Dak.).

Senator Homer Ferguson (R., Mich.) said meanwhile that the Judiciary Committee may call Robeson back to its stand to ask him again whether he is a Communist. When Ferguson put the question to the singer Monday, only three committee members, less than a quorum, were present.

Ferguson said that raised a "legal problam" whether Robeson could be cited for contempt of Congress.

Price Cuts, Not Pay Increases Backed by French Labor Units

Paris, June 1 (NYHT).—Two major French labor organizations joined forces today to back the government's program by calling for price cuts instead of wage increases.

The Communist-led General Labor Confederation (CGT) is still holding out for wage boosts of 20 per cent. But the labor movement known as Workers' Strength and the Christian Labor Federation, which between them claim some two and a half million members, formed themselves today into a united front organization to buck Communist pressure for wage increases. Their united front organization is called the Inter-Confederal Cartel, and according to cartel spokesmen it will try to mobilize labor pressure to lower prices by means short of the strike threat. Among other measures they recommended establishment of more workers' cooperatives and of "yardstick" stores in districts where the price scale is too high.

The cartel decision had been awaited with some anxiety because today marked the end of a six-month "truce" which the government requested from labor leaders in order to prove that it could check inflation in that period.

The Communist-led CGT, which is believed to be a good deal stronger than the cartel unions, takes no stock in the government figures. But indices do show that retail prices during the past month or two have been approaching a freezing point.

U. S.-British Vote to Rule Ruhr

By Walter Kerr

Paris, June 1 (NYHT).—The International Control Authority for the Ruhr Industrial Basin, called for in the six-power London agreement, will consist of 15 members, representing the United States, Great Britain, France, the Benelux states and western Germany.

There will be three Americans, three British members, three French, three from the Benelux states as a group, and one representative for each of the three zones of occupation, named by military government officials.

Under this system the United States, counting the members from its occupation zone, will have four votes. The British will have four, the French four, and the Benelux states three, giving Anglo-American officials eight votes to seven in any disagreement with French and Benelux members.

This possible line-up may become of importance for, according to the terms of the compromise which has been worked out in London, all decisions of the control authority will be made by simple majority vote. The effect will be the maintenance of Anglo-American leadership in questions involving the Ruhr.

Following occupation, it is learned here, the control body will continue to function, except that western Germany will have the three votes which now will be cast by representatives picked by occupation authorities.

This is one of the agreements which the administration of Premier Robert Schuman must submit for approval to the National Assembly. It is believed the French delegation in London obtained the best possible bargain, and Schuman intends to fight for its adoption.

The opposition, however, will be strong.

Lewis Faces Goldsborough Today in Hearing On Order to Bargain With Southern Mines

By Dillard Stokes
Post Reporter

John L. Lewis—who with his union was fined more than two million dollars for bucking two court orders last year—may be up against a third one today.

Justice T. Alan Goldsborough of the District Court fined Lewis in breaking two United Mine Workers coal strikes. Now, the justice has been asked to force Lewis to bargain with the Southern Coal Producers Association on a new wage-hour contract. A hearing upon issuing such an order is set for 10 o'clock this morning.

The new coal case grows out of the moves of both the mine owners and the UMW president to drive the best deal they can in writing the new wage contract. But the issue comes to the court tangled in a snarl of red tape.

Lewis Ready to Bargain

Lewis is ready to bargain, in fact he called a meeting for the purpose last month. Northern operators, whose mines turn out about 270 million tons of coal a year, are ready to deal with him. So are the 400 Southern mine owners, who turn out another 160 million tons.

The Southern owners belong to 14 regional groups, and also to the Southern association. The association did not take part in drafting the 1947 contract. After it was drawn, Lewis would not let the association sign it, so it was signed by the 14 regional groups.

The contract says all who signed it are to help draft the new one. Lewis says that binds him to deal with the 14 groups, and with Joseph E. Moody, their spokesman, who is president of the Southern association.

Asks Case Thrown Out

But the Southern mine owners have named the association their bargaining agent, and Moody came to the wage meeting to speak for the association, and not for the groups that make it up. When the other mine owners said Lewis would have to deal with Moody on this basis, Lewis broke up the meeting.

The operators complained to the National Labor Relations Board, and General Counsel Robert N. Denham asked Justice Goldsborough for a court order, to force Lewis to deal with the association. Such orders are provided for by the Taft-Hartley Act.

Through UMW Counsel Welly K. Hopkins, Lewis yesterday asked the justice to throw out the NLRB case on three grounds.

5 Diplomats Named for Promotion

President Truman yesterday nominated Charles E. Bohlen, State Department counselor, and four other diplomats for promotion to the top Foreign Service rank of career minister.

Bohlen

All are now in class I of the Foreign Service. The promotion carries a maximum of $1500 in pay to $13,500 a year.

Bohlen is one of Secretary Marshall's principal advisers on relations with Soviet Russia.

Others nominated include Herbert S. Bursley, Washington, D. C., Ambassador to Honduras; Richard P. Butrick, New York, Minister to Iceland; John M. Cabot, Massachusetts, counselor of the American Embassy at Nanking and consul general at Shanghai, and North Winship, Georgia, Ambassador to the Union of South Africa.

New Railroad Pension Rise In Agreement

By The Associated Press

Congressional leaders disclosed yesterday that rail union and management leaders have agreed to legislation boosting pension rates for about 200,000 retired rail workers by 20 per cent.

Quick action in passing enabling legislation was indicated, with a House vote tentatively set for Monday.

The plan also calls for (1) a sharp reduction in the payroll tax the carrier pay to theunemployment compensation fund, and (2) a guarantee that each rail worker, or his survivors, will get the full amount of his pension credit regardless of time of his death.

There was no indication that the union-management agreement will have any bearing on the present pay dispute between three rail brotherhoods and the railroads.

John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, held meetings with both sides in that dispute again yesterday. No progress was reported. Representatives of the three unions—the locomotive engineers, firemen and enginemen, and switchmen—were to return to the White House this morning.

Other rail unions settled for a 15½-cent pay boost and minor working rule changes in 1947. The three unions have been holding out for more. The carriers have refused to change the 1947 pay formula.

The president of one of these three disputing unions, Arthur J. Glover of the switchmen, told a reporter that there is a rank-and-file movement afoot for rail unionists to picket President Truman's train at stops en route to the West Coast.

The presidential tour starts Thursday.

The picketing is contemplated in the event the White House has been unable to arrange a settlement by then. The railroad system now is under Government seizure because the three unions had threatened a strike.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio), chairman of the House Labor Committee, and Representative Wolverton (R., N. J.), chairman of the House Interstate Committee, both introduced bills yesterday to authorize the pension-payment boost and unemployment payroll tax cut.

Both made speeches saying they understood the railroads and rail unions agreed to the change.

The pension fund now amounts to about 950 million dollars, the separate unemployment fund amounts to approximately $1,300,000,000.

Under the agreement the unemployment payroll tax will be reduced from 3 per cent to 1½ per cent. However, there is a proviso that if the unemployment compensation fund falls below 450 million dollars the tax will automatically increase.

No Changes Planned for Labor Law

By The Associated Press

The Joint Congressional Labor-Management Committee decided yesterday not to recommend any changes in the Taft-Hartley Act this year.

The committee, headed by Senator Ball (R., Minn.), instructed its lawyer, however, to explore the possibility of speeding up plant elections authorizing "union shop" contracts.

Bills have been introduced to eliminate such elections.

Ball told reporters the committee didn't vote on these bills directly because they all realized there was no chance of enacting the proposal at this session of Congress.

"The consensus," he said, "was that it would be impossible to pass an amendment.'

Chances Now Slim.

There is still a chance that the committee may recommend a change in the Railway Labor Act next week. But Ball said it is a slim chance indeed.

The committee, composed of Senators and Representatives, will continue its daily hearings on proposals to change the labor laws.

One of its witnesses yesterday was Hyman Blumberg, executive vice president of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers. He asked that Congress put no restrictions on industry-wide bargaining and opposed any further curbs on union welfare funds.

Industry-Wide Bargaining

One idea getting consideration is to forbid a union from bargaining with an entire industry at one time. The thought back of this is to prevent a strike from tying up an entire industry, such as steel or coal. The union would have to bargain separately with each plant.

Blumberg said industry-wide bargaining is "essential" to the welfare of workers in the men's clothing industry.

He said any law restricting such bargaining would undo the results of more than 30 years of bargaining experience in the industry and "restore the chaotic conditions of old."

Crugon, 97, Youngest GAR Veteran, Dead

Chicago, June 1 (AP).—Death has claimed James Crugon, 97, the Nation's youngest member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

He died in Hines Veteran Hospital May 30, five days before his ninety-eighth birthday.

The Civil War veteran fought in the battles of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Perryville, Ky. He was 11 when he enlisted as a drummer boy. He was born in Paris, France. His death leaves only two GAR survivors in Illinois, and 51 in the United States.

Congress Votes $511 Million for 3 Agencies

By The Associated Press

The Senate approved and sent to the White House last night a bill for approximately 511 million dollars to run the State, Commerce and Justice Departments and the Judiciary in the year starting July 1.

Approval was by voice vote and without debate. The bill carries 28 million dollars for the controversial Voice-of-America information program of the State Department.

The House passed and sent to the Senate, meanwhile, a $248,414,255 appropriation bill to cover costs of running the Treasury and Postoffice Departments next year.

It was the first of four money bills totaling between 15 billion dollars and 20 billion dollars scheduled for House action this week.

The House accepted the recommendations of its Appropriations Committee without change, cutting funds for the Pastoffice Department more than 100 million dollars below the budget recommended by President Truman.

In approving the Treasury-Postoffice appropriation, the committee didn't even try to guess how much in income tax overpayments will have to be refunded in the new fiscal year which starts July 1. Instead, the committee recommended that the Treasury be granted an indefinite appropriation for that purpose "to assure availability of adequate funds to make payments promptly."

Last year Congress lopped off 800 million dollars from the $2,031,000,000 refund item asked by the Treasury for the 1948 fiscal year. Later it had to restore the 800 million dollars and more, too, for a total of $2,229,000,000.

This time the committee reported that there are too many "imponderables" involved, and that after all the refunds depends "entirely upon the law and facts in each individual case."

One thing which makes it hard to estimate the refund total this time is the cut in 1948 income taxes. Millions of persons will be eligible for refunds because of excess withholdings in the first four months of this year.

The committee cut $106,791,120 from the total President Truman asked for the two departments. He asked $158,686,100 for the postoffice, and the committee voted only $57,875,500, or little more than one third. The Treasury's budget was whittled from $196,519,275 to $190,538,755, of which $140,138,755 is earmarked for the Coast Guard.

Discussing the $100,810,600 cut in the Post Office Department, the committee said the original request was based on the assumption of continued increase in mail business. There is no definite proof that is so, the committee said. It promised to recommend more money later if the need can be demonstrated.

President Picks Up 74 More Delegates

By the Associated Press

President Truman picked up 74 more national convention votes for the Democratic presidential nomination yesterday and stood to gain another eight.

The 74 were made up of 54 won without opposition in a California primary and 20 instructed for him in a Maryland party convention. This ran his total pledged and claimed to 589, or 29 short of the 618 required for the nomination. Some of his claimed votes are disputed.

The President's chances to net another eight delegates votes were dependent on the outcome of a South Dakota primary. Two delegate slates were on the Democratic ticket there, one uncommitted, the other pro-Truman.

Alabama Anti-Truman

On the other hand, Alabama Democrats apparently indorsed a break with national party leaders over the civil rights issue.

Incomplete returns from a run-off party primary indicated election of a delegation to the Philadelphia convention pledged to walk out if President Truman is nominated or if a strong civil rights plank is adopted in the party platform.

Alabama's Gov. James E. Folsom, who opposed the walkout proposal, was running last in a seven-man field for delegate at large. Four of this group were to be elected.

Returns from 1662 of the State's 2368 boxes gave this result for delegate at large:

J. Miller Bonner, 89,591; Gessner T. McCorvey, 82,488; Albert Stapp, 86,417; D. Hardy Riddle, 87,231; A. A. Carmichael, 81,959; Joe Money, 68,957; Folsom, 58,053.

Bonner, McCorvey, Stapp and Riddle are pledged to walk out on the civil rights issue.

In the races for seven districts seats, men pledged to walk out were leading in six races. The other leader was uncommitted.

Anti-Truman Delegates

Delegate votes committed against the President's nomination now total 94, divided this way: Alabama, 26; Florida, 20; Georgia, 28, and South Carolina, 20. Some Alabama and Florida delegates are pledged to bolt the national convention if Mr. Truman is nominated or if a strong civil rights plank is adopted.

All told, Democratic delegates with 93 votes were named yesterday. This leaves 214 yet to be named to complete the total convention vote of 4234.

California's 53 Republican delegates, pledged to Gov. Earl Warren, topped Republican selections today. Like Truman's, his slate had no opposition. Eleven more were elected in South Dakota's primary. They are uninstructed, but are expected to vote for Harold E. Stassen on the first ballot for the presidential nomination.

Indiana Alone Remains

The 64 Republican delegates chosen yesterday brought the GOP total to 1065, leaving only Indiana's 29, to be named in convention June 10-11, to round out the national convention roster.

In instructing its delegates for President Truman, Maryland Democrats alaso committed their 20 convention votes to Senator Tydings (D., Md.) for the vice presidential nomination.

D. C. Democrat Vote Sought

The Washington Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action yesterday urged District Democrats to turn out June 14 to vote for delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

In a letter to members, president Benjamin C. Sigal emphasized that ADA solicits no support for any presidential candidate, but hinted that some ADA members may run for delegate.

A new twist in trying to get a large turnout in the balloting, was contained in a questionnaire given out to prospective voters. Besides seeking routine name-and-address information, the card asks: "Need baby sitter in order to vote?" and "Need transportation in order to vote?"

Offices to be filled in the election are six convention delegates and six alternates, District Central Committee members and national committee representatives.

Eligible to vote are District residents who are Democrats and who do not vote elsewhere. Balloting will be from 2 to 8 p. m. Polling places are as yet unannounced.

Pa. May Aid Vandenberg

jr., son and secretary of the Michigan Senator, was seen talking to Governor Duff in Philadelphia. A crop of rumors was the result, including one that the whole Pennsylvania delegation was ready to plump for Vandenberg, senior.

The Duff-Vandenberg meeting, it turned out, was accidental and took place while young Arthur was in Philadelphia arranging for hotel space.

As for the talk about a 100-percent Vandenberg delegation, this fails to stand up at this stage because there is no one man in Pennsylvania GOP politics who can deliver the delegation.

It may be that Governor Duff, Committeeman Owlett and the others will be able to work out a harmony deal before the convention, or at least during the convention. However, there was no sign of one yesterday.

A powerful argument exists for harmony. In 1940, at another Philadelphia convention, the Pennsylvania delegates fell asleep and allowed a bandwagon to get away from them. They were still voting for Arthur H. James, their Governor and a hopeless favorite-son candidate, when an explosion of cheers told them that Wendell Willkie had the prize.

Nonpolitical, Say Aides of Truman Trip

By the Associated Press

The White House said yesterday President Truman's cross-country tour "is not a political campaign trip and the speeches are not being made under political auspices."

Carrol Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee, asserted Monday the tour is "an obvious campaign trip." He said it is aimed at bolstering the "waning prospects" of the Democratic Party and Mr. Truman's Presidential candidacy.

Without mentioning Reece, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters today it is "just like any other Presidential trip."

He said it all started with an engagement to speak at the University of California commencement June 12.

"It just grew," Ross said.

In reply to questions, Ross said no representative of the Democratic National Committee will go along. Neither, he said, will Samuel I. Rosenman, former Presidential counsel and now a New York lawyer, nor George E. Allen, former RFC member and one-time secretary of the Democratic National Committee.

Mr. Truman will leave Thursday night aboard the Presidential special train. He will speak Friday in Chicago and then go on to Omaha and the West Coast for major addresses.

Ross said the official party will be limited to members of the President's staff. Besides Ross, there will be:

Presidential Appointment Secretary Matthew J. Connelly; Clark M. Clifford, presidential counsel and speech writer; Charles S. Murphy, administrative assistant; Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, physician, and the three Presidential aides: Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, Army; Capt. Robert Dennison, Navy, and Col. Robert B. Landry, Air Forces.

Ross said the President's platform talks will be broadcast locally in a good many of the cities, but that those broadcasts are being arranged by local stations.

Stassen Urges America Act To Save New Jewish State

Philadelphia, June 1 (AP).—Harold E. Stassen tonight attacked the Administration's foreign policy for "contributing to the destruction of Palestine and the obliteration of Israel."

He advocated a bipartisan Palestine policy, proposed that the United States Navy be sent to carry out United Nations policy directives and enforce a truce, and advocated a land force made up by smaller nations to avoid charges of imperialism.

The candidate for the Republican nomination spoke at a veterans' rally.

Peace would be endangered, he told the veterans group:

"If America stumbles at home.

"If Communist aggression spreads.

"If totalitarian socialist economies stagnate people now free.

"If ideals of the United Nations crumble on the rocks of Palestine."

Recent "conciliatory sounds" from Russia were attributed by Stasseen to Communist defeat in Italy, success of the Marshall Plan, American rearming, and prospects of anti-Communist legislation.

Stasseen criticized Congress for failing to act on housing, public health, education, civil rights, hoarding, consumer credit, permanent farm programs and preservation of natural resources. He blamed President Truman for asking for "extreme and impossible and unsound measures which he knows cannot be taken."

Arlington Democrats Elect State Convention Delegates

The Arlington Democratic Convention last night elected 54 delegates to the Virginia State Democratic Convention July 2, and resolved to work for amendment of the Federal Hatch Act.

Nearly 60 county convention members were present at the Ashton Heights Women's Club for the voting.

Following election of delegates, the convention approved a resolution offered by Member John W. Jackson, asking the State convention to instruct the State's national convention delegates to include in the national party plaform a pledge to amend the Hatch Act.

The Civil Service Commission recently held that the Hatch Act prohibits Federal workers from participating in local elections.

State Senator Charles R. Fenwick was elected convention chairman and Mrs. Maud Dove secretary. The convention agreed the State convention delegates will operate under unit rule for the 35 votes to which they are entitled.

Elected as delegates:

Harrison Mann, Homer Bauserman, Mrs. Dove, Ralph Fairbank, Harry A. Grant, John W. Jackson, Charles R. Fenwick, N. A. Brewer, Mrs. Elizabeth White, Robert Rollins, Thomas Edwards, Stanley Stanton, Mrs. Dorothy Stanton, Thomas Broyhill, Thomas Phillips, Maxwell Caskie.

13 Agencies Act to Speed Flood Relief

By the United Press

Thirteen Federal agencies went into action last night, on orders from President Truman, to move emergency housing and relief facilities into the flood-stricken Pacific Northwest.

Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, Federal Works Administration, designated to coordinate the effort, called the heads of the agencies into conference to map plans for meeting the crisis.

A spokesman for the FWA chief said it was decided to rush units of the Navy's "mothball fleet" from Astoria, Oreg., into the disaster area if and as they are needed to shelter homeless victims.

Maritime Commission hospital ships, Coast Guard vessels and surplus Government trailers and tents also will be pressed into service.

Coordinator Flies to Scene

Army, Navy and Coast Guard officials said their disaster programs were going full blast in the flood areas of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. The Coast Guard said it was rushing mobile communications equipment to isolated areas.

A spokesman for the Reconstruction Finance Corpporation said his agency's 22-million-dollar disaster loan fund would be available to individuals and industries in the area.

Fleming sent George H. Field, commissioner of community facilities, to Portland, Oreg., by plane last night to coordinate activities of the various Federal agencies there.

At the same time, Interior Secretary J. A. Krug named his assistant, C. Girard Davidson, to act for him in aiding the stricken Northwest. Krug ordered total mobilization of all available facilities of the department.

Red Cross to Spend $1,000,000

Lieut. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, Army Chief of Engineers, and Red Cross disaster expert Colin Herle left here by plane for Portland, Oreg., to take a hand in the flood control and relief work along the Columbia River.

Red Cross President Basil O'Connor announced that his agency has raised its initial $250,000 relief fund for the stricken area to one million dollars. He said that Red Cross chapters throughout the country have been authorized to accept voluntary contributions.

President Truman also called for an immediate Federal investigation of the disaster and recommendations on the need for additional legislative powers to meet emergencies of this kind.

Truman Asks Planning Review

He also asked Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall and Interior Secretary J. A. Krug to review at once long-range plans for the development of the Columbia River Basin "with a view to proposing such modifications as may be appropriate in the light of the present disaster."

Senator Wayne L. Morse (R., Oreg.), meanwhile, asked the Senate to hold up action on a bill transferring control of some school buildings in Vanport, Oreg., to the Federal Works Administration.

Morse said the buildings had been "completely washed away."

BREAK IN THE LEVEE—Surging flood waters of the Lewis River, a tributary of the Columbia, breaks through the levee near Woodland, Wash. It spreads out over rich farmlands, destroying crops and inundating homes to shipping at least three days, said Col. O. E. Walsh, district engineer.

Flood Crest Passes Portland; Many Dikes Still in Peril

The Red Cross directed relief work. Food and clothing poured in from volunteers. Thousands took refuge in churches and schools. Conferences were expected shortly between State and Federal agencies on housing, the biggest immediate problem.

The crest of nearly 31 feet—16 feet over flood level at Vancouver, Wash.—had been expected opposite Portland late tonight or early tomorrow. Numerous dikes will have only inches to spare in keeping out the water.

Upstream the river was dropping. The Weather Bureau said a 6-to-9 inch fall could be expected at Vancouver and Portland sometime tomorrow.

The drop will be slow. Elmer Fisher, official river forecaster, said shattered Vanport might remain under water three weeks. The river is expected to stay above flood level more than a month.

For that period the search for bodies will be hampered. Another dike break last night added to the complications of the search. The water at Vanport crashed through a fill into a large area to the east. Vanport apartments floated thruogh the gap, some smashing to pieces. Bodies—if any—were scattered so widely it was feared they might never be recovered.

The Red Cross meanwhile had no list of known missing.

Still to feel the brunt of the water downstream are Woodland, Kalama, Kelso and Longview, Wash., and Rainier and Clatskanie, Oreg. The water already was into Woodland, Kalama, South Kelso and Clatskanie. The towns were evacuated without loss of life. No damage was expected in the main part of Kelso or at Longview.

Three hundred miles to the north a separate flood ripped through British Columbia's Fraser River Valley. Premier Byron Johnson declared a state of emergency there. Property damage was listed at 20 million dollars in the valley. Conditions were improving, however, as the Fraser River run-off began easing.

In the metropolitan Portland area the crest was expected to reach 30.5 feet, 12.5 above flood level. Parts of the downtown area, including the union station, were overflowed. It was only inches deep in the streets, however, and damage was not expected to be great.

North of Portland, the flood broke through from Vanport to put deep water over miles of rich land, including dairy farms, the $1,500,000 Portland Meadows horse race track, several auto tourist camps and the Columbia - Edgewater Country Club.

Still holding north of the city, however, is a 10-mile stretch that includes the Portland airport, several other golf courses and more dairy farms.

The dikes protecting the large aluminum plant at Troutdale, east of Portland, were holding, and Army engineers said the situation was favorable there.

Bonneville Dam's generating capacity was cut by the high water from 565,000 to 179,000 kilowatts. Grand Coulee's was down from 1,170,000 to 980,000 kilowatts.

In the Idaho and Montana headwaters, the Columbia's tributaries were receding. Thousands of acres, however, remained under water there.

At the hard-hit town of Bonners Ferry, Idaho, water drained off one end of Main st. and was only a foot deep at the other.

Gov. C. A. Robins of Idaho estimated damage in Bonners Ferry and Boundary County at 15 million dollars. He added his opinion it probably "will take 10 years to put that area back on its feet."

Plans were being drawn up for another housing project as a possible replacement for Vanport. Contractors said they would speed construction of apartment buildings already started.

Red Cross Sets Up Teletype for Queries

Chicago, June 1 (AP).—The American Red Cross is operating a Nation-wide teletype network to supply worried relatives with information on residents of the Pacific Northwest flood zone.

Within the first half hour after the opening of the wire through Chicago, 74 messages were sent West.

All requests for information and replies are handled through local Red Cross chapters.

Mundt Has Edge In Senatorial Primary Returns

Sioux Falls, S. Dak., June 1 (AP). First South Dakota primary election returns today gave an edge to Representative Karl E. Mundt in the contest for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Returns from 60 precincts out of 1949 gave Mundt 4546 and State Senator Otto B. Linstad of Pierre, 863.

Mundt and Linstad seek the seat now held by Republican Senator Harlan J. Bushfield, retiring because of ill health. John Engel is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

The issue on the Democratic side was between an uninstructed delegation to the national convention and one pledged to President Truman. The split was along intrastate lines, and the uninstructed delegate candidates showed no antagonism to the President.

Contesting for Mundt's congressional seat, Harold O. Lovre had 2091 votes in 58 precincts, Art B. Anderson had 1284, E. L. Stavig 795 and W. H. Pringle 708.

Mutual Marks Its Centenary

The hundredth anniversary of Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery County, which was founded on an idea originated by Benjamin Franklin, was marked last night with a dinner at the Manor Club in Norbeck, Md.

Approximately 250 guests, including former Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson, attended the celebration. Acheson spoke briefly on the historic community of Sandy Spring, where he lives and where the insurance firm's headquarters are.

The firm opened its doors for business June 1, 1848.

In its 100th annual financial statement, the company reported net premiums during its 100 years of existence totaled $8,854,500 and its net commissions to agents, $1,333,000. Its original 67 policyholders have grown, the report said, to 25,000. Its assets now total 2½ million dollars.

First secretary-treasurer of the firm was Robert R. Moore, who held the post 47 years and was paid $100 for his first year's work. The founder was Edward R. Stabler, who served as president for 35 years until his death in 1883.

For 66 years Allan Farquhar was with the company, 49 years as secretary-treasurer. His son, A. D. Farquhar, is the present president.

Drug Clerk Held in Bond

A 21-year-old drug store clerk was held for the District grand jury yesterday on a charge that he seduced a 17-year-old girl under promise of marriage enforced by a $250 engagement ring.

He is Gordon R. Curtis of 449½ Tennessee ave. ne. Judge Walter J. Casey of Municipal Court ordered him held under $1000 bond.

The alleged victim, a blonde now five months pregnant and a resident of the Florence Crittenden Home, took the witness stand in support of her claim that after promising to marry her in the presence of her mother and friends, Curtis tore up the marriage license application they signed late last year in La Plata, Md.

She testified she met Curtis in February, 1947, and in ensuing months was proposed to by him. She said that she, her mother and Curtis went to a jewelry store here where he purchased a $250 diamond engagement ring for her. She admitted having relations with him several times.

Town Surrounded By Flood Waters Invites Truman

The little town of Woodland, Wash., now surrounded by flood waters of the Lewis and Columbia Rivers, has invited President Truman to visit there June 12, when it celegrates Planters Day, and the completion of dikes.

The Woodland Volunteer Fire Department wrote the President, said it would feel highly complimented if he could stop in his western tour long enough to crown the queen of the twenty-forth celebration of the day.

Judge Says Ex-Wife Forced Pawley Out

Miami, Fla., June 1 (AP).—William D. Pawley, former United States Ambassador to Brazil, was compelled to resign his post as a result of a campaign by his former wife, Circuit Judge George E. Holt said in a ruling today.

Pawley

In a final decree, Holt dismissed Mrs. Annie Hahr Pawley's separate maintenance suit and upheld Pawley's Cuban divorce.

Holt held that Pawley, who lived in Cuba as a boy, is not a resident of Florida as Mrs. Pawley contended. He obtained the divorce in Havana in 1943 and Holt said Mrs. Pawley waited more than three years before attacking its validity.

In the meantime, Pawley had remarried but his first wife claimed in her suit she still was his wife and asked $5000 monthly separate maintenance. Later she asked for a divorce but Holt ruled that this, too, "came too late."

Holt said the evidence disclosed Pawley gave her $170,000 or an average of more than $25,000 annually, after his divorce, even though the Cuban divorce made no alimony provision. He also contributed generously to their children, the court found.

The court said Pawley "was subjected to one of the most humiliating experiences one in great public office can endure—a vindicative wife—for no reason at all except to satisfy her own impossible desires."

The campaign of this "deserting wife" was "so successful that he was (to prevent further embarrassment to the United States Government) compelled to resign as Ambassador to Brazil, the great and friendly nation to the south of us."

June 19 Adjournment Planned

list, a one-year extension of the trade act, passed in sharply modified form by the House, is now being hurried through a Senate committee.

Senate Republican Steering Chairman Robert A. Taft (Ohio) announced the adjournment drive following a later afternoon conference of the GOP top brass in the office of Speaker Joseph W. Martin, jr. (R., Mass.).

Martin and Taft jointly received reporters, but the Ohioan did most of the talking. Although the June 19 eve of the Republican convention was set as the "goal," Taft intimated the decision wasn't necessarily final. He said no ironclad decision may be reached "until the last day."

The Senate leader said that in addition to the three measures given priority, a "substantial number" of others will be passed, but added that no conclusions were reached about them at yesterday's conference.

He declined to speculate on the prospects of specific measures but hinted more bills will be budgeted at another meeting of the two-House leadership next Monday.

Formal assurances by House and Senate Appropriations Chairman John Taber (R., N. Y.) and Styles Bridges (R., N. H.) that funds for all Government departments and European recovery can be cleared by June 19 touched off the adjournment rush.

Log-jamming appropriations had been one of the big question marks and for a while there was a talk of coming back between the Republican and Democratic conventions to finish work on them.

A "between conventions" session still wasn't definitely out and the way is always open for the President to reconvene Congress in special session in an emergency.

Republican leaders themselves may reserve the right to call Congress back, but Martin and Taft said they still haven't decided whether to write a "come-back" reservation into the adjournment motion.

The "must" status given the displaced persons bill was put this way by Taft: "If we pass the bill, the House feels that it can."

Wherry promptly served notice of the drive for Senate passage today or tonight.

Still far from a final vote, the Senate defeated, 40 to 31, an amendment to admit displaced persons on a proportional basis, with "no discrimination in favor or against" any group.

The bill in its present form provides that not less than half of the 200,000 admitted in the next two years must be refugees "whose place of origin or country of nationality has been annexed by a foreign power."

That means at least 100,000 would be admitted from the Baltic states of Lithuania, Latvia and Esthonia, and no more than 100,- could come in from al lof the other refugee groups.

Senators Homer Ferguson (R. Mich.) and Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.) led the unsuccessful fight to spread the admissions proportionately among the 126,000 Balts, 163,000 Jews, 266,000 Poles, 22,000 Yugoslavs, 4000 Russians and some 34,000 others now in displaced persons camps.

The House bill, which will be moved to the House floor shortly after the Senate acts, admits on the proportional basis.

The decision to close shop June 19 leaves exactly 16 days for Congress to spend on the other bills piling up and even some of the GOP-favored ones may get trampled.

For example, Taft said Republicans may let the President's five Atomic Energy Commission appointees go unconfirmed if Democrats launch a lengthy fight on the GOP's "compromise" measure extending the commissioners' term two years. The President presumably will make recess appointments and the nomination fight would resume next session.

Caught in the jam also were the GOP's House and Senate farm price support and long-range agricultural programs, and House leadership-blessed measures making 80 technical changes in the tax structure and providing limited expansion of the Social Security program.

a minor number of higher-grade specialists will be fired.

The lower-grade clerks, stenos, typists and the like, will be transferred to a new program-planning for the 1950 population census. The agency was given $2,700,000 to plan for that mammoth task. And that money will create more jobs than were wiped out by the $600,000 slash.

COAST GUARD will be able to add several hundred civilian employes under its budget, which was approved yesterday by the House Appropriations Committee. . . . Ninety-five of the new jobs will be here in the office of the commandant. The committee recommended that office be given $2,260,000 for salaries compared with two million dollars for this year.

Outside Washington, Coast Guard would be given $4,218,992 for salaries. It has $3,619,800 for this year.

A year ago the committee ordered a big cut for the Coast Guard. Meantime, a private management firm was brought in to make a study of its operations. It urged a larger appropriation and the committee has gone along with its suggestions. In its report, the committee demanded that the Coast Guard set up an accounting and fiscal system "geared to the requirements of the Coast Guard of 1948, rather than the Coast Guard of 1898."

Incidentally, the budget also would allow Coast Guard to increase its military personnel.

CUSTOMS: It would have about the same amount of money for personnel as it had this year. The House committee recommended a $32,400,000 budget for it. The agency asked for $32,500,000, so there was only a $100,000 cut.

The committee also had Customs investigated by an outside management firm. The report of that concern made a number of suggestions to improve Customs, but it concluded that the agency was well-operated.

FWA: Alan Johnstone, general counsel of the Federal Works Agency since it was created in 1939, has resigned to resume his law practice at Newberry, S. C.

SECURITY: The Senate yesterday approved a bill to give the heads of "sensitive" Federal agencies the right to fire "indiscreet or disloyal" employes for national security reasons. The bill now goes to the House.

The bill applies to State, Army, Air Force, Navy Atomic Energy, National Defense, Coast Guard, National Security Resources Board, and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. However, it gives the President full authority to extend its provisions to other "sensitive" agencies.

The decision of the agency head is final under the bill. But Civil Service can review cases appealed to it, to determine whether the fired employes are fitted for service in other Federal agencies.

Lilienthal Sees 'Blessed' Age

Gettysburg, Pa., June 1 (U.P.)—David E. Lilienthal told America's high school graduating classes tonight that "knowledge, love and faith" can turn the Atomic Age into "one of the blessed periods of all history."

The chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission noted that some people find the discovery of atomic energy "a cause for the deepest despair" and that "it is not uncommon to hear predictions that the end of civilization is near at hand."

"I do not share this gloom about the future," he said.

Lilienthal spoke at Gettysburg High School. By arrangement of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, his words were broadcast (over Mutual network) to commencement exercises from coast to coast.

He conceded that the problems of the Atomic Age are many and difficult.

Ruling Due Friday In Real Estate Case

By Howard L. Dutkin
Post Reporter

Associate Justice Edward M. Curran, District Court, will rule Friday on defense pleas for a directed verdict of acquittal for the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the Washington board charged with fee-fixing in violation of antitrust laws.

In formulating his ruling, it was indicated, Curran will seek the answer to these questions:

1. Is fee-fixing, in itself, a violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act or must actual restraint be proved?

2. Must the restraint be "unreasonable" and does rate-fixing of itself constitute "unreasonable restraint?"

3. Does the Sherman Act deal only with cases involving commodities or do organizations offering nothing but services become eligible for prosecution under the law?

Obedience Not "Required"

Of the three propositions, it was indicated, the first one will be of prime importance in Curran's calculations.

Roger J. Whiteford, attorney for the National Association, in his plea for a directed verdict yesterday, argued that the association's "code of ethics" which urged a uniform brokerage rate, did not "require" members to obey.

"Where is there a scintilla of evidence," Whiteford asked, "that the code intended . . . to eliminate competition . . .?" He argued that the suggestion of uniform rates on the part of the association could hardly be interpreted as a "conspiracy" with the local board to fix rates and restrain trade.

Justice Department Prosecutor Victor H. Kramer in rebuttal contended: "We don't claim the National Association fixed rates . . . our position is that the sponsorship of rates fixed by the District Board (in February, 1943), is just as much rate-fixing as sitting down with the board to determine what prices should be."

What Must Be Shown

Kramer continued: "We are not required to show the agreement did in fact restrain trade . . . we have only to show the agreement was made . . ."

William E. Leahy, counsel for the District Board, declared the brokers were not engaged in trade so therefore could not be in restraint of trade; the associations were in the nature of labor unions or teachers organizations seeking to assure themselves of a "fair return" for their work and to aid the public by bringing uniformity out of chaos; uniform brokerage rates had grown up over many years through usage and custom.

Hearing June 9

Alexandria May Revise Zoning Rule

Alexandria City Council again last night proposed changing the city's zoning authority, this time probably back to the council.

The council set June 9 as the date for a public hearing on the matter.

Councilman R. Samuel Luckett asserted delegation of zoning authority to the City Planning Commission, which went into effect May 1, has resulted in too long delays in rezonings.

The Council passed on two readings, but postponed until next week for final action a new city fire code that would put teeth into existing fire prevention law.

It also appointed a board to determine whether blocking off Mount Ida ave., which separates Mount Vernon School from the Mount Vernon School Annex, would be an inconvenience to the neighborhood.

32 Take Oath As Citizens

Thirty-two persons were naturalized in a ceremony yesterday before Justice T. Alan Goldsborough in District Court.

A welcoming address was given the new citizens by Godfrey L. Munter, who came to this country from Switzerland, took the oath of citizenship here 29 years ago, and since has become one of Washington's more prominent attorneys.

Those naturalized were:

County Budget Submitted

policy," McNayr, in his recommendations, said the county's bonded indebtedness must be retired out of current revenue as bonds come due, that short-term borrowing except to provide for current operations until taxes are collected should be practiced only in extreme emergencies and that requests for increased services and salaries should be granted only after revenue for paying for them has been found.

The proposed budget provides for administration, $231,047; finance,, $206,752; judicial, $104,969; elections, $54,360; education, $2,885,468; public safety, $601,501; welfare, $190,800; health, $150,654; highways, $348,625; building and grounds, $48,352; agriculture and home economics, $22,110; miscellaneous functions, $6250; veterans housing, $67,894; school debt service, $262,455, and other debt service, $246,642.

Mann Resigns From Arlington School Group

Harrison Mann, chairman of the Arlington Democratic Executive Committee, announced his resignation yesterday as a member of the County's Citizen Committee for School Improvement.

He said he took the action after the committee last Thursday voted to participate directly in Arlington County Board elections because board members "control the purse strings" of the School Board.

In a letter to Committee President B. Alden Lilywhite, Mann said he could not serve with an organization whose aim "is to nominate a candidate to oppose the candidate of the Democratic Party."

Mann was active in the Citizens Committee a year ago when is successfully fought for direct election of the Arlington School Board, and later, when it backed a winning slate of five candidates for the School Board.

Virginia Buses Ask ICC to Allow Straight 10c Fare

Two Virginia bus companies yesterday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to abolish special tickets and set a straight 10-cent fare on their buses between Washington and the Pentagon and other Government offices in nearby Virginia.

Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Transit Co. and Washington, Virginia & Maryland Coach Co. both made the request. The commission took the request under advisement.

Passengers now buy tickets at 13 1-3 cents apiece, which entitle them to board a Capital Transit bus at their homes and change to one of the other companies' buses for the ride across the river. The Virginia companies said Capital Transit gets 10 cents of every ticket as a result of a ruling of the Public Utilities Commission last year.

DR. MAURICE A. GOLDBERG
Grand lodge president

MRS. NAT LEVY
Heads women's division

A leader in American Jewish life charged last night that the "invasion of Palestine which now flouts the peace of the world is in reality a British invasion."

Frank Goldman of Lowell, Mass., national president of B'nai B'rith, told more than 500 organization members at a Statler Hotel banquet that "British officers, British armies, British money, British strategy and British greed control the mercenaries who now threaten the life" of the new state of Israel.

Simultaneously, he urged President Truman to make a "reasonable" loan to the new state to "strengthen the magnificent and statesmanlike step" he took in granting it recognition.

Says U. N. Has Failed Israel

Of the U. N. Security Council, he said, it has "thus far failed Israel." He contended the new state has a "right to full and unequivocal aid of the United Nations."

Earlier, at closing sessions of the seventy-second convention of District Grand Lodge, No. 5, B'nai B'rith, Dr. Maurice A. Goldberg of 6410 Western ave., a Washington dentist, was elected president. The women's division elected Mrs. Nat Levy of 3557 16th st. nw., president, and Miss Edna Bloomberg of 1429 Upshur st., treasurer.

Washingtonians named to the executive board of the men's group were Harry S. Wender, president of Argo Lodge of B'nai B'rith and chairman of the D. C. Recreation Board, and Philip Goldstein, chairman of the District Grand Lodge Veterans Committee.

Thank Truman for Recognition

Both groups passed resolutions thanking the President for recognizing Israel. The women's group also passed resolutions asking the President to give Israel de jure recognition and to send a minister there, and in support of the Nation's security bond drive.

Colonels' Row Pigeonholed as 'Teapot Tempest'

The "Battle of the Colonels" in the District National Guard has been pigeonholed as merely a "tempest in a teapot," Brig. Gen. Albert L. Cox, commanding officer, disclosed yesterday.

The friction developed between Col. Leroy S. Mann, who said he should command because of seniority, and Col. Peyton G. Nevitt, who said he should rule because General Cox had designated him to do so.

However, there will "probably be no further action" in the matter, General Cox said. He said the White House had turned the issue over to him for final decision.

Latin America Loans Voted

The Senate yesterday passed a bill designed to help Latin American countries in their economic development.

The measure increases the lending authority of the Export-Import Bank by 500 million dollars. It now goes to the House where no opposition is expected.

Latin American countries have applied for loans totaling more than 400 million dollars.

A report from the Senate Banking and Currency Committee says: "Loans will be made, as at present, to assist in financing well-planned development projects which are economically justified and which will directly or indirectly create dollar exchange in the borrowing countries."

Israel's Strong Right Arm Is

HAGANAH

KEEP IT STRONG
...Help us win America's full support for Haganah . . . and Build a great Instrument of Good-will for ISRAEL'S FIGHTING ARMY

The swirling rush of battle rages around Israel. Danger and hate and destruction threaten on every side—but Haganah, the Army of Israel, holds firm.

It holds the lines. It faces the furious attacks of British-armed Arabs—and keeps them at bay. Israel has placed its destiny in the hands of these splendid young soldiers of Haganah—and they will not fail.

We, too, must not fail. We in America must pledge our hearts and our substance that Haganah shall not fight in vain—that Israel shall endure as a free people in a free land.

The Voice of Haganah

HAGANAH SPEAKS is a sign and a pledge of our faith. This new journal is dedicated to winning support for Israel's fighting army. Haganah needs a strong voice in America. It needs an informed public opinion—to hearten its efforts . . . to bring determined action from the people of our great country.

Help us achieve these aims. We need a million readers to make HAGANAH SPEAKS a powerful instrument of good-will for Haganah.

HAGANAH SPEAKS is a direct line of communication with the Army of Israel. It brings you first-hand news from the fighting fronts. Exclusive cable dispatches, direct from army sources, keep you in close touch with fast-moving events. Reading HAGANAH SPEAKS is like shaking hands with the valiant young men and women of Haganah.

Join The "Loyal Million"

We urge you to become a friend and informed supporter of Haganah, Israel's Army. Join the "loyal million" today. Fill out and mail the coupon below—and get your clubs and associates to join.

Disaster In The West

One outgrowth of the tragedy that has overtaken communities along the Columbia River in Oregon may be an intensified demand for a Columbia Valley Authority to place the problem of flood control on a regional rather than local basis. No such ex post facto movement can be much consolation to families which have suffered bereavement or have lost their homes or farmlands in the swirling rampage of the Columbia. But if the disaster serves as a dramatic though terrifying lesson as to what must eventually be done, then the 75 million dollar or more damage is not a total loss.

The Oregon floods, and those now occurring along the Fraser River in British Columbia, are in many respects symbolic of a sick land, stripped of its forest and grass cover and with little to prevent the rapid runoff of excessive rainfall. There are, of course, other complications in these areas. But the pattern is familiar; every year it is repeated somewhere in the United States, with accompanying loss of life and property and thousands of tons of precious topsoil.

So far it is not possible to control the vagaries of the weather. There is no guarantee that even if an extensive system of dams were built far up tributaries, with accompanying valley-wide soil and forest conservation measures, that a surprise cloudburst might not cause some damage. But to a substantial degree it is possible to control the effects of the weather, if not the weather itself, by eliminating an accumulation of bad land-use practices. There is the experience of the Tennessee Valley Authority to guide other efforts. Among its other accomplishments, the TVA program unquestionably has served to reduce flood crests and minimize damage.

The one great point which TVA has driven home convincingly, it seems to us, is that no little plan will do. If the conservation of the country's resources now imperiled by floods is to be really effective, then it must be accomplished on a broad basis, resolving interagency conflicts through a single authority with decentralized operations. The best form of sympathy for the Oregon victims, aside from immediate relief, is to hasten meaningful steps to see that this appalling waste is not repeated.

Political Fight

It was for the pious purpose of avoiding "a bitter political fight" that the scheme to extend the terms of office of the present members of the Atomic Energy Commission, instead of confirming them for the regular terms to which they were nominated by the President, was first advanced by Republican leaders in Congress. Who would have started such a fight? Senator McKellar, no doubt. Senator Taft, presumably, since he too, opposed confirmation of the commissioners for their current term. But these men, and all the other members of the Senate who voted with them last year, were unable to block confirmation then and could not do so now unless their numbers were substantially augmented from the ranks of those who, like Senator Vandenberg and Senator Hickenlooper, fought valiantly to confirm the nominees. Are not these, then, the very men who would necessarily be responsible for a "political fight" if one started?

It is easy to understand why they wish to disguise any such responsibility. They do not care to be classed with Senator McKellar. David E. Lilienthal and his colleagues on the Atomic Energy Commission have won so high a degree of respect by their discharge of the difficult duties assigned them that open opposition to them is now politically quite awkward. So the majority members of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy have urged that the Atomic Energy Act be amended to permit another tentative two-year term for the commissioners. The justification for this elaborate evasion is that the program of the commission is still in a formative stage and there has not yet been time to reach conclusive judgments about it.

The minority members of the joint committee have rather cruelly pointed out the transparency of this justification. Reviewing the admirable record of the commission, they observe that attainment of its "various objectives involves many problems that are yet to be overcome. By the very nature of atomic energy, this is a condition that can and should be expected to continue. But this is all the more reason why, in a field characterized by so many v...bles and imponderables, continuity of experienced leadership is imperative. And it reduces to an absurdity the demand of the majority for a precise time table as to what the future holds."

If the Republicans really want to avoid "a bitter political fight," let them put the Atomic Energy Commission on the permanent basis envisaged in the Atomic Energy Act—and thus out of politics. If, as appears to be the case, they want to reserve appointments to the commission as mere patronage plums to be dispensed by a Republican President, they would do better to follow the lead of Senator Taft and admit their political intent candidly.

Helping The Commies

If there has been any doubt as to the advantage that the Communists are reaping out of the furor over the Mundt-Nixon bill, that doubt ought to be dispelled by the uproarious close of the Senate Judiciary Committee's hearing. Senator Ferguson ordered a recess in the face of threats of an "orderly" march on Washington by angry opponents of the bill. They found the Judiciary Committee such an excellent sounding board for their views that they occupied most of the time during the four-day hearings and would doubtless have liked to keep on talking indefinitely. The committee could scarcely have given the Commies and their sympathizers a better break if it had deliberately set out to do so.

How long will it take for experienced politicians in Congress to realize that in the Mundt-Nixon bill they have handed the followers of Moscow the best issue they have had in years? No longer do the party-liners have to try to defend Soviet aggression against Czechoslovakia or any other postwar conduct on the part of the Stalin regime. All they have to do now to win sympathy from a vast number of Americans citizens is to yell their defiance of what to many sober folk is a patent invasion of our civil liberties. What is even worse is that the legislators have actually given the Communists bedfellows in the persons of innumerable liberals who detest communism of the Russian variety in both theory and practice. To establish this kinship is, of course, precisely the aim of the Communists—for nothing is more to their liking than to create confusion and disunity—and it is an aim that is here established in Congress.

Still another disquieting aspect of Monday's show was the suggestion by Senator Moore that Paul Robeson ought to be sent to jail for refusing to answer a question as to whether he is a Communist. Mr. Robeson was a voluntary witness before the committee. To punish a person who goes before a committee of Congress at his own request to protest against a piece of legislation because that person refuses to answer a question would be a flagrant extension of Congress' contempt power. When Congress brings in a witness under subpena in search of information essential to the legislative process, punishment for contempt is a natural consequence of refusal to answer legitimate questions. But certainly Congress ought not to make a practice of punishing witnesses who offer their views without solicitation. Fortunately, there is no indication that the Judiciary Committee intends to apply such a self-defeating policy.

All in all, the spectacle was as inept as any in our experience. Instead of giving extremists a platform, the Senate Committee should have sought enlightenment and picked out a selected number of witnesses, pro and con. The occasion was as serious in relation to our liberties as the times that produced the bill and the hearings. It was more serious than the 1920 inquiry into the expulsion of five Socialists from the New York Assembly. Yet 28 years ago New York's leading lawyers, including such national figures as Mr. Hughes, Mr. Wickersham and Mr. Louis Marshall, were sufficiently aroused to debate the rights and wrongs of the expulsions. In the present case the Senate Committee, amid the noise of the motley throng of witnesses, heard only a couple of members of the local bar. Lawyers of the eminence of John Lord O'Brian, Greville Clark, Dean Acheson and James F. Byrnes should have been asked to testify. Perhaps the American Bar Association was as much at fault for not asking the committee to allow testimony from expert witnesses of this caliber as the Senate was for not inviting them. At any rate, it was a slapdash performance on a matter of outstanding significance to our institutions.

Sugar Quotas

No public hearings, no preliminary fanfare, preceded the Department of Agriculture's announcement last week that the domestic sugar consumption quota had been reduced to 7 million tons—a half million tons below the figure set at the end of February. The Sugar Act of 1948 gives extensive discretionary power to the Secretary of Agriculture to determine domestic consumption requirements, with a view to the welfare of consumers and domestic sugar producers. As usual "welfare" is interpreted to mean taking action to support prices that show a tendency to slump. The chief grumblers are the sugar-using industries that are irked by the price-raising effect of the quota cuts.

Practically all of the half-million-ton reduction in consumption quotas will come out of Cuba's share of the United States market. In other words, the Department of Agriculture has in effect ordered a cut in sugar imports amounting to a good many million dollars at a time when the public is being painfully educated to an understanding of the importance of imports to the American economy. There is also a question of the effect of our erratic policies on Cuba—a country that cooperated with us magnificently in efforts to relieve world sugar shortages during the war years. Something is lacking in a good neighbor policy that subjects that good neighbor to the vicissitudes and hazards of a shifting regulatory system designed primarily to benefit domestic interests. Strange to say, the Cubans seem quite willing to acquiesce in the decision to cut their import quota. Apparently they hope the cut will have the effect of raising sugar prices and improving their bargaining position. Then they are counting on the United States to offset the cut by stepping up purchases for ECA countries.

Currently Congress and the public are agitated over questions of tariff-making and the location of responsibility for negotiated tariff changes. The problems of tariff-making are in the great majority of instances relatively simple compared with the complications that arise under quota systems of the kind applicable to our sugar industry. Yet few people except the producer and industrial groups directly affected manifest the slightest interest in the problems growing out of multiple bureaucratic regulations governing the importation, production and consumption of sugar.

Surcease In Palestine

Palestine, which can now look forward to a surcease from fighting has been overlaid by so many myths that understanding has been impeded, and, more importantly, the way to a Middle Eastern harmony has been fear-blocked. Two of the most prevalent myths have come to us from time to time either as arguments or as reminders of what people are puzzling over. One is that the Zionist introduces the only clash of cultures in the Middle East, the other is that the Jews will swamp Palestine and the Middle East.

To be sure, Jew and Arab, though cousins, represent different cultures. But this is not unique in the Middle East. Next door, in Lebanon, Moslem and Christian live together, and the juxtaposition gets no comment. In Iraq the "clash" of cultures is even more marked, for the Sunnis and the Shiahs are as wide apart as the Greek Orthodox and the Roman Catholic Church. In Egypt, Copts and Moslem coexist. The Wahabis of Saudi Arabia are the Amishmen of the Moslem world. The Arab League has spent the last two or three years in trying to find a union out of the congeries of cultures in the Middle East, but without success. The only characteristic of the Zionists that is unique in the Middle East and feared by backward rulers is their zeal for modernization and better living standards for Arabs as well as Jews.

The same misapprehension exists on population as on culture. It is said that the Jews will swamp Palestine and the Middle East. Actually as many Arabs as Jews have settled in Palestine during the 30-year-old British administration, and the Arab population has doubled. Moreover, the natural increase of the Arabs is twice that of the Jews. At present the Jewish community represents a third of the entire population of Palestine. Thus, even with the lowering of the bars against Jewish immigration, any attainment of Jew-Arab parity would be short-lived. It is difficult to envisage even a short-run parity, in view of the fell work of Hitler, and the upward trend in the intake elsewhere of the Jewish DPs left by the Hitler persecution.

In these circumstances the Israeli state in the Middle East represents a contribution (as T. E. Lawrence called it) and not a menace to the Middle East. If the Israelis did not keep this in the forefront of their mind they would, of course, be courting suicide. This contribution should be available to a common pool of many other contributions from the Arab world. Anglo-American diplomacy, now that it has a four-week armistice between Jew and Arab before it, could serve no better purpose that to cultivate a pooling. Certainly aid should be devoted to the furtherance of a pooled relationship, not the insurance of compartmentalization such as would be encouraged by a separate loan to Israel. The next step would be to see what could be done in making a Western contribution to a Middle Eastern harmony. Several methods have been suggested, as, for instance, the one in W. C. Lowdermilk's book, Palestine, Land of Promise, which describes the possibility of conservancy works in the Middle East's fabled but neglected rivers.

This is looking ahead. But it is time that America and Britain started to look ahead, and to look ahead to a regional unit in the Middle East as well as in Europe. That is what statesmanship means. Unfortunately there has been precious little diplomacy in Palestine, let alone statesmanship. No American of any stature is anywhere near the belligerents, and we failed even to take the opportunity afforded by recognition of Israel to name a diplomatic mission. As for the United Nations, this body actually left the initial task of persuading both sides to quit fighting to the Red Cross.

BACKWASH

To lowlands peril by the sea
Must we return and linger long,
Watching our dikes of hope in fear,
Bereft of song?

Where are the highlands promised us,
The promontories at whose feet
The savage lions of the surf
Must whine retreat?

Within the shells our children find
Washed up from shore to shifting shore
Are heard the rumble and the roll,
The ocean's roar.

O we must live above the tides
And watch our children scale their stones
At breakers that can never rise
To claim their bones.

And only as they sleep at peace
And dream of seas that ebb and flow
Should we allow their bodies caught
In undertow.

"Voice" Aberrations

A general alarm has been sounded for three separate investigations by the President, the Senate and the House into the matter of probable un-American propaganda contained in "many hundreds of thousands of words" beamed at Latin America by the Voice of America. This was made possible, it would appear, by reason of the fact that they were "broadcast to Latin America under general directives from the State Department but without prior approval or scrutiny of scripts by the State Department," and because "there was not sufficient personnel to make English translations for checking."

The possibility that such a situation could have been inaugurated and allowed to operate undiscovered over any length of time is a sad commentary on the complacency of personnel of the State Department and the matter of their qualifications for dealing with other than English-speaking peoples.

Contrast this particular situation with one which generally prevails within our borders—even though its purpose is primarily based on commercialism, when an organization sponsors a series of radio programs of any noticeable proportions, it is invariably listened to with interest by a great majority of the employes of the parent organization. Of course, I cannot surmise whether that would be the case if the programs were broadcast in a foreign language, but I believe that those who were familiar with the particular language employed would not fail to give it their close attention.

The more extreme forms of hysteria, once found chiefly among hospital patients and professional Southerners, now seem to have broken loose in the Senate. Sure, the Voice of America is guilty of sabotage; so was the small boy who blurted out a few unpleasant facts when the preacher came to dinner.

It doesn't really worry us that we stole Texas from Mexico, that Alabama is tragic ground for Negroes, that hypocrisy was rife among New England Puritans. Our worry grows out of the spiritual sickness that makes it impossible to admit a fault, that impels us to persecute every dissenter who challenges the current orthodoxies.

We can have a new inquisition, a new reign of terror, if we want it. Every psychiatrist knows that madness is the easy way out. But we can also choose to remain clothed and in our right mind. Where sheer trivialities are concerned, how about a good belly laugh?

Freedom From Prejudice

Freedom from prejudice is perhaps the greatest of all freedoms. It carries along with it freedom from fear, for freedom from prejudice can know no fear. From the reactions of some of our people to the civil rights program, it is painfully evident that these brethren have not yet learned the truth, implicit and stated in our Declaration of Independence, that "all men are created equal." The interpretation of that much overworked, but always sound statement, was given to all men by Abraham Lincoln. Its minimum interpretation demands that all men be granted equality of opportunity.

The unwillingness of some of our brethren to accord equality of opportunity to some of our citizens who may differ from them in racial origins, in color, or in creed, shows clearly—however cruel it may be to say it—that these brethren have not yet learned the fundamental truths of human behavior, which truths—when understood—inevitably break down and eventually destroy all prejudice and the fears that stem there from.

It is perhaps a salutary thing that these unsolved prejudices—unsolved for the unwilling minority of us—are now being brought upon the carpet. It is to be hoped that the apparently impending "showdown" will clarify the picture and that, eventually, the freedom from prejudice which our majorities enjoy will become the unanimous habit of the people of this great leader of nations which we must become!

"Protest To Lebanon"

Was it quite fair for you to invoke memories of the War of 1812 in your May 24 editorial concerning the recent removal of certain passengers from an American vessel in the port of Beirut? The practice of stopping our ships on the high seas and removing British deserters and sometimes others therefrom was what aroused our ire.

A great newspaper must be presumed to know that while embassies or legations in foreign countries and public vessels in foreign waters are considered as parts of the territory of the nations they represent, such is emphatically not the case in respect of private vessels in foreign waters. They and the people on them are subject to the local jurisdiction.

There is a case for Israel, wonderfully stated by Mr. L. S. Amery in the London Times article which you published on May 21. And I respectfully submit that that case should not be soiled and smeared by statements which give the impression that Israel's advocates will literally use anything that comes into their heads, whether half-truth or distortion, in order to create passion or prejudice against those who disagree with them.

Haitian Currency

The 1919 agreement stabilizing the principal currency unit of Haiti at 20 cents American money worked out perfectly well up to January 31, 1934. But there was a sharp change in the question when the United States deliberately went into the monetary inflationary policy in 1934 with the expected rise in commodity prices as one of the objectives behind this policy.

The reduction of the gold content of the United States dollar in 1934 to 59.06 per cent of its former weight was not followed by an adjustment with respect to the Haitian gourde.

Needless to say the continuance of the established 5-to-1 ratio, despite the United States devaluation, was highly detrimental to Haiti with an adverse effect upon the Haitian economy. This situation created a severe shrinkage in the purchasing power of the Haitian people, although this was temporarily arrested during the period from 1941 until the end of the war.

This impasse still continues. The cost of Haitian living has reached unprecedented levels.

Something must be done and quick. It is obvious that the Governments of the United States and of Haiti must start first with the revision of the monetary agreement of 1919 that is still in force. Both countries should engage the services of economists for a thorough study of the effects of this agreement and of all the consequences involved so as to alleviate the high degree of economic starvation that has resulted for Haiti.

Churches' Business

There has been criticism of Secretary Marshall for refusing to accept the annual award of The Churchman, unofficial Episcopal magazine. Secretary Marshall's reasons are that the magazine's editorials "extend far into the realm of political and international affairs."

Mr. Marshall is 100 per cent right in his stand.

The churches should stick to religion and let civil rights alone. Rights are elusive elements, shifting and therefore unattainable and unreliable. We all have the right to walk upon the water, but try to do it!

Trade Agreement Extension

When an important measure like that extending the reciprocal trade agreements program is seriously damaged in committee, and the House leaders then impose a gag rule permitting no changes on the floor, so that the only choice is to accept a measure that largely nullifies the present law, or by voting against it end the program, since the law expires in June, is there not a suggestion of totalitarian techniques?

No doubt many members of the House, both Republican and Democrats, who opposed the amendments made by the Ways and Means Committee voted for the measure in its weakened form with the hope that reconsideration might prevail; or, failing such action, that the Senate might restore the measure to its original form.

But what of a leadership that resorts to such methods to defeat a program in which there is widespread public interest? For this arbitrary attitude was not restricted to members of Congress. The public, the people, who supposedly in a democracy are the real rulers, were not admitted to the hearings on this measure. Yet it is a measure that vitally affects their interests both at home and abroad.

Despite this fact, and despite the requirement of the Congressional Reorganization Act of 1946 that all hearings except on matters concerning national security shall be open to the public, the hearings on the extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act were conducted in closed sessions. Many prominent organizations throughout the country—civic, social, cultural and religious—wanted to be represented, but were shut out.

The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act is not and should not be a partisan measure. It represents an important part of our foreign policy. Without it the European Recovery Program cannot be fully effective. Without it the International Trade Organization which the United States helped to establish will be seriously hampered.

The program has worked successfully for more than a decade. Abroad it has helped to improve our international relations. On this continent it has contributed to the good neighbor policy. In this country it has been accompanied by unprecedented high wages for labor and by business expansion. It has proved in the interest of the American consumers who are apt to be forgotten because they have no effective way at competing with the minority special interest pressure groups that are opposing the program.

Fortunately it may be possible that the Senate, under the statesmanlike guidance of Senator Vandenberg and Senator Taft will remove the harmful amendments and vote to continue the act in its present form. It is encouraging that there are some real leaders in Congress who can rise above narrow, partisan politics and act in the interest of the entire country.

Man In Street Influence

Effect Of Schooling

POLITICAL candidates, advertisers, and all others with wares to sell are becoming aware of a subtle change in their audience. The 12-to-14-year-old mentality, at which their appeal has been so largely directed, is now a year older in point of schooling. Also there is a greater proportion of high school and college graduates to please.

This has taken place since 1940, a sample survey made by the United States Census Bureau shows. Despite wartime interruption of schooling, Americans went after education in a big way in the last seven years. By 1947 the United States could no longer be called a "Nation of eighth-graders" since the median school years completed had risen to around nine. But the greatest gain was among those who had completed high school or more—about one third of the population 25 years or older having achieved that record.

Small as this mental advance is, the trend is of great importance because of the power in American life that the preferences of the "man in the street" exert. Every effort is made in business and entertainment to catch his eye or his ear. Much of the recent hullabaloo over the "Voice of America" has grown out of this. The texts of the widely denounced scripts about American States show the usual radio technique of "jazzing up" or "making snappy" solid information. It is based on the theory that the average person must always be talked down to, or at least entertained.

BUT NOW advertisers and their copy writers at least are taking notice of the advance of the public mind. The more progressive of them are reported as moving out of the "12-year-old market." But let no one jump to the happy conclusion that this means an end of jingles, contests and soap operas, which the industry says are needed to sell certain products. However, there is a definite movement on among copy writers and their patrons, the New York Times reports, to eliminate the more juvenile and crass aspects of "huckstering." Leaders in the advertising industry are said to be impressed by the rapidly growing proportion of high school graduates in the population, as shown by the Census Bureau survey.

Whether politicians will be equally alert to this change remains to be seen in the coming campaign. So far in the primaries, appeal to the intelligence of voters has seemed to pay off. While of course formal schooling is not synonymous with intelligence, yet it does open to the voter background and information for efficient citizenship.

One definite effect of the trend toward more schooling should be to get out the vote. For a recent study, The Voter and Nonvoter, made by the National Education Association shows that the higher the educational level, the more voting. In 1940, according to this study, 81 per cent of college graduates voted, 67 per cent of high school graduates, 61 per cent of grade school graduates. Voting also was found to increase by economic levels.

SINCE THE Census Bureau's survey, made in 1947, shows substantial increase of formal schooling among citizens, and since high employment has raised economic levels, the November election at least should bring a big turnout at the polls. Each side can probably interpret this to its advantage.

Though cynics, rabble rousers, and some editors and advertisers may cling to the idea that the "man in the street" is a 14-year-old in knowledge and interests, it looks as if we were rapidly moving toward at least the 16-year-old stage. Women in fact are moving a little faster, since more girls go to high school than do boys.

The Census Bureau calls this part of the "Nation's historic trend toward more schooling." Even though it is a slow movement, it is the main hope—as Thomas Jefferson pointed out—of making the American democratic system function successfully. Even a years's increase in the educational average means some improvement in the social and cultural level of American life. For the craze in recent years for public opinion polls on virtually every subject under the sun has given the average citizen a commercial and cultural dominance he once did not possess. Hence his tastes and interests usually establish what shall be offered the public in goods and services, as well as in officeholders.

American DPs

Observing how much publicity some of our newspapers are giving the European displaced persons, I think it is about time some of that editoral space be dedicated to our own displaced persons. Only last week one of our leading newspapers showed us the sad picture of a family praying beside their belongings resting on the sidewalk after having been evicted.

This is happening every day in one fashion or other. Some families are put on the street because they are unable to find a place to live for reasons beyond their control, like the soaring of rents beyond the reach of the average working man, or due to the fact that they had small children.

While this goes on we continue to dispose of our housing projects which have helped the average working man in such emergencies; building owners continue to convert their properties into commercial centers, and our leading colleges continue to purchase homes and apartment buildings to provide living quarters for their single students while displacing scores of families.

Matter Of Fact

Cat And Mouse

BERLIN.—Every new arrival in Berlin complains of a sense of unreality. Against the impossibly melodramatic backdrop of the ruined city, the life of the American community in the undamaged suburbs, complete with hot dogs, country clubs, Coca-Cola and Saturday night hops, seems totally unreal. Yet behind the unreality there lies one terrible reality: if war is to come, it may well start here. For the Russians, who completely surround the city, are determined to force the western powers out. There is no doubt at all about that. The only question is how much the Kremlin is willing to risk in the process.

Unfortunately, many observers here believe that the Russians are willing to risk a great deal, for two reasons. First, despite every effort of the Soviets to seal off the westerners, western influence still seeps out from Berlin into the Russian empire to the east. The western presence here thus no doubt appears a malignant cancer which must be cut out. Second, and perhaps more important, Soviet plans for employing a revived and controlled German nationalism as an instrument for eventually bringing all Germany within the Soviet sphere can never really succeed while the western powers remain in Berlin.

The way in which German nationalism is being used to further Russian ends is not generally realized. A recent closed meeting of the German Communist leaders, presided over by Colonel Tulpanov chief link between the Soviet command and the Communists, was significant. With Tulpanov smiling benignly, Communist chieftain Walter Ulbright ordered the assembled Communists to "rid themselves of their old Marxist inhibitions against nationalism" and he sternly warned "old-line Communists" that in this matter they must "submit to the will of the central committee."

TO ENCOURAGE German nationalism (which needs precious little encouragement) the Soviets have even gone so far as to establish and support financially a political party called the "Nationalist Bourgeois Party," quite openly advertised as a haven for former Nazis. Yet the chief Soviet instrument is the Communists' "Peoples' Congress." The congress is designed to become a Soviet-run German shadow government, claiming to be the true government of all Germany, and with headquarters in Berlin. But as long as the western powers control three quarters of Berlin, the pretensions of the Peoples' Congress will ring hollow, and the Russians and their Communist stooges know it.

The Soviet campaign to correct this situation by forcing the westerners out is, of course, already well under way. There has been nothing official. Indeed, Russian General Sokolovsky (a personally likable man who admires Jane Austen) has never even so much as hinted to American Gen. Lucius Clay that he would be glad to see the last of him. Yet Russian actions, in forcing the Americans to take to the air to supply the American contingent, in stopping road convoys and in cutting off shipments from Berlin to the west, have spoken a great deal louder than words.

Under the firm, wise leadership of General Clay the Americans nevertheless remain, as do the British and the French. It must now be clear to the Kremlin that if this infinitely dangerous game of cat and mouse is to be played to the end, more drastic action will be necessary. Such action, in the opinion of qualified observers here, could take either of two forms.

The first alternative is the obvious one. As one American officer put it, "They can load us on cattle cars bound for Siberia any night they want." The western response to the use of force is equally obvious—war. It is possible that the Kremlin may have concluded that war is inevitable, and that it is better fought now than later. But this appears to be increasingly improbable and is really no longer feared.

THE SECOND possible Soviet move is less obvious, and the appropriate western response is anything but clear. This move is simply to cut, whether overtly or under some pretext, the civilian supply lines from the western zones to Berlin. For example, the vital Magdeburg Bridge over the Elbe might suddenly break down, while fortuitously sunken barges made the canal network into Berlin impossible.

The results are entirely foreseeable. The two million people in the western sectors of Berlin would soon begin to starve. For although the Americans here are supplied entirely by air, it is impossible to supply the Germans in the western sectors except by rail and canal shipments from the western zones.

As the starving Berliners rioted, the Soviet authorities might then approach the westerners, note that the situation was deplorable, and offer to assume the task of feeding Berlin. They would attach one condition: that the western powers, having no business in Berlin anyway, evacuate the city.

What should the western powers do then?

That is a question worth pondering, for some such sequence of events as that outlined above is considered here an entirely serious possibility. As far as is known here, no final decesion has been taken in the western capitals, although it is known that the use of force to counter such a Soviet move has been considered. At any rate, certain courses of action have been discussed here, and these will be examined in a later report in this space. For if it ever has to be made, the western decision will be the most vital since the war.

Old-Age Pension Coverage For 3,500,000 More Proposed

By The Associated Press

Old-age insurance for 3,500,000 workers was approved unanimously yeaterday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The legislation falls far short of President Truman's request to Congress last week that 20 million persons be added to the 30 million now participating and that benefits be increased at least 50 per cent.

The new bill would make no general increase in benefits and requires no increase in payroll taxes, now 1 per cent on employer and worker alike. Mr. Truman asked for a tax hike next year.

A new definition of an "employe," previously approved by the House in separate legislation, was written into the bill. Its effect is to exclude from the insurance program certain outside salesmen usually working on commission and over whom an employer exercises little if any control.

Affects Public Employes

Mr. Truman complained that Congress has taken steps to remove persons from the program rather than expand the coverage.

Representative Dingell (D., Mich.) said the Republicans put the provision in the general social security revision bill "because they know the President will veto it if they send it to him in a separate bill."

The new bill would permit employes of State and local government bodies to join in the old-age insurance, if such governments approve. Employes of certain nonprofit organizations now outside the program would be allowed to participate on approval of such organizations.

These groups account for the greater portion of the 3,500,000 that would be added, if the House and Senate pass the bill.

Eligibility Limit Raised

Representative Reed (R., N. Y.) listed the following as employes among other small groups who could participate:

Certain employes of TVA; domestic employes of college fraternal organizations and college clubs; employes in agricultural and horticultural organizations; employes of American-owned international air carriers; workers for farm loan and farm credit institutions; off-farm employes in processing and handling of fruits and vegetables, and civilian employes in military post exchanges.

The bill would permit elderly persons to earn up to $40 a month without disqualifying themselves for old-age insurance payments. This was one specific recommendation by the President that the committee followed. The eligibility limit now is $15.

Reed, chairman of the subcommittee which drafted the bill, told reporters: "We have gone as far as time will permit. This does not mean we will not do more when we have the time. We are trying to protect the soundness of the program as we go along."

Doughton Satisfied

Representative Doughton of North Carolina, senior Ways and Means Democrat, agreed that the bill is about all that can be done with Congress nearing adjournment. Dingell said that while the bill "does not go far enough" he will support it.

Mr. Truman asked that the old-age insurance be broadened to cover the three major groups—self-employed, farm workers and domestic workers—that were excluded from the original law because of difficulties in collecting security taxes from them. He said means can be found now to surmount this problem.

He asked that the social security tax be boosted from 1 per cent to 1½ per cent on next January 1, instead of waiting for such an automatic increase in 1950; and that the tax apply to the first $4800 of a person's income, instead of the present $3000.

Mr. Truman recommended also that the security system be expanded to include insurance against loss of earnings due to sickness or other disability; and an increase in public help for needy persons. The new bill does not deal with these subjects.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Lingering Eisenhower Draft

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER sat in on a conference the other day at which he heard his own prospects for the Democratic nomination for President candidly discussed. During the conference the new head of Columbia University maintained a sphinx-like silence.

Childs

Leader of the discussion was a veteran of the political wars whose prognostications are usually proved accurate. He made the flat prediction that Eisenhower would not be drafted, since President Truman would be renominated on the first ballot at Philadelphia.

The analysis of this political veteran went as follows:

Alabama comes first on the roll call of the States, and on the first ballot Alabama will put General Eisenhower's name in nomination. Next comes Arizona, with the possibility that some votes in that delegation would go to the general. Third in line comes Arkansas, and the votes of the Arkansas delegation will in all probability be cast for Eisenhower. But then, as this analysis goes, party regularity will begin to assert itself, and when the last State and the last Teritory have cast their votes, Mr. Truman will be the nominee of his party to run for a full term in the White House.

IN TALKING with friends later, General Eisenhower seemed inclined to accept this diagnosis with something of a sense of relief. If it happens that way, Columbia's new president will be spared a great deal of anxiety.

There is a possibility, however, that the outcome of that first ballot might be quite different. The State that comes after Arkansas in the roll call is California. Party regularity and party loyalty to Mr. Truman will be practically nil in that big, excitable delegation.

Next comes Colorado, and those who know the West say that an Eisenhower upsurge among the California delegates would produce a similar response among the representatives from Colorado. Thus, like a prairie fire, the revolution might sweep through the hall beyond the power of party regulars to check it.

So the possibility cannot be entirely ruled out, and therefore Eisenhower remains one of the key figures in the political scene. It is a striking commentary that the two men who have protested most earnestly that they are not candidates are in the forefront today. The other man, it is hardly necessary to add, is Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, who is rated by many as the No. 1 Republican choice.

Between Eisenhower and Vandenberg there is mutual respect and admiration. Although Eisenhower has not yet actively taken over the direction of the sprawling university on New York's Morningside Heights, it is believed that he had something to do with the fact that Columbia tapped Vandenberg for an honorary degree.

THE GENERAL thinks the Senator would make a good President of the United States. Should Vandenberg be the choice of the Republicans, who meet first, it is conceivable that Eisenhower would publicly indorse him during the interval of a week or 10 days before the Democrats convene. Thus, rebellious Democrats might have their dreams of an Eisenhower stampede at the convention shattered even before Chairman Sam Rayburn's gavel falls for the first time.

A steady procession of Democratic politicians and officeholders has been wending its way to Eisenhower's big, handsome office in the Low Memorial Library Building at Columbia. At least five Governors and eight members of the Senate have told him that he owes it to the Nation to run. One Senator up for reelection had the frankness to say that he knew his only chance to win was with Eisenhower at the head of the Democratic ticket. Eisenhower's comment was that it was a great relief to meet an honest man.

Many restless Democrats on the labor-liberal-left side of the party would be in for a surprise in the unlikely event of Eisenhower's nomination. He is a strong believer in States' rights. He quotes the passage in the Constitution which specifies that those powers not granted to the Federal Government are reserved to the States or the people.

This has, of course, a direct bearing on President Truman's civil rights program. Under the view taken by Eisenhower, the police power of the Federal Government could not be used to enforce fair employment standards or even to compel the States to abrogate their own laws setting forth the qualifications of voters within the States.

General Eisenhower has never entirely closed the door on his nomination. He is getting hundreds of letters from veterans these days complaining that if they could be drafted, then so can he. These make a profound impression on the soldier and patriot who is deeply aware of the troubled times in which we are living.

Krug Seeks More Funds

By the United Press

Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug protested yesterday that the House has handed his department its worst setback in 99 years.

Testifying before a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee, he said the "arbitrary and capricious" limitations the House wrote into the $375,727,591 Interior appropriation "impugn my judgment" and, if upheld, would destroy the department.

Restoration of Funds Urged

Urging the committee to restore an $84,243,224 House cut in budget requests, he also demanded that it knock out provisions which would:

1. Force the dismissal of Reclamation Commissioner Michael Straus by requiring that the job be filled by a man with 10 years of engineering experience.

2. Prevent the Reclamation Bureau from seeking new power customers among groups with "an adequate source of power supply."

Chairman Kenneth Wherry (R., Nebr.) has ordered the subcommittee's hearings conducted at a speed-up rate in an effort to jam the bill through Congress before its scheduled June 19 adjournment.

The Cabinet officer said in indignant tones that "the total effects of the bill would be to so weaken the Department's management of the Nation's resources as to impair the national security . . ."

'Rank Intrusion' Charged

He said he considered the limitations as "the rankest kind of intrusion" on his executive rights.

The limitations, he said, would leave him in the position of "being responsible for one of the biggest power businesses in the country without any staff to assure the accomplishment of objectives laid down for me by the Congress."

LARGEST FINANCIAL INSTITUTION IN THE NATION'S CAPITAL

Announcement

The Riggs National Bank announces a change in its telephone exchange from NATIONAL to STERLING — effective Monday, June 7th, 1948.

The numerical part of the number will remain the same, hence our new number will be:

STerling 5600

This change will permit us to double our telephone facilities, something not possible on the present crowded exchange. We will then be better able to handle YOUR individual calls . . . more promptly . . . more effectively.

Please remember when calling, to dial STerling 5600.

This is one of a series of moves contemplated by The Riggs National Bank to further augment its services to a continually expanding clientele.

Pix Snags Hank; 'Okla.' Audited

DIDJA KEN THAT:

Hank Cinq is coming back? . . . "Henry V" has lately been as close as the Apex, but, come Friday, he'll set up shop again downtown . . . The Pix gets it on a no-reserved-seat basis . . . The Laurence Olivier triumph will be unspooled four times daily at 90 cents for matinees and a buck-twenty in the evenings . . . Saturday it'll run on and on into the night . . . It's uncut, just as it was for its record-breaking stay at the Little . . . School kids are being given exchange slips . . . Release plans for the Olivier "Hamlet" will probably be along the lines set by Hank, but Universal-International, which is handling the J. Arthur Rank release, isn't yet sure where, when.

THE THEATER GUILD is learning arithmetic? . . . You may recall we told you Sunday that when "Oklahoma!" closed Saturday night it lacked 36 performances to cop "Chu-Chin-Chow's" long-run record of World War I . . . Now the guild discovers that during the war 44 extra performances were given solely for the forces and that these Tuesday matinees weren't included in the guild's calculations . . . Now the world's long-run record for musicals reads: "Chu-Chin-Chow," 2238; "Oklahoma!" 2246 . . . Question: Will World War III bring with it the next long-run musical champ?

HELEN HAYES played her opening performance at Olney with a splitting migraine headache? . . . But the country air, and the freedom from hectic New York's last-ditch packing for that London debut in "The Glass Menagerie," seem to be doing Queen Helen good . . . You'd not have thought from her performance she was anything but the gay, spritely mother she's playing so charmingly in Barrie's "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire" . . . Ah, lady, what a treat it is to see you swishing around.

THE CAPITOL is staging a mock battle between Gene Kelly and Fred Astaire? . . . Voting boxes are being set up in the Capitol lobby and in next-door's Super Music City for you to decide who's better, Gene in Thursday's "The Pirate," or Fred in the upcoming "Easter Parade." . . . For us it's easy: the last good dancer we've seen is always the best . . . No critical faculties whatever.

THE RECORD ALBUM of "Inside U. S. A." finally has hit town? . . . Connecticut avenue's on-its-toes Disc Shop, which we've been plaguing for weeks (because there they were in the shops of New York and Philadelphia), comes up with "Rhode Island Is Famous for You," "My Gal Is, Mine Once More," "First Prize at the Fair," "Haunted Heart," the title song and three Beatrice Lillie sides . . . Unlike most show albums, this was pressed before rehearsals had been much under way to fit the Petrillo recording deadline last December . . . The result is that one number in the album, "Atlanta," has since been dropped from the show, and some of the singers are different . . . But you do get Perry Como for "Haunted Heart" instead of the show's John Tyers . . . Funniest of a very fine lot is Miss Lillie's travesty on choral groups, "Come, Oh, Come," she sings, "to Peeeeets-bourgh, where friends are true as steel."

THIS MORNING the "Belasco Theater" ad is printed? . . . This means that Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, Federal Works Administrator, is calling for bids by July 1 for the conditional lease of most of the space in the Belasco . . . Provisos stipulate that "if Congress appropriates funds for a new building on the site during the terms of the lease, the Government shall have the right to cancel the lease on one year's notice" . . . Now we shall see . . . what?

THE ATOM has prompted another movie? . . . This will be made by Eagle Lion and will be called, "These Were My Orders" . . . The orders were those issued former Intelligence Agent Norbert Gagen to cover the nuclear fission project with secrecy and CIC operatives . . . The Atomic Energy Commission has just granted permission to picture some portions of Oak Ridge.

IT'S HOLDOVER BIZ at all the "Art Houses"? . . . The question of whether our town can support four of the so-called arty cinemas isn't exactly answered, for all four now have apparently what you'll pay to see. . . . Anyhoo, "The Search" is in its sixth week at the Playhouse, "Der Fledermaus" in its fourth week at the Little, "Tawny Pipit" begins its second stanza at the Hippodrome (third if you call the comedy's first one part of the run) and "The Mill on the Floss" shares the Dupont screen with "Our Mr. Shakespeare" for a second week . . . The Dupont's present bill has broken the new theater's record, set by the opening week's "The Roosevelt Story," which is nice going considering the handicap of the Iron Curtain approach to the circle tunnel . . . That Iron Curtain, by the way, is due to drop to 4 feet shortly.

IT USED TO BE LEGAL: Yvonne DeCarlo, as the gambling queen, who presumably gambols, too, with Rod Cameron and Dan Duryea, in "River Lady," opening this morning at Keith's

Auto Breaks Ankle Of Roads Board Worker

Leonard Beal, 22, of Cheltenham, Md., a Maryland State Roads Commission employe, suffered a broken ankle yesterday when he was struck by a car on Landover rd. near Brightseat, Md.

Police said the auto was driven by Mrs. Susie Cristofane, 3901 48th st., Bladensburg. Beal was taken to Prince Georges General Hospital by the Bladensburg rescue squad.

Hyattsville Unit Asks Plan By Experts

Hyattsville City Planning Committee last night voted to recommend to the city's mayor and council that experts be hired to plan the city's future development and that the anticipated $7000 cost be footed by a business privilege tax.

The action came after the planning council, meeting in the City Service Building, heard Eldridge Lovelace outline four projects which he said his firm, Harland Bartholomew & Associates, of St. Louis, proposes.

The proposals include analysis of the street system, traffic and parking conditions; studies of location and prospective need for expansion of public buildings; study of the location of a needed swimming pool, and an estimate of the cost of these improvements and ability of the community to pay for them.

Police Order Sidewalk Vendors To Remove Stalls

A drive against vendors in the downtown area who pile their wares on the sidewalk has been started by police, Capt. Howard V. Covell, commander of the First Precinct, disclosed yesterday.

Captain Covell said that at certain locations he had observed that news vendors had built platforms on the sidewalk for display of magazines.

He said that for the past three days his officers have been visiting these vendors and warning them to remove the obstructions. If the warnings are not heeded, Captain Covell said, the vendors will be arrested and charged with obstructing public space.

Lane Signs All Bills Passed by Special Session

Annapolis, Md., June 1 (Spl.).—Governor Lane today signed into law all measures—77 bills and 7 resolutions—passed at last week's special session of the Maryland General Assembly.

Two of the bills give permissive power for operation of raffles in Anne Arundel and Howard Counties while a third permits licensing of slot machines in Calvert County.

Chief among the measures signed and made effective today were administration bills raising salaries of State employes 10 per cent and granting $500,000 in added appropriation for the State Welfare Department's fiscal year, which begins next month. The salary increases will cost Maryland $2,101,654.

Another act authorizes the issuing of bonds to provide $525,000 for remodeling the State House and Court of Appeals buildings here. The changes will add 28 private offices for State Senators, and committee and hearing rooms for the House and the Senate.

Two of the resolutions passed direct creation of investigative bodies. One authorizes Governor Lane to appoint a nine-man commission to study the Maryland Tidewater Fisheries Commission, long in the throes of internal strife. The second sets up a 15-man commission to investigate all phases of the State Welfare system.

Among local measures signed today by the Governor were 12 sought by Montgomery and Prince Georges delegations. They include:

HB 2—By Speaker. Empowering county commissioners to adopt fire prevention codes.

HB 3—By Speaker. Empowering incorporated municipalities to adopt fire codes.

HB 6—By Montgomery delegation. Giving the county public utility agent executive authority, as assigned by the county commissioners, in connection with taxicab regulations.

HB 11—By Montgomery and Prince Georges delegations. Liberalizing financial limitations on bond issues of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission.

HB 12—By Prince Georges delegation. Permitting assessment of real estate improvements for parts of the regular tax year in the county.

HB 13—By Prince Georges delegation. Giving the county commissioners authority to regulate operation of trailers and trailer camps in the county.

HB 17—By Montgomery delegation. Raising salaries of various minor county employes.

HB 19—By Montgomery delegation. Giving Montgomery County commissioners discretion in fixing salary of public accountant.

HB 25—By Montgomery and Prince Georges delegations. Providing for regulating and bonding of master plumbers making connections in the Washington Suburban Sanitary District.

HB 29—By Montgomery delegation. Allowing Montgomery County commissioners to fix salaries of assistants to the county clerk.

HB 42—By Montgomery delegation. Permitting Montgomery County commissioners to pay additional salaries to assessors above those fixed by State-wide law.

HB 44—By Hyde. Authorizing council of Rockville to make street, water main and sewer improvements upon petition of 20 per cent of the front-footage owners benefited, instead of two thirds, as at present.

Smith Noncommital On Housing Measure

A plea for total support of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill was given a courteous reception by Representative Howard W. Smith (D., Va.) yesterday—but that was all.

Confronted by a delegation of Alexandrians urging his support of the measure, now before the House Banking and Currency Committee, Smith bluntly told the group:

1. He will not sign a petition sponsored by Representative Helen Douglas (D., Calif.) to force the bill out of the committee, and

2. If and when the bill is reported out, he can promise nothing more than his "careful consideration," coupled with the assurance that he will do "what seems best."

Smith told his home-town constituents he would not sign the Douglas petition because, "as a matter of policy," he has never signed a discharge petition. Asked by a member of the delegation to explain his policy, he retorted: "I've always felt that if a bill isn't strong enough to be reported out by a committee it would have no chance of passing through both houses."

The delegation, representing local civic, welfare, veterans and labor organizations, said it was primarily interested in phases of the bill which would provide greater Federal aid for public housing projects in the next 10 years. The group was headed by Mrs. Martha Pfeiffer, president of the Alexandria branch of the League of Women Voters, and was accompanied by Alexandria Mayor William T. Wilkins.

Dr. Joy to Speak

Dr. Bernard Joy, chairman of the Arlington County School Board, will address the Claremont Citizens Association tonight at 8 o'clock at Fairlington Elementary School, 3300 S. Stafford st.

Confidence Needed

European Gains Cited By McCloy

Cincinnati, June 1 (Spl.)—John J. McCloy, president of the World Bank, said tonight that, based on sheer productive capacity, Europe "is not far from her recovery plateau if her present rate of progress can be maintained."

"A moderate but substantial German recovery would contribute much to fill existing gaps," he added. "An increase in east-west trade would also greatly help. But above all these, the growth of a sense of confidence in the European future would put us in closer sight of our objectives."

The head of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development made his address before the Foreign Policy Association here.

He declared that many "imponderables" in the recovery situation cannot be measured by statistics, adding:

"If at a given moment the French farmer again gains some confidence in the French franc his goods will flow to the city markets and he will prdouce and deliver more for sale. If restrictions on trade are removed, if borders are made easier for the businessman to cross and recross, trade which is the multiplier of physical capacity, will contribute factors that no figures can faithfully appraise.

"The moral is to the physical as 2 to 1. If the pall of war fear can be removed from over Europe and if Europeans and Americans alike, are determined to make it work with what they have I venture to predict it will work."

ANA Accepts Negro Nurses

Chicago, June 1 (AP).—The American Nurses Association today voted to allow Negro nurses to join the ANA direct in States where they are barred from State nursing associations.

A spokesman said ANA membership is composed of the State groups.

He added that today's action would open ANA membership to an estimated two to three thousand Negro nurses barred from their district and State groups. He did not name the States.

Negro Nurses Here Have Own Group

The local affiliate of the American Nurses Association, does not accept Negro nurses as members.

However, nurses graduated at Freedman's Hospital have had their own association with the status of a State group for a number of years and have been eligible to join the ANA directly.

The ANA move will permit other Negro graduate nurses in the District not members of ANA affiliates to join the ANA directly.

there's nothing anybody can do."

The family pastor, the Rev. Clarence Fairbanks, of Washington Brethren Church, who came as soon as he had heard of the tragedy, recalled how last February 20, little Carol had celebrated her second birthday with a party.

Mrs. Jackson and 2-month-old Ronald Eugene were inside the house while Jackson traced and retraced the circumstances for members of the Accident Investigation Unit.

Ernest C. Backes, 4351 Lily Pond dr., a neighbor, said it all proved to him that there ought to be somebody there to look out for the children. "They are always playing in the street. Somebody ought to . . ."

In police records, Virginia Carol Jackson is a D. O. A. (dead-on-arrival). Cause of death, crushed skull. Gordon H. Burch, 32, of 3914 Madison st., Hyattsville, driver of the truck, who said he did not see the child, has been charged by police with unsafe backing and held for coroner's action on $800 bond. Inquest has been set for this morning at 11:30.

600 Methodist Churchmen Open Four-Day Conference

More than 600 clergymen and laymen met yesterday at American University for the opening of a four-day session of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church.

The churchmen represent approximately 160,000 Methodists in Maryland, the District, and the eastern panhandle of West Virginia.

Bishop Charles Wesley Flint is presiding at the meetings, which opened yesterday afternoon with Holy Communion and a memorial service at Metropolitan Methodist Church, Nebraska and New Mexico aves. nw.

At the first conference lecture Dr. W. Vernon Middleton of the Division of Home Missions and Church Extension, called upon Methodists to strengthen missionary posts.

Speaking of the mission program for the next four years, which was outlined at the recent Methodist General Conference in Boston, he said, "The missionary interests of the Methodist Church have the indestructible vitality of truth."

Dr. Middleton emphasized the need for new churches and church schools in suburban Washington and called for recruitment of able young men and women for Christian service work.

In Leonard Gymnasium last night, Bishop Z. T. Kaung of Peking, China, was the speaker. A reception for members of the conference was later held in the garden of President Paul F. Douglass of American University.

Sessions today will open with a devotional service in Leonard Gymnasium at 8:30 a. m. conducted by President Fred G. Holloway of Drew University. During the 11 a. m. Bishop's Hour, Mrs. Ernest Tuck, missionary from the Philippines, will speak, and at 4 p. m. the speaker will be Dr. William G. Carr, National Education Association. Dr. Ernest Tuck will speak at 8:30 p. m.

Britain Charges Soviet Terrorism in Germany

Berlin, June 1 (U.P.).—Britain charged today that Russia has set up a ruthless police state in eastern Germany, using terror methods to create a "pressure system" under which the individual has no rights.

The anti-Soviet attack, which was the bitterest denunciation of Russia yet made by any of the Allied nations governing Germany, appeared in a survey by the political division of British Military Government.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"
Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

All over America... Smokers Report

NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER

when you smoke PHILIP MORRIS!

—because PHILIP MORRIS is DEFINITELY LESS IRRITATING than any other leading brand!

All over America, smokers who have changed to PHILIP MORRIS tell us . . . they now enjoy a milder smoke, a fresher, cleaner smoke than they've ever known before.

Yes, there's a difference in PHILIP MORRIS that distinguishes it from all other leading brands!

If you're tired of "cigarette hangover"—that stale, musty taste in your mouth—that dry, smoked-out feeling in your throat . . . join the millions who CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS.

Remember . . . Of all leading cigarettes, PHILIP MORRIS — and only PHILIP MORRIS — is recognized by eminent nose and throat specialists as definitely less irritating!

NO OTHER CIGARETTE CAN MAKE THAT STATEMENT!

Read What One of America's Top-Ranking Doctors Says About PHILIP MORRIS

"I have often suggested to patients who smoke that they change to PHILIP MORRIS. I have seen the results of such a change—and the results have convinced me that PHILIP MORRIS Cigarettes are less irritating than the other brands."

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS

You'll be glad TOMORROW—you smoked PHILIP MORRIS TODAY!

D. C. Bankers Leave Today For Sessions

By S. Oliver Goodman

Washington bankers will leave this afternoon by special train and private autos for their thirtieth annual convention at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

More than 320 reservations have been listed, according to Richard A. Norris, president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association. This is a new record for any local bankers' convention, he said.

Business sessions will start Thursday, highlighted by Norris' annual report as president. The convention will continue through Saturday and the bankers will return Sunday.

Among the scheduled speakers are George B. Roberts, vice president of the National City Bank of New York; J. Burke Knapp, State Department official; Kenton R. Cravens, vice president of Mercantile Commerce Bank & Trust Co. of St. Louis; Ray Henle, National Broadcasting Co. news editor.

A full program of entertainment has been lined up, topped by a golfing tournament and a family dinner on Saturday night.

HOPEFUL: The Agriculture Department is hopeful of reviving the daily Washington wholesale produce report about July 1, it was learned yesterday. The Senate has approved a $5000 addition to the department's budget for this purpose. The report was suspended in July, 1947, despite protests of produce, hotel, farm and other business interests. The drive to resume the report has been spearheaded by Joseph P. McCarthy, general counsel for the wholesale food division of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association.

ELECTED TO SEAT: Harvey B. Gram, jr., yesterday was elected a member of the Washington Stock Exchange. Gram, in the investment business for more than 20 years, is a general partner in Johnston, Lemon & Co. He has been associated with the latter for 16 years, but took five years off to serve with the Air Corps as a lieutenant colonel. He is a past president of the Bond Club of Washington.

Gram

IN NEW POST: Luther E. Schreiner, veteran local banker, has become associated with the Washington investment house of Robert C. Jones & Co. Formerly an officer of the Hamilton National Bank, Schreiner has been in banking for more than 25 years. For many years he was manager of the Dupont National Bank, later the Dupont branch of the Merchants Bank & Trust Co., and afterward the Dupont branch of the Federal American Bank. He has been an officer of Hamilton National Bank since it was opened.

WHO'S WHO TODAY: Francis W. Crandall has been appointed manager of the Washington office of Ebasco Services, Inc., succeeding William P. Reilly who recently resigned to become president of the Arizona Power Co. Crandall formerly was executive secretary of the National Defense Power Committee and at one time was a lieutenant colonel attached to the United States Military Mission in Moscow . . . James A. Bohannon has been elected chairman of Brewing Corp. of America and Edward P. Taylor was elected president . . . Homer Replogle has been elected vice president for sales and E. Lloyd Dosch vice president for merchandising by American Home Foods, Inc. . . . Thomas J. Hilliard has resigned as vice president in charge of sales of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co.

TAKES D. C. POST: W. Albert Hess has resigned as vice president of the Industrial City Bank of Worcester, Mass., to become executive director of Consumers Bankers Association in Washington. He succeeds Gary M. Underhill, who has been named executive vice president of a Philadelphia bank. Hess came to the Worcester bank last year from Portsmouth, Va., where he was assistant vice president of the Bank of Virginia.

ODD LOTS: The Tin Sales Corp., selling agent for RFC, has raised its price for Grade A tin 9 cents a pound to $1.03 for June delivery to domestic consumers . . . Spot pepper prices in New York moved as much as 3 ctnts a pound higher than last week's quotations. At 54 cents a pound, the price is 16 cents above the year's lowest level of 38 cents on March 4 . . . Laidlaw & Co., in survey of oil industry, points out 10 oil stocks in a favorable current position . . . Steel mill output this week is estimated at 96 per cent of capacity, against 96.8 per cent last week . . . Canada has declared lead and lead alloys to be strategic metals and banned their export except under special government license.

EARNINGS: Curtiss-Wright Corp. reported consolidated net income of $1,340,068 for the March quarter, equal to 12 cents a share on common stock after provision for dividends on Class A stock. Unfilled orders at end of March totaled $140,500,000, compared with $118,500,000 on December 31, 1947. Other earnings reports follow:

Board Orders Bank Reserves Raised to 24%

By The Associated Press

The Federal Reserve Board yesterday ordered a 2 per cent increase in reserve requirements of member banks in New York and Chicago. It is effective June 11.

The board explained the action as "a further step toward restraining inflationary expansion of bank credit."

The increase will require the New York and Chicago banks to put up an additional 100 million dollars, respectively, in reserves. That money will no longer be available for bank loans.

The 2 per cent boost puts the total reserve requirement for the affected banks at 24 per cent. The maximum which the Federal Reserve can make them put up is 26 per cent.

For other banks throughout the nation, reserves have long been at the maximum—20 per cent for those classified as "reserve city banks" and 14 per cent for those classified as "country banks."

The New York and Chicago banks were boosted in reserve requirements from 20 to 22 per cent last February 27.

The reserve requirements dictate the percentage of net demand deposits that must be placed in the 12 Federal Reserve banks by member banks.

This was the second step the Federal Reserve Board has taken this year to cut down on banks' ability to lend, lest it add to inflationary pressures.

Last January 9, the board raised the rediscount rate—the interest charge to member banks which borrow from the 12 Federal Reserve banks—from 1 per cent to 1¼ per cent.

Today's action was taken in the absence of Thomas B. McCabe, the recently appointed board chairman, who is ailing at his home in Philadelphia.

Smaller Pay Hikes Viewed as Curb To Inflation

New York, June 1 (AP).—Thomas S. Holden, president of F. W. Dodge Corp., said today that present inflationary influences are all "at the moment, of moderate proportions."

The head of the building news agency told the thirty-third annual international convention of the National Association of Purchasing Agents:

"Current wage increases are smaller than most of them were a year ago.

"The European Recovery Program is not expected to increase our total physical volume of exports, though it will step up exports of some very important commodities urgently needed at home.

"It is being intimated that the defense program in contemplation may involve a considerable amount of construction—this program may have the strongest inflationary influence of any of the new factors now in sight."

Chicago Grain

Chicago, June 1 (AP).—Weather was of topmost importance at today's Board of Trade session. Traders discounted other reports and were influenced almost entirely by the progress of crops.

The Santa Fe Railroad said late rains over the Southwest had improved crop conditions, and wheat developed a heavy tone. This condition was not improved when trade reports told of heavy movement of grain from farms in Southwest and into Minneapolis.

Lack of rain in the corn belt, on the other hand, gave corn a firm no strong tone during most of the session.

At the close wheat was ⅝ to 1¼ lower than Saturday's close, July 2.33@2.33⅛. Corn was ⅛ to 2 cents higher, July 2.17⅛@2.17½. Oats were unchanged to ¼ higher, July 93⅛ of 93¼ and soybeans were unchanged to 7 cents higher, July 4.14.

Trade Act Faces Changes

to making "serious injury" the only standard governing tariff reductions.

For one thing, he said, neither the Tariff Commission nor any other body or individual was "omniscient" enough to decide whether any given tariff cut would cause "serious injury." He said every tariff reduction was a "calculated risk" which had to be taken on broader grounds.

To make "serious injury" the sole standard, he said, would be "pure protection" that would destroy American markets abroad and ultimately "bring us right back to the days of the Smoot-Hawley tariff."

Other Considerations

Moreover, he told the committee, other considerations needed to be taken into account in cutting tariffs—among them the benefit that might be gained by American exporters, the prospects of greater American markets abroad, and the broader requirements of the "national welfare."

Senator Millikin suggested letting the Tariff Commission recommend to the President the range of cuts that might be made, and then, if the President disregarded the advice, requiring the President to state his reasons publicly. Again Clayton objected, on the ground that the Tariff Commission should not have the sole power to recommend the desirable range of tariff concessions.

"If they're charged with the responsibility," said Clayton, "they'll lean over backward to make the tariff rate as high as possible.

Answers Irk Millikin

"The only way to make sure some domestic industry isn't injured is to put a total embargo on imports of a particular commodity. If you want absolutely to guarantee the safety of any American producer, then you should protect us against all competition from abroad."

This answer, and others from Clayton, made Millikin impatient. The Colorado Senator said there had been "a lot of screaming on the subject of the Trade Agreement Act, as if the heavens would fall if the State Department didn't get everything it wanted."

Millikin asked Clayton to produce the minutes of the interdepartmental committee of seven agencies which, under the existing act, recommends tariff changes to the President.

Records Kept Confidential

Clayton answered that the policy of the State Department was to decline to make these records or minutes public. He said they were the records of presidential advisers, and therefore confidential, and also that they included material from private citizens submitted on a confidential basis.

Millikin then asked whether he or his committee could inspect the Interdepartmental Committee's minutes, but Clayton said he was "not authorized" to give such permission.

Lard Trader Accused of Faking Report

Ralph W. Moore, commodity markets trader, was accused by the Government yesterday of attempting to manipulate the market through a "false, misleading and deceptive press memorandum."

Moore, an intimate of Democratic Senators O'Daniel of Texas and Thomas of Oklahoma, the latter ranking minority member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, is a former Texan and has offices at 1707 N st. nw.

He was said to have made $445,000 for himself and other market investors between January 2, 1946, and October 31, 1947.

Moreover, he is charged with attempting to pull off a coup in the lard market on or about last October 1 by preparing and circulating among newspapermen, brokers and others a "press memorandum" stating the Government planned to buy large quantities of lard for export.

Reporter John W. Ball disclosed in The Washington Post last March 25 that the Justice and Agriculture Departments were investigating a plot to pull off a big killing in the lard market through the medium of a fake press release.

The release was placed in he mailboxes of reporters at the Agriculture Department while they were attending a press conference in Secretary Anderson's office.

It stated that lard allocations for the first half of 1948 had been vastly increased and listed the names of several Government officials in "confirmation."

Newsmen became suspicious, investigated and found that the information in the statement was erroneous.

Experts said that if the false information had gained widespread distribution the lard market would have surged upward sharply, then plummeted when the news was officially denied.

Moore was named instigator of the plan yesterday by the Agriculture Department's Commodity Exchange Authority.

The Government complaint, signed by Undersecretary of Agriculture N. E. Dodd, said no such export or purchase program as outlined in the discredited press release was ever planned or intended, nor had any responsible officials so indicated.

The complaint said Moore issued the press release for the purpose of driving up lard prices so he could profit on his holdings. He was said to have held futures contracts covering 670,000 pounds of lard.

A hearing on the complaint will be held July 7 before a referee to be named by the Agriculture Department.

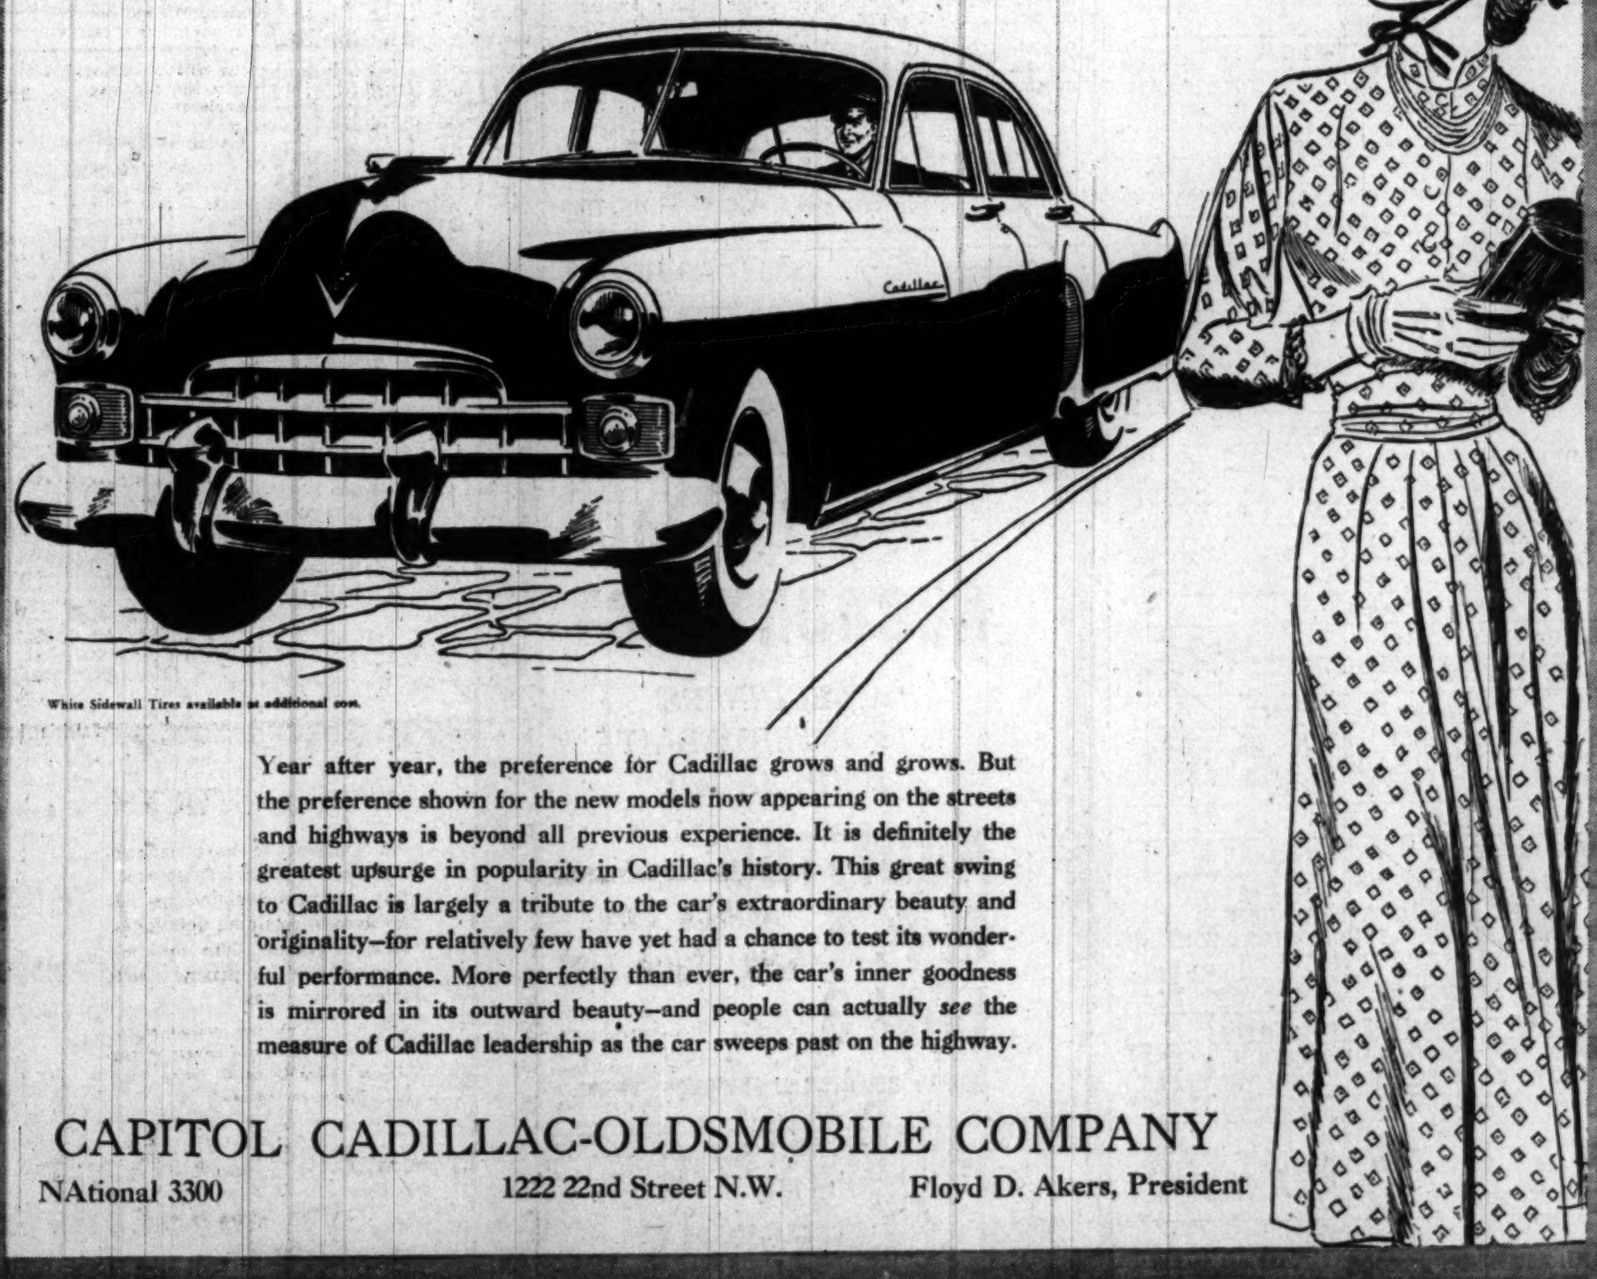
Cadillac
ACCEPTANCE



White Sidewall Tires available at additional cost.
Year after year, the preference for Cadillac grows and grows. But the preference shown for the new models now appearing on the streets and highways is beyond all previous experience. It is definitely the greatest upsurge in popularity in Cadillac's history. This great swing to Cadillac is largely a tribute to the car's extraordinary beauty and originality—for relatively few have yet had a chance to test its wonderful performance. More perfectly than ever, the car's inner goodness is mirrored in its outward beauty—and people can actually see the measure of Cadillac leadership as the car sweeps past on the highway.

2 Medical Examiner Districts Created in Prince Georges

Division of Prince Georges County into two medical examiner districts was announced yesterday by the county commissioners.

Dr. James I. Boyd of Forestville, medical examiner for the county since the office was created, will be medical examiner for the southern district.

Dr. John T. Maloney, 2202 Cheverly ave., Cheverly, Md., will be the examiner for the northern district.

The southern district will correspond generally with the area served by the county police station at Upper Marlboro and the northern district with that served by the Hyattsville sub station.

Dr. Boyd will continue to perform all autopsies, but Dr. Maloney will take over when Dr. Boyd is unavailable. The new system became effective yesterday.

The county commissioners, following a public hearing, yesterday created the Cheverly Manor Special Improvement District No. 39, which will include blocks C, D, E, F and G in Cheverly Manor, and proclaimed the week of June 6-12 as "Prince Georges Boys Club Week."

Escort Bound, Girl Raped in Wooded Lot

A rapist who attacked a blonde, 22-year-old insurance clerk while her boy friend lay nearby helpless because his hands were bound was being sought last night by police.

It was the third rape in Washington in as many days. Suspects have been charged in two attacks which took place Saturday.

The latest attack occurred shortly after 11:30 p. m. Monday in Temple Heights, a large plot of vacant land fronting the 1800 block of Connecticut ave. at Florida ave. nw.

The victim's escort was Samuel C. Farr, 21, of 2211 H st. nw., assistant manager of a Capitol Heights, Md., grocery store.

First Asked for Cigarette

They told police they were stopped by a light brown-skinned Negro while they were walking on Florida ave. between 19th and 20th sts. He asked for a cigarette.

"We don't have any," Farr told him.

The man then drew a gun—the couple don't know whether it was a revolver or automatic—and ordered them to walk up a gravel driveway leading into the heavily wooded lot.

About 150 yards up the driveway, they said, he directed them off the driveway into a clearing.

"He had white, heavy cord—smaller than clothes line or sash cord, but very strong," the young couple later told police.

The gunman bound both of their wrists behind their backs. Then he proceeded to rob his victims of what money and valuables they had. He took some coins from the girl's change purse and her diamond engagement ring. From Farr's watchpocket he removed $1.10.

Both Forced to Lie Down

"Lie down, both of you," the gunman then commanded.

The girl said the man used a knife to cut loose her undercloth-ing, then raped her. After the attack, he warned the couple to lie still for five minutes while he escaped.

The couple told Lieut. Richard McCarty of the sex squad that after about five minutes they walked over to Connecticut ave., where a passing youth helped free them from their bonds. They said they then went to the girl's home on Kalorama rd. where they told her roommate what had happened.

They borrowed cab fare from the roommate and went to the Third Precinct station, where they reported the rape and robbery. An examination at Gallinger Hospital verified that the girl had been attacked.

This is the police description of the Negro sought: in his late 20s, about 5 feet 9, 175 pounds and wearing a brown suit.

On the Town

SOME time ago Berney's steak house came out swinging a steak in each hand with in inflation-fighting price on filet mignon. It started a junior size stampede in the direction of Fifth and K. Well, it seems they've done it again. Berney says that if the first order of filet doesn't knock a hole in your appetite you're perfectly welcome to come back for seconds on the house. Judging from some of the appetites we've seen around town this is a dangerous offer to make. Berney hasn't decided what he'll do if the customer can wade through two steaks and come up asking for more.

Ira Ari has put the American touch into the Balalaika by including her own interpretation of the "Rhapsody in Blue" in her dance routines. Mischa Bess, the owner, is keeping an eye cocked on the thermometer to determine the closing date of the place. It probably won't happen for about three weeks.

Shirley Allen has taken over with her songs to fill the gap created when Hal Thornton left the Merry-Land. Her routines are sophisticated, particularly the songs that she writes herself. Shirley is a veteran of both stage and radio, having had her own dramatized newscast show from a New York station. During the war she traveled with the USO in "Claudia." And speaking of the Merry-Land, the latest satire whipped up by the Ko-Ko-Nuts is a take-off on Dorothy Shay's "Efficiency" number, with Ray Marshall, built up here and there, doing Dorothy.

QUONSET INN was rained out on the opening of its terrace, but managed to handle the crowds very nicely indoors.

If diners at Normandy Farm have wondered why they're usually recognized seconds after they arrive, they can stop it. The memory of mind master is Vinson, who has battled for many a socialite family in town.

Lucille Gibson, one of the fame-through-flimsy-skirts girls at the Sheraton Lounge, tried to make a quick hop bird-fashion to Norfolk the other day but got hung up somewhere between heaven and earth when the delightful Washington weather (chamber of commerce plug) decided to change. After arriving a couple hours late for work, she took the antiflying oath for all but sunny days.

Paul Kain at the Glen Echo ballroom has been able to add his "aye" to the No. 1 hit parade song, "Nature Boy." The crowd requests it more than any other number.

Bill Kavakos of Chez Kavakos has taken off the admission charge in his spot for all but Friday and Saturday nights. Joe Dosh is currently headlining the act out there. Bill's farewell party for Ken Barry was something to be remembered for a long time to come. The show lasted for about two hours that night, with a lot of the people from the entertainment world in town getting up to do their bit.

House Boosts Funds For Ft. Worth Airport

The House yesterday approved 120 to 37, funds for the proposed Greater Fort Worth International Airport.

It accepted a Senate amendment adding $2,608,000 to the Commerce Department appropriation bill for the controversial airport. It is to be halfway between Fort Worth and Dallas. The latter city has vigorously opposed the airport, on the ground it would compete with Dallas Love Field.

The total estimated cost of the Fort Worth Airport is 11 million dollars.

This Morning

With Shirley Povich

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 1.—They're stepping up the promotion for the Joe Louis-Joe Walcott fight on June 23.—Mike Jacobs used to match Louis with somebody and then step back and permit the public to buy up all the tickets but this one is requiring some promotion. The apathy of the ticket buyers has been somewhat alarming.

POVICH

The evidence is that Sol Strauss, the stand-in for the ailing Jacobs, is not looking with disfavor on the latest promotional gimmick—the allegations that Louis is out of shape and can't attain fighting condition by June 23.

It's nice to plant the thought that the ticket buyers may see the title change hands. That always fetches 'em in bigger numbers. The New York Athletic Commission is lending a hand with the ballyhoo. Today it sent commission doctors to Louis' Pompton Lakes training camp to investigate the champ's condition. That kind of a pre-fight checkup is usually reserved until a week before the bout.

Louis himself is unperturbed, however. He told Strauss the other day, "Don't mind what you hear, keep on selling tickets. I'm in shape to fight tomorrow if I have to."

THE PROMOTERS claim that advance sales have reached the $350,000 mark, but that is open to some suspicion. Mike Jacobs claimed a 2-million-dollar gate for the second Louis-Conn fight a couple of years ago, three weeks before the fight, but the gate never hit that figure.

Some of the Louis-Walcott money has been taken out of circulation by the advance sales for the Rocky Graziano-Tony Zale fight being promoted by a new syndicate in Newark on June 9. That crowd claims they have nearly $200,000 already in the till, but whatever the figure may be it is no help to the Louis-Walcott advance sales.

Louis' 216 pounds is the best publicity his fight with Walcott has gotten. He says he'll go into the ring around 215, the heaviest figure of his fighting career, and that's one of the factors that has driven the odds down to 14 to 5, the shortest price on Louis since he knocked out Max Schmeling as a 194 pounder. With Louis at 215, Walcott admirers think the title will change hands.

ANYWAY, LOUIS is a lucky guy to be defending the title, says the Walcott camp in vivid recollection of the fight last December when Walcott put the champion down twice and apparently had him licked at the finish. Referee Ruby Goldstein voted that way, too, but Louis got the nod from the two judges to the accompaniment of the loudest boos ever heard in a New York ring.

Louis' attitude toward Walcott has changed completely, according to the contrast in the pre-fight statements emanating from his camp. Last winter, he refused to lend himself to the ballyhoo, to the distress of Jacobs' press agents, merely saying that Walcott was a nice guy who could punch hard. Louis wasn't bothering to say much about a guy who was 10-to-1 in the betting.

It's been different in the last few weeks, though. Louis has been accusing Walcott of everything except cowardice, and Walcott has countered by declaring "Louis can punch but he can't think." The champ appears to be mad at an opponent for the first time since Schmeling. He wasn't even angry with Tony Galento, who delighted in calling Louis "Dat Bum."

LOUIS' NEW POUNDAGE is no myth. Just a couple of years ago, before the Conn fight, he said his best fighting weight was around 205 . . . When he returned to America from his British tour, the best guess was that Joe weighed about 235, and the reports from his training camps in Michigan and New Jersey were that the new weight didn't come off easily.

One item is disturbing Walcott's followers. They like to believe that Jersey Joe was one of the few Louis opponents who registered no fear when he crawled through the ropes against the champion. Walcott never did show any signs of panic, either, in that first bout but look what happened to Billy Conn. Like Walcott he was fearless in his first Louis fight. In the second, he was scared to the point of trembling when he entered the ring.

The Louis people analyze that fear that overtook Conn. "In Conn's first fight Billy did well until he was knocked out in the thirteenth. In the second fight it was different, because Conn knew how hard Louis could hit. That explains Conn's different reaction, perhaps, but Walcott doesn't yet know how hard Louis can hit. He won't take any complex into the ring.

Eastern Loses To W-L, 5-4

Loosening up for today's Interhigh semifinals playoff game, Eastern's Ramblers dropped a 13-inning 5-4 decision to Washington-Lee of Arlington yesterday at W.-L.

Relief Pitcher Garland Brill drove in W-L's winning run with a single after an Eastern error, a hit batsman and a sacrifice put men on second and third with one out. Eastern plays Anacostia in the Interhigh semifinals at Griffith Stadium at 3 p. m. today.

'Skins Trade Jimmy Youel

The Washington Redskins yesterday obtained Tackle Tom Dean, former All-Southwest Conference star of Southern Methodist, from the Boston Yanks in a straight player swap for Quarterback Jimmy Youel and End Joe Duckworth.

Dean a standout in the weak Yank line for the last two years, stands 6-2½ and weighs 255 pounds.

In return for the mountainous Dean, Washington gave up at least one player who preferred to be elsewhere.

"I'm tickled to death to be traded," Youel announced. "My only competition for the regular quarterback spot will be Boley Dancewicz. He's no Sammy Baugh, so I should play more than I have the past two years."

Youel asked to be traded when the Redskins signed All-America Harry Gilmer, the latest of Baugh's understudies. The trade of Duckworth was made possible by the bumper crop of outstanding ends on the 'Skin roster.

Nicholson's Single Wins for Trinidad

Reverdy Nicholson singled to drive in Mac Caponiti with the run that gave Trinidad Boy's Club a 1-0 victory over Avondale Seniors yesterday in a 16-years-and-under game on the losers' field. Winning Pitcher Tommy Mayton hurled a five-inning one hitter.

Hurler-Pilot Banned for Throwing Ball Game

By Fritz Howell
Associated Press Sports Writer

Columbus, Ohio, June 1.—Baseball banned for life today a minor league club official and a pitcher-manager on charges of bribery, gambling and game-throwing.

Ousted, following a long investigation by President George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, were:

Bernard Deforge, pitcher-manager of the Reidsville, N. C., club of the Carolina State League, who Trautman said admitted throwing a game for $300; and

Ed Weingarten, an official of the Florence, S. C., club of the Tri-State League and Leaksville, N. C., of the Blue Ridge Loop, who denied all connection with the game-throwing incident.

Heavy Gambling Reported

Trautman said the investigation centered around a May 14 game at Winston-Salem, which that club won from Reidsville by 5 to 0. Trautman said he opened his inquiry because of reports that heavy gambling had taken place on the basis Winston-Salem would win by three runs or more; that "a known gambler had been seen talking with Deforge while he was warming up, that there was no logical reason for relief of Pitcher Abernathy, and that Deforge had issued bases on balls in order to assure defeat of his team by at least three runs."

In the game, at the end of 7⅓ innings, with Winston-Salem leading 2 to 0, Deforge removed Pitcher Tal Abernathy and took over the mound himself. He walked four men and heaved a wild pitch, Winston-Salem winning 5 to 0 on three unearned runs.

After the game, Trautman said Deforge admitted he received $300 from "one W. C. McWaters," who told him "I hated to see you have to do what you did."

Easy Money Plan Backfires

Deforge told Trautman his misconduct "stemmed from a meeting May 10 in the Hotel Belvedere, Reidsville, between himself, Weingarten and McWaters." He said a plan to "make a lot of money out of betting on baseball games" was discussed and it was agreed McWaters would contact Deforge at the proper time.

On May 14, Deforge said, McWaters called him at his home, made a hotel appointment with him, and told him to "see to it that Reidsville lost that night's game by at least three runs."

Asks N. C. Action

"The only regret this office has with respect to these orders," Trautman continued, "is that the president of the national association is not empowered to impose upon Weingarten a penalty truly commensurate with his offense. In this connection, there is some consolation in the knowledge that a statute of the State of North Carolina provides a penalty of imprisonment for anybody found guilty of 'fixing' a ball game, and I feel that I speak for all professional baseball when I wish the law enforcement officials of that State godspeed in any action the State might institute against the guilty."

Dot Kielty Paces Trio of U.S. Golfers

St. Annes-On-Tse-Sea, England, June 1 (AP).—Dorothy Kielty, pinup girl of United States golf, sank a 90-foot chip shot from the 5-inch rough on the edge of a trap on the seventeenth hole today and advanced to the quarterfinals of the British women's tournament.

The shot, best during the first three days of this meet, virtually assured the former ferry pilot of her 1-up triumph over Mrs. Garriel Style and put her in the round of eight alongside Louise Suggs and Dorothy Kirby, both of Atlanta.

The Atlanta girls advanced with more ease and a lot less worry. Miss Suggs moved past Mrs. G. E. C. Rodgard of Scotland, 3 and 2, to gain the quarterfinals where she will play Miss Kirby tomorrow morning.

Miss Kirby moved up with a 6 and 5 conquest of Peggy Smeeton of England.

Bosox Knock Macks From Loop Lead, 8-1

Philadelphia, June 1 (AP).—Shortstop Eddie Joost committed his first error in 42 games and the Philadelphia Athletics fell from the American League lead as they bowed to the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 1, today.

The Red Sox victory dropped the Athletics nine percentage points below the idle Cleveland Indians although they technically remained a half-game in front on the basis of games won and lost.

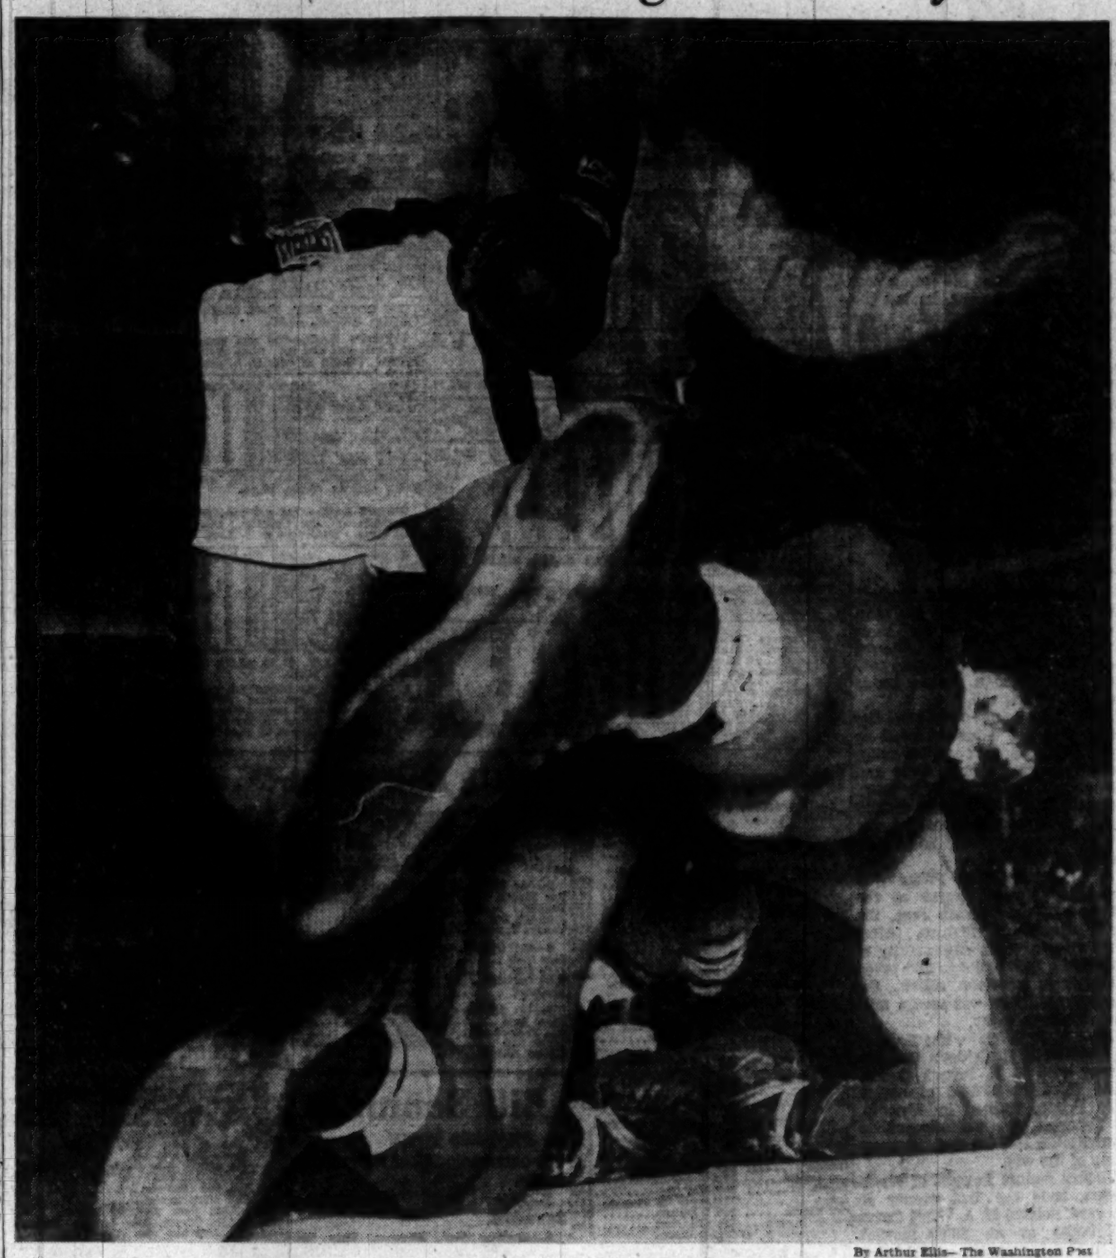
LaMotta Knocks Stribling Out in Fifth



By Arthur Ellis—The Washington Post

DOWN FOR THE LAST TIME—Ken Stribling, Washington middleweight, fought bravely against Jake LaMotta, slugging New Yorker, at Griffith Stadium last night, but LaMotta won a knockout in the fifth round. Stribling went down six times. The above picture shows him down for the knockout with LaMotta hovering over him in the background

Ken Battered Down Six Times In One-Sided But Wild Fight

By Morris Siegel
Post Reporter

After knocking him down five times for exercise, Jake LaMotta finally put Ken Stribling away for keeps last night.

The end came in the fifth round, climaxing one of the wildest, although one-sided, punching parties Griffith Stadium has witnessed in years.

When Referee Ray Bowen completed his fateful toll over the Washington middleweight, almost every one of the 4516 customers cheered with mixed emotions. They were delighted over the savagery of LaMotta's attack and appreciative of Stribling's game stand.

Stribling sank to the floor for the sixth time with his back on the canvas. At the count of eight he tried to get up, but merely rolled over as Referee Bowen completed his count.

Courageous Effort by Ken

It was the finish of a courgeous effort by Stribling, who had been floored in the second, third and fourth rounds and whose doom was freely predicted before the fight.

Jake, a rip-snorting two-fisted terror, dropped Ken for eight in the second round with a right to the jaw; for nine in the third with the same punch, and three times in the fourth, the bell saving Stribling at the count of four in that session.

In that same fourth round, however, Stribling enjoyed his greatest success. After the rosin had been wiped off his gloves for the second time, Ken stood toe to toe with the mauler, trading punch for punch until LaMotta leaped in and planted another right to the head which sent Stribling sprawling again.

He Makes an Early Bid

Ken's only chance of a triumph rested in his ability to tag LaMotta early. And he tried. He leaped out of his corner at the opening bell and grazed LaMotta's chin with a long, looping right. After that, Jake called his shots for practically every blow of the remaining time.

Boxing in a crouch and shuffling forward every second, LaMotta caught several stinging chop punches to the head from Stribling, but they didn't seem to worry the New Yorker. He was just too tough.

As Stribling said in his dressing room after the bout, "Hitting him is likt hitting an iron safe. He just ain't human."

LaMotta, puffing freely after his first bout since he was suspended last November, muttered:

"I needed the workout, but that guy is tough, tougher than I thought."

Cooper Loses Prelim

LaMotta was a 4-1 favorite and looked the part. He weighed 164 against 161 for Stribling.

In a sizzling eight-round semi-windup, Joey Cay of Liverpool defeated Featherweight Jimmy Cooper of Washington. Both were on the deck once.

The net receipts last night were $10,317.84, enabling Mrs. Florence Turner, promoter of the venture, to just about break even on her first outdoor presentation of the season.

R. L. Russell Wins World Series Trip In Baseball Contest

R. L. Russell of Bladensburg, Md., won a World Series trip and two tickets to any future Nat home game by winning last week's Washington Post baseball Pick-the-Winners Contest.

Mr. Russell guessed the outcome of 12 of the 13 games correctly, missing only the first game of the Chicago-Cincinnati double-header. He also go three of the scores right.

Richard H. Glantz, 4969 8th st. ne., also picked 12 out of 13—he missed the Chicago-Cleveland game—but called only one score correctly.

Giants, Bums Play 4-4 Tie

Brooklyn, June 1 (AP).—Whitey Lockman and Gil Hodges drove in four runs apiece today as the first-place New York Giants and the seventh-place Brooklyn Dodgers fought to a 4-4, 11-inning tie.

Lockman belted two homers, one with two on in the fifth inning and the other with the bases empty in the eighth.

The game was called in order to allow both clubs to catch trains for the West where they begin their second invasion of the season tomorrow.

Jake Early And Vernon Bat in Runs Off Reynolds

By Shirley Povich
Post Reporter

New York, June 1. — Walter Masterson threw befuddlement at the Yankees tonight, held 'em hitless and hopeless after the third inning, and walked off the diamond with a superb 4-1 victory on behalf of the Nats.

While Masterson held the Yankees firmly in the grip of his potent admixture of curves, fast balls and let-up pitches, Jake Early and Mickey Vernon whacked Allie Reynolds for the Nats' four runs.

The Nats inflicted his second defeat on Reynolds, the Yankees' leading pitcher who took a 6-1 record into the game. Early battered home two runs in the second inning with a two-bagger off the right-field wall. In the eighth, Vernon powered a two-run homer into the right-field seats, his first of the season.

44,779 More Customers

The one run the Yankees did get off Masterson was a hotly disputed affair, with the Nats screaming that Tommy Henrich should have been held to a single on his hit to right field in the first inning. Umpire John Stevens, however, ruled it a ground-rules double, decreeing the ball had hopped into the boxes. Singles by DiMaggio and Berra scored Henrich.

That was the only run the Yankees could stir up for their whopping crowd of 44,779 customers. After the third inning, they didn't even get to first base against Masterson, who walked nobody and permitted only four of his pitches to be hit out of the infield in the last six innings.

The high point of Yankee futility occurred in the third when Tommy Henrich and Charley Keller batted out consecutive two-baggers yet failed to produce a run. Henrich held up momentarily on Keller's blow which caromed off the glove of Right Fielder Ed Stewart, and when he did set sail for the plate he was cut down on a superlative relay from Wooten to Christman to Early.

Vernon, Christman Single

Singles by Mickey Vernon and Mark Christman set up the two runs in the second inning that enabled the Nats to wipe out the Yanks' 1-0 lead. The chief enabler, however, was Early Wynn, whose double to right with two out was the runs-producing blow.

The Nats outhit the Yankees, 11 to 5, but they gave Masterson no more than a 2-1 lead to work with until the eighth. At that point former Yankee Stewart singled to right and Vernon connected for a massive homer into the right-field seats.

Those two runs gladdened the Nats, no doubt, but with Masterson pitching like he was they were completely superfluous.

IN SHORT . . . You might say the Nats got more hitting power into their lineup with a shortstop shift tonight. Kuhel benched Sullivan who has a .174 average and replaced him with Christman, who's hitting .192 . . . as of tonight, the Nats had lost 13 of their 14 games in Yankee Stadium since 1946 . . . Nats-Yankee trade talk has been renewed . . . The Nats' two-day appearance in Yankee Stadium fattened the club's treasury by more than $35,000 . . . Yankee players privately think George Stirnweiss has lost his second base job to Rookie Bobby Brown . . . Dick Welteroth, assured of a $5000 minimum salary as long as he stays with the Nats, will take a bride in October . . . Ray Scarborough, impressive winner over the Red Sox in his last start, goes to the mound tomorrow night against the Indians who move into Griffith Stadium for a three-game stay.

Teams Feature Wrestling Tonight

The twice-beaten but still masked Panzer Division five-man wrestling team returns to Turner's Arena tonight. The hooded quintet will be opposed by Babe Sharkey, Gino Garibaldi, Marvin Mercer, Tony Coscenza and George Flynn. Sharkey's crew yesterday was seen purchasing a batch of Montgomery berets.

Leading Pros Qualify for National Open

Fort Worth, Tex., June 1 (AP).—With the exception of Bob Hamilton who didn't stick around to compete, all the nationally known pros who made their bids for places in the U. S. Open at River Crest today made the grade with ease.

Two North Carolina swingers, Clayton Haefner who just won the third Colonial National Invitation here and Stewart (Skip) Alexander tied for the medal at 140, even par for the 36-hole route.

A tally of 148 was needed to win one of the 13 places. Among the qualifiers:

Skip Alexander, Lexington, N. C.	68	72—140
Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C.	71	69—140
Tomer Penna, Cincinnati, Ohio	73	68—141
Osc. Schoux, Mamaroneck, N. Y.	69	72—141
Herman Keiser, Akron, Ohio	71	71—142
Jimmy Demaret, Houston	70	73—143
Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va.	72	74—146
George Fazio, Los Angeles	73	74—147
George Schneiter, Ogden, Utah	73	74—147

Bass Makes Grade

Philadelphia, June 1 (AP).—Dave Douglas, Wilmington, Del., and John Bass of Baltimore, toured the North Hills Country Club course in 145 strokes today to lead qualifiers for the National Open Golf championship.

John Bulla Has 142

Phoenix, Ariz., June 1 (AP).—Professionals Johnny Bulla of Phoenix and Felice Torza of Los Angeles paced the sectional qualifying round here today for the U. S. open golf tournament. Both had scores of 140, two under par, for the 36-hole test.

Worsham Defends Title

Lew Worsham of Oakmost, the defending National Open champion, is an automatic qualifier and did not play in today's event. He will play at Los Angeles, leaving here June 4.

Freddie Haas Is In

New Orleans, June 1 (AP).—Freddie Haas, jr., of New Orleans and Henry Costello of Abbeville, La., qualified for the United States Open golf tournament at New Orleans Country Club today. Haas had 67, 75—142. Henry Castillo of the Abbeville (La.) Country Club had 75,72—145.

Otto Greiner Makes It

Tulsa, Okla., June 1 (AP).—Otto Greiner of Baltimore, member of a group of touring professionals, shot a 141 at Tulsa Country Club today to become one of four persons qualifying for the national golf championship. Bill Smith of Tulsa led the golfers with a 67 in the morning, a 72 in the afternoon. Smith, former national left-handed golf champion, declined a position with the Oklahoma contingent.

Barron Scores Ace

Scarsdale, N. Y., June 1 (AP).—Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., recent winner of the Goodall round robin, fired a hole-in-one today while qualifying with six others for the U. S. open golf tournament in sectional trials at the Quaker Ridge Country Club.

Barron holed his ace with a seven-iron on the 141-yard ninth hole as he turned in a score of 74-71—145.

Engineer Company No. 3 defeated Engine Company No. 18 by a 17-4 margin yesterday at Fairlawn.

McKee Beats Jet, 4-1

McKee Pontiac downed Jet Motors, 4-1, in an Anacostia Recreation League contest yesterday at Anacostia.

Patent Office Scores

Patent Office defeated Civil Aeronautics, 5-0, yesterday in an Inter-Governmental League match at East Potomac Park.

Eastern Favored In Playoff Today

The semifinals of the Interhigh League baseball playoffs take place at 3 p. m. today with Eastern favored to eliminate Anacostia at Griffith Stadium.

Today's winner meets Coolidge in the finals Friday at Griffith Stadium. Coolidge is unbeaten while Eastern and Anacostia have each lost once in the double elimination playoffs. So Coolidge must beat today's winner only once to win its third straight championship. Today's winner, however, must lick Coolidge twice to grab the title.

Victory 4th Of Year in Nine Starts

By Walter Haight
Post Reporter

Charles Town, W. Va., June 1.—Gal Royal, owned by Dr. A. S. Moore of Camden, S. C., was an easy winner of the Brunswick purse, featuring the Tuesday program here.

Jockey Mike Sarno, former GI, who has to confine his riding now to high-weight horses, booted the five-year-old mare home four lengths in advance of C. R. Norris' Snow Phantom. Three additional lengths back came Miss Virginia McKenney's Boston Broom to be third in the field of eight.

It was in the role of a favorite that Gal Royal turned in her fourth victory of the year in nine starts. She paid a $3.60 mutuel and was clocked in 1:21 for the six and a half furlongs over a good track.

Boston Broom Fades

Boston Broom, Lady Romery and Double Reward did the most prominent early running. However, when the field straightened along the back stretch, Sarno sent Gal Royal through on the inside rail and to the top.

From that point to the end, Gal Royal had the situation well in hand. Boston Broom and the other front runners began to fade and the only rally came from Snow Phantom. The latter came around horses to improve her position, got as close as second and then weakened.

J. N. Barnes' Miss Prime won her third straight purse of the meeting in the seventh race, the day's secondary feature. After showing her wares successfully at four and a half furlongs and seven furlongs in previous efforts, the four-year-old filly was sent a mile and sixteenth today.

As a $4.40 favorite, she finished in front of J. E. Crider's Comedy Player with E. P. Price's Omaha Mike third in a field of seven. Miss Prime, trained by Mrs. G. A. Saportas, jr., was clocked in a creditable 1:47 4-5 and led every jump of the way.

Jockey Bennie Leggett of Washington, rode the first winner on the card, getting M. A. Will's Count Off home at an $8.60 mutuel. When Stanley Austin rode Rakish Jane to a nose victory in the second event at $4, there was a $23.20 pay-off on the daily double.

Kenwood Clinches Golf Title; Defeats Army-Navy, 6-3

By Roger Wolbarst
Post Reporter

Kenwood's powerful team clinched first place in the Women's District Golf Association first-team matches by defeating its closest competitor, Army-Navy, yesterday at Washington Golf and Country Club.

By winning, 6-3, Kenwood's point total for the six weeks of play soared to 45½, with Army-Navy solidly entrenched in second place with 31 points.

Mrs. Fay Ferriday, one of Army-Navy's strongest players, was taken ill two weeks ago; Mrs. O. L. Young, another bulwark of the team, has departed for Japan, and Mrs. M. J. Torlinski, still another fine player, missed yesterday's match through illness.

In other matches, Manor defeated Chevy Chase, 5½-3½, and Congressional routed last place Woodmont, 7-2.

Low medal score of the day was Mrs. Walter Stokes' 81, a fine performance over the slow Washington links.

Three two-somes completed their sixth straight week of competition with the distinction of having never lost a point to their opponents. Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Roderick Watson of Manor, Mrs. Ed Widmayer and Mrs. Trouchaud of Kenwood and Mrs. S. F. Little and Mrs. W. F. Parsons of Army-Navy, boast perfect records.

The teams now stand: Kenwood, 45½; Army-Navy, 31; Chevy Chase, 23; Manor, 22½; Congressional, 19½; Washington, 12½, Woodmont, 8.

Mrs. Sullivan Wins Manor Ladies Day

Mrs. J. H. Sullivan shot a 112—30—32 to win the Ladies Day 18-hole medal play handicap tournament yesterday at Manor Club.

Guest prize was won by Mrs. J. Hopkinson, of Kenwood, who scored 112—26—36.

Roads Gets Ace

Dusty Roads scored a hole in one yesterday on the fourth hole of the "B" course at East Potomac Golf Course. Roads dropped a three-iron shot on the 184 yard par three hole while playing in a foursome with Harry Gussman, C. E. Root and Tom Riley.

Manor Nears WDGA Second Team Title

Manor Club's golf team virtually clinched first place in the Women's District Golf Association second team matches by crushing Washington Golf and Country Club, 7—2, yesterday at Kenwood.

The triumph gave Manor a commanding seven-point lead in the cumulative team standings with only one match left to play.

Second place Prince Georges, which last week was all but eliminated from contention by Manor's team, also scored an easy 7—2 victory over Chevy Chase. By winning, Prince Georges held a five-point margin over third place Washington.

In the day's other match, Belle Haven edged Congressional, 5—4, to move into a last place tie with its victim and Kenwood, which drew a bye yesterday. The final day's matches will take place next Tuesday at Chevy Chase.

The teams now stand: Manor, 36; Prince Georges, 29; Washington, 24; Chevy Chase, 20½; Kenwood, 17½; Congressional, 17½; Belle Haven, 17½.

An 'If' Deal Like Baugh's

'Skins Give Weisenburger Boost for a Nat Contract

By Bill Burnett
Post Reporter

SO YOU THINK the only thing the Nats and Redskins have in common is their use of Griffith Stadium for home games?

'Tain't so.

They have a common desire for the name of Michigan's great baseball shortstop and football fullback, Jack Weisenburger, on a contract.

The desire is so intense, it was learned by The Washington Post yesterday, that the city's American League Baseball Club and National Football League team are willing to cooperate in the young star's signing.

Both outfits have scouted the lanky ace who'll come here to talk contract as soon as the Wolverine's school year is over. Redskin owner George Marshall saw him score three touchdowns in the New Year's Rose Bowl game.

When Weisenburger, first approached by the Redskins, expressed a stronger desire for a baseball career, Marshall decided to take a gamble. He recommended Weisenburger to Clark Griffith, Nat prexy, and hung his hopes on the following possibilities.

Weisenburger would be signed by the Nats to report to spring training next March. Meanwhile he would be free to play football for the Redskins this fall (Marshall hopes).

By the middle of next summer Weisenburger, probably farmed out by the Nats, would have some sort of picture of his baseball future. From that he could decide which sport to quit, baseball or football.

The 'Skins think they have an ace up their sleeve where Weisenburger is concerned. Part of the third finger of his baseball throwing hand is missing, the result of a childhood accident.

Phelps Tops Carver On Isley's No-Hitter

Ed Isley pitched his second successive no-hitter yesterday as Phelps Vocational shut out Carver High of altimore, 2-0, at Phelps.

Isley faced only 21 batters, minimum for the seven inning route. He walked one batter in the seventh, but promptly picked him off first base. He struck out 17, and scored Phelps' first run after singling in the third. The win was the thirteenth in 15 games for Phelps.

Bethesda High Golfers Win 44 Straight Without Fanfare

By Herb Heft
Post Reporter

WITHOUT MUCH FANFARE, Bethesda-Chevy Chase High has edged within one match of completing its fifth consecutive undefeated golf season.

The Barons have already clinched the Metropolitan High League championship. Their forty-third straight win, 5-4, over Montgomery-Blair last week, won them the crown.

But even that passed almost unnoticed because it was routine accomplishment for Bethesda. The Barons have won the title for seven of the last nine years the league has functioned.

Alan Voight, faculty adviser of the team could claim credit for the team's success. Since he took over in 1937, Bethesda has won 66 out of 70 matches.

But Voight smilingly shrugs off all complaints. "I haven't taught these kids a thing," he says. "In fact, it's the other way around. I'm just a duffer, while these kids all learned to play before they came to school. They live in suburban Montgomery County in the midst of several big courses. They're out caddying when most other kids are carrying newspapers for spending money.

This year's team has won 11 matches, scoring 89 points to only 10 for the opposition. Three members, Stanley Mouser, Bob Mair and John Eisinger are undefeated. The rest of the squad consists of Joe Sullivan, Dick Wolfe, Charles Warden, Dick Latimer and Charlie Jansen.

Oh yes, the arons won their forty-fourth straight yesterday, 8-1, over Georgetown Prep—just for fun.

THE LINCOLN

TWO COMPLETELY NEW 1949
Lincolns
IN A CHOICE OF MAGNIFICENT BODY STYLES AND TWO SEPARATE PRICE RANGES

A new fine car isn't made overnight. Not a really new and really fine car.

The 1949 Lincolns you can see now at your Lincoln dealer's have been years perfecting. Here was a job that couldn't be rushed. For these 1949 Lincolns were designed to meet the 1950s more than half way; to be the automotive pattern for years to come.

Are they beautiful? Of course, with a new, massive breadth of line that's fresh to the eye ...and sheer joy when you see how much extra room it means. They've got a new, low, hug-the-road look. And feel how their new super-balloon tires, with their wider, safer rims and low pressure, take the sway out of curves...really cushion your ride.

Are they powerful? In both the Lincoln and Lincoln Cosmopolitan, there's the same powerful engine. Newly designed right from the blueprints up, 8-cylinder, V-type, 152-horsepower...it's as fine an engine as human skill can make. A fortress of strength...built with the precision that goes into aviation engines.

Are they luxurious, these new Lincolns? Naturally. From the smart upholstery fabrics and distinctive color combinations to their new carefree, effortless ride, these Lincolns are a revelation and a new experience. Yes, look at the fine cars of the '50s...Look at Lincoln.

Nothing could be Finer_or Newer!

6 Indicted On Gambling Charges Here

Sam Morgan and 5 Alleged Aides Charged With Numbers Operation

Sam Morgan and five others, allegedly working under him in what police described as one of this area's "major" numbers operations, were indicted yesterday by the regular grand jury.

At the time of Morgan's arrest on March 23, estimates of the gross "take" of his alleged gambling ring were placed at "several million dollars a year."

Arrest of the six indicted yesterday followed more than a month of investigation by police undercover men and other members of the vice squad. Police said they trailed "pickup men"—and women—on their rounds of betting places here and across the District line to "turn in" points in Maryland.

Others Indicted

These indictments came on a day when the special grand jury—probating the overall aspects of an alleged 100-million-dollar-a-year Washington gambling racket—apparently was not meeting.

Morgan, who is 42 years old, gave his address to police as 705 Wayne ave., Silver Spring, Md.

Indicted with him, all on the same charges of operating a lottery and possession of numbers slips, were:

Mary Charles, 31, of 70 Rhode Island ave. nw., Apt. 22 .

Beatrice Campbell, 39, of 1633 4th st. nw.

Jency Garrett, 41, of 611 Acker st. ne.

Otis Jones, 28, of 411 E st. ne.

William A. Brown, 30, of 52 L st. nw.

Adding Machines in Car.

All the defendants, with the exception of Morgan and Mrs. Charles, were arrested in quick succession on March 5. Morgan's "gallantry' in driving Mrs. Charles to her District home led to their arrest, Lieut. Roy Blick, vice squad chief, told reporters at the time.

When arrested in Morgan's Lincoln club coupe, Morgan had $212.74 on his person, $417.15 in the glove compartment of the car, and there were two adding machines in the trunk of the car, police said.

According to police, Mrs. Charles had 12 $100 bills, numbers slips and "run-down tapes" of figures in her possession.

Plans Endangered

Police reports showed that the elaborate plans in the case, which had begun on February 16, were endangered on February 20.

On the latter date, reportedly without knowledge of the vice squad, the commanding officer of the First Precinct, Capt. Robert C. Pearce, led his own raid on the group's headquarters at the time—927 G st. nw.

Acting on what he said was an anonymous tip that a "murder" was being committed on the fourth floor of that address, Pearce and two others raided it, arrested two men and confiscated telephones, adding machines, racing forms and numbers slips. One of those arrested was released, and the other is not named in current charges.

The raid is said to have been made at the time that vice squad men were in the neighborhood, watching the defendants named in yesterday's indictment.

Five days later, according to police, the alleged Morgan group was observed to be back in operation, using a different headquarters.

All Released on Bond

All six defendants in the case have been released on $1500 bond. The grand jury ignored charges against another man arrested at that time, Harry Price, 39, of 2024 15th st. nw.

Meanwhile, in other gambling case actions yesterday, five persons, charged with operating a lottery and possession of numbers slips, changed their pleas from "not guilty" to "guilty," before Justice Alexander Holtzoff.

These cases, sent to the probation officer for presentence investigation, involved Theodore A. Dorsey, 29, of 2606 Georgia ave. nw.; Mattie Thomas, 36, of 30 N st. ne.; Burnie O. Love, 37, of 1208 Eastern ave. ne.; Conway Chappette, 41, of 3749 Foote pl. ne., and Edna Harris, 32, of 1032 Lamont st. nw.

Who's the Medal Winner Here . . .?

Navy Chief Wilbur Wright (left) presented the medal to Nancy in behalf of Daddy, who served as an aviation machinist's mate in the Atlantic and Pacific during the war. After driving a bus in Oakland, Calif., for a year, Clark enlisted in the Air Force and serves at Andrews Field

Senate Passes Firemen's Bill For 5-Day Week

To Start 6 Months After Extra Funds For 201 More Men Are Appropriated

A five-day work week for Washington firemen was approved yesterday by unanimous consent of the Senate.

Firemen, however, will remain on their present six-day week until six months after money is appropriated for putting the reduced work week into effect.

The delayed effective date originated in the Senate as a substitute for the proposal approved by the House last year making the five-day week effective July 1, 1948.

Senate approval sent the bill back to the House for its decision on the change in the effective date.

201 More Men Needed.

A Fire Department estimate, which officials said had been submitted to Commissioner John Russell Young, fixed at 201 the number of additional men necessary to shorten the work week.

Estimated first-year cost would be about $623,000. This sum, however, would increase by the sixth year, as a result of automatic pay boosts, to about $725,000 a year.

The new bill does not change the present working hours within any one day. Firemen now work 10 hours on the day shift and 14 hours on the night shift, and this setup would continue under the new plan.

No funds are now budgeted in the District appropriation bill for the year starting July 1 to put the five-day firemen's week into effect.

Other Bills Approved

The Senate yesterday also approved bills to:

1. Let the District lease land it owns or acquires for 50-year periods for construction of off-street parking facilities by private firms. A five-year limit on leases has held up the off-street parking program. The bill was sent to the House.

2. Authorize a Federal survey of the possibilities for developing the route of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal from Great Falls to Cumberland, Md., as a scenic parkway. The bill now goes to the White House.

3. Give Federal and District government hospitals the right that private hospitals have to obtain liens on compensation payments in order to settle hospital bills of accident patients. The bill goes to the House.

Sales Tax in It

Revenue Bill For District Introduced

Senate and House District Committees have scheduled meetings Thursday to act on the proposed District revenue bill introduced yesterday by Representative George J. Bates (R., Mass.).

The bill proposes a 2 per cent general retail sales tax in combination with a high bracket personal income tax law with a basic $8000 exemption for taxpayers.

Bates, chairman of the House subcommittee in charge of District tax legislation, called a preliminary meeting of his group for 10 a. m. today to review the new bill.

The bill was drafted as the result of conferences led by Bates and Senator Harry P. Cain (R., Wash.), who heads the Senate District Subcommittee in charge of local tax legislation.

The calls for the simultaneous House and Senate District Committee meetings foreshadowed a drive to rush the tax measure to the floors of both houses, but some opposition to the sales tax plan is expected.

Two other developments, keyed to the District revenue problem, are expected today.

1. The Senate Appropriations Committee is expected to act on the revised District budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. The revised budget is reported to call for a reduction of some 1.6 million dollars in the House-approved budget figure of 101 million.

2. Representative J. Glenn Beall (R., Md.) called a meeting for today to ask his House District Subcommittee to approve a flat $800 cost-of-living pay increase for District firemen, and for Metropolitan, Park and White House police.

Cancer Drive Exceeds Goal By $16,000

$191,117 Total $74,000 Greater Than '47 Amount

District residents and workers oversubscribed this area's cancer fund quota by more than $16,000 in raising $191,117.16 in the 1948 drive, it was announced last night.

The sum raised, said Robert C. Owers, general campaign chairman, exceeds by $74,000 the total raised during last year's campaign of the District of Columbia Division, American Cancer Society.

Owers said slightly over 50 per cent of the total pledges and contributions were made by Government employes. Another 25 per cent, he said, was raised through business firms and their employes, while the remainder came through public solicitation and other divisions of the fund-raising drive.

Announcing successful completion of the drive, Owers especially thanked divisional chairmen and campaign workers, including: Edward F. Barteit, fiscal assistant secretary of the Treasury and national chairman of the division of Federal employes, and Wallace E. Barker, jr., deputy national chairman and Federal general chairman.

Also: James H. Flanagan, Public Utilities Commission chairman and chairman of the D. C. Government division; Harvey L. Jones, business division chairman; Samuel Spencer, special gifts division chairman; Mrs. Miles E. Colean, chairman of the women's division; Wilbur L. Gray, professional group chairman; Millard F. West, jr., general campaign vice chairman and chairman of organizations and fraternal bodies; Leigh E. Ore, Federal campaign national representative, and Ernest H. Edinger, executive director of the D. C. division, American Cancer Society.

He's Jobless Now

Court Denies Alimony Cut For Gambler

A District Court judge yesterday gave short shrift to a gambler who wants his alimony payments reduced because he says he is now broke.

Philip C. Raynor, 40, of 1628 Fort Dupont st. se., an admitted gambler, sought a reduction in $275-a-month maintenance for his former wife, Rose A. Raynor, and their 9-year-old daughter.

Raynor says he was forced out of business May 18, which happens to be the day the special grand jury probe of gambling began here.

"You mean that his income has been from criminal activities?" asked Justice Alexander Holtzoff, while court spectators giggled.

"That is correct," replied Joseph Sitnick, Raynor's attorney. Raynor sat in glum silence during the proceedings, while his divorced wife, a tall, 29-year-old redhead, looked on intently from her seat next to her attorney, Charles E. Ford.

"Why doesn't he get himself an honest job?" asked Justice Holtzoff.

"That's exactly what he is trying to do," answered Sitnick blandly. "He is trying to get a position as a plumber's assistant—which will pay him only $50 or $75 a week."

Sitnick contended that Raynor is flat broke, and is attempting to borrow money to pay off a $4500 income-tax lien at the rate of $150 a month.

Terming the application for reduction of maintenance "absolutely without merit," Justice Holtzoff denied the motion, stating it can be recognized after Raynor gets a legitimate job.

Transit Employes Accept 10c Raise Costing a Million

Capital Transit employes yesterday voted to accept management's offer of a 10-cent-an-hour, across-the-board increase to all hourly-rate workers and six paid holidays for employes of the 4th st. and M st. shops. Transit officials said the raise would add one million dollars to the payroll.

Union members accepted the offer by "quite a margin," according to William F. Sims, president and business agent of division 689, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Motor Coach Employes of America.

Sims, who termed it a "fair settlement," said Armistice Day and Washington's Birthday would be regular workdays, but that employes would be paid double time for work on the remaining six holidays or single time if they did not.

Transit company workers accepted the offer yesterday at a membership meeting at Pythian Temple, 1012 9th st. nw.

Post Seeking Ideal Father For the Year

Think your father is just about the swellest pop alive?

A good way to let Father know just how you feel is to write The Washington Post a letter explaining why you think he's an "ideal father."

Any father who lives in the Washington area is eligible for The Post's "Ideal Father" contest. The Post doesn't care whether he is young or baldish, rich or not so rich. Only requirement is that he be your idea of the perfect pop.

The winning Dad will receive a special plaque and he and his family will be treated to dinner and a show on Father's Day, June 20, by The Washington Post. The "ideal" pop will be introduced to the public Sunday afternoon from the stage of the Capitol Theater, and interviewed over Station WINX that evening.

Last year's contest winner was John O. Riley, 4327 Harrison st. nw., a Metropolitan Police private and father of three proud and happy kids.

"If this year's winner has as much fun as we did, I know he'll have a good time," Private Riley said yesterday.

Write your letters to The Ideal Father Editor, The Washington Post, Washington 4, D. C. Type, print, or scrawl them in pen or pencil. Neatness won't count but make sure they are legible.

Contest deadline is June 17. Letters should be postmarked by June 16 at midnight. The winner will be announced in The Washington Post on Saturday, June 19.

Streptomycin Success Cited At Freedmen's

Benefits Proved In Lung Collapse For Tuberculosis

Streptomycin has proved itself a "wonder drug" when used in combination with lung collapse treatment for tuberculosis, graduate interns of Freedmen's Hospital were told yesterday.

It's also proved itself of benefit, but not so spectacularly, in other types of treatment for tuberculosis, said Dr. Albert Harden, associate professor of medicine of Howard University Medical School.

Dr. Harden outlined the successes of 48 patients treated with the drug at Freedmen's Hospital since November, 1946. He spoke before more than 150 doctors attending the opening of a three-day annual meeting of the Association of Former Internes of Freedmen's Hospital.

The expensive drug showed its best results, Dr. Harden said, when used in combination with pneumothorax surgery. Of 13 cases so treated, he reported, none died and several have already been discharged from hospital care.

"Six of these patients were considered in critical condition or not expected to live much longer when we began their treatments (of streptomycin injections and lung collapse)," declared Dr. Harden.

Others to benefit, he said, were 17 patients who were given the drug in combination with thoracoplasty (removing or reshaping ribs); 16 in treatments not involving collapsing of the lungs, and two for extra-pulmonary forms of the disease.

The drug, he said, was paid for either by the patients themselves or out of special medical research grants.

Today, an oil painting of Dr. William A. Warfield, who served 35 years to 1936 as chief surgeon at Freedmen's, and photographs of four other teachers and surgeons there, will be unveiled in special ceremonies by trustees of Howard University.

Dr. Wallace M. Yater, director of the Yater Clinic, here, is scheduled to speak on coronary heart disease this morning at technical session of the annual meeting.

Former Laundress Killed in Stabbing; Neighbor Held

Mrs. Hazel Waugh, about 45, died of stab wounds last night in her apartment at 413 Wilkes st., Alexandria, Va.

Mrs. Waugh, former laundry worker at Alexandria Hospital, was still alive when police reached her apartment at about 6:30 p. m., but died before the arrival of an ambulance.

A short time later, police arrested William Bertram Brown, 57, also of 413 Wilkes st., Alexandria, and charged him with murder.

Police Lieut. Russell A. Hawes said Brown told police Mrs. Waugh had drawn a knife on him during an argument in her apartment, where they both had been drinking, and that in a scuffle he had turned the knife against her.

Brown was arrested, Hawes said, at Smoot's Wharf on the Potomac River at Queen st.

Marine Band to Play

A selection of Jerome Kern melodies, the Offenbach "Orpheus in Hades" overture, and Liszt's 14th "Hungarian Rhapsody" will be on the program of the United State Marine Band concert tonight at 8 o'clock on the East Front of the Capitol Building.

Thieves' Fire

Restaurant Blaze Foils Burglars

Thieves attempting to crack a 500-pound safe in the Howard Johnson Restaurant on Wisconsin ave. at the District line in the early hours yesterday apparently were routed by a fire of their own making.

Three D. C. engine companies, two truck companies and two Montgomery County units responded to an alarm turned in by a cab driver at about 4:30 a. m., police said.

Firemen found the safe lying on its back, showing signs of amateurish attempts to crack it open.

D. D. Shaw, a supervisor for the chain of restaurants, said the safe contained three days' receipts or about $5000. Fire damage estimated at about $5000 was confined to a basement storeroom, he said. Police were still investigating, but they guessed the thieves threw a cigarette into a trash receptacle, and when the fire started, they fled.

A 24-year-old Arlington veteran, found unconscious early yesterday with a bullet wound in his head, died 15 hours later in Arlington Hospital.

He was Gueron Elward Cowan, 1408 S Kent st., a student under the GI bill at Central High School and a Navy veteran of the invasion of Normandy.

Police, on routine patrol, found Cowan at S. Nash and Arlington Ridge rd., 5 feet from his parked car. In the vehicle were his .22 automatic rifle with one shot recently fired, and a bloodstained note written on ruled paper.

The note, addressed to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Eula Townsend, 1343 S. 28th st., Arlington, said "This is due to my own action, not due to the fault of anyone."

He died at 3:55 p. m. at the hospital. Mrs. Townsend said he had had a bad case of "war nerves" and a heart condition aggravated by rheumatic fever during the war.

Arlington Coroner W. C. Welburn said he would perform an autopsy today and issue a certificate of death later.

Cowan is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eva Pauline Cowan, a daughter, Linda Lee, two brothers and three sisters. He was a native of Mobile, Ala.

Senator Morse to Speak

Senator Wayne Morse (R., Oreg.) will speak today at 12:30 p. m. at a luncheon of the Women's Guild at Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, 1410 Columbia rd. nw.

Both Garners Insane, Says Psychiatrist

Another Doctor Finds Slain Man Haunting George

George Garner, 25, feels he is haunted by the man the Government charges he murdered in cold blood, a psychiatrist testified in District Court yesterday.

George and his brother, Lawrence, 23, are on trial for their lives for robbing and shooting Cab Driver Howard Jones, 32, on February 27. A similar charge is pending against them in the murder of another cabman.

Dr. Oscar LeGault testified that George is suffering from dementia praecox, paranoid type. He said the defendant told him that he is afraid to go to sleep because if he does, the deceased Jones will awaken him and demand a wrist watch which the Government says the Garner brothers ripped from Jones' wrist when they killed him.

Dr. LeGault has not been asked about Lawrence, but Dr. Oscar S. MacVaugh testified that in his opinion both defendants are insane. He said personality and social tests showed the men were representative of the lowest one per cent of the population.

They have no mental ability on which to build to become responsible members of the community, Dr. MacVaugh stated. He declared both defendants have below-average mentality, according to intelligence tests.

Co-Ed's Cries Frighten Off Intruder

A frightened University of Maryland coed scared off an intruder in her bedroom yesterday morning.

"I tried to scream," said Miss Nancy Swain, 19, of 608 Whittier st. nw., "but only a small sound came out."

It was enough to send the intruder scurrying down the stairs and out the back door.

Miss Swain said she was alone in the house, sleeping late because she had no exams yesterday. About 10:30 she awoke to see a stocky man tiptoeing toward her bed, his shoes in hand. The man fled at her "scream."

A police lookout was broadcast for a dark-skinned Negro, 5 feet, 6 inches, and wearing dark trousers and a waist-length jacket.

Thieves broke into the home of Sam E. Colie, 620 Oneida pl. nw., while the Colies were in Wilmington, Del., over the weekend. They got 12 $100 bills, a .32 caliber automatic pistol, and Colie's Masonic ring. Colie is owner of the Colie Motor Trailer Co., Silver Spring, Md.

Judge Needn't Tell Jury to Find Accused Not Guilty, Court Says

A judge need not instruct the jury that they may find the defendant not guilty in some criminal cases, the United States Court of Appeals ruled yesterday.

The court split on the issue, with Justices Bennett C. Clark and E. Barrett Prettyman concurring against Chief Justice Harold W. Stephens.

The case was brought to the Appeals Court by Arthur J. Felton, 23, convicted of armed robbery of a taxicab driver and sentenced to serve from 5 to 15 years in prison. He claimed insanity at the trial.

The trial judge told the jury they could decide the defendant in the case was guilty or else not guilty by reason of insanity. Thus, he eliminated a verdict of simply not guilty without consideration of insanity.

In his dissent, Justice Stephens said the weight of authority was to the contrary. He said that the jury might find that the defendant did not commit the crime at all, rather than he committed it while insane.

Group Agrees on Site For Senate Office Unit

Senator Chapman Revercomb (R., W. Va.) said yesterday a Senate Committee has agreed that the proposed new Senate Office Building should be located in the square directly east of the present Senate Office Building.

The site faces 1st st. ne. and is bounded by B and C sts. ne. It was selected in line with a decision of Congress last year appropriating funds for developing plans for such a building.

Senator Revercomb said the next move would be to introduce legislation to authorize the structure. He said no estimate had yet been fixed on the cost.

Man Indicted In Fradulent Auto Sales

A 33-year-old salesman was indicted yesterday in a money-making scheme by which it was charged he purchased three automobiles with rubber checks and accepted down payments on them from six different persons.

Police said the man, Percy H. Arnette, 33, of 17 Quincy st. ne., netted $1500 on his deals.

This was one of 44 indictments returned by the regular grand jury in District Court. Presentation of the cases was made by Assistant United States Attorney Sylvan Schwartz.

Clarence W. Simms, 63, a barber of 3605 13th st. nw., was charged with performing the operation on a 22-year-old woman. A similar charge against his wife, Helen G. Simms, 42, was ignored by the grand jury.

Mrs. Ethel Newton, 50, of 610 8th st. sw., was charged with performing an abortion on a 17-year-old girl.

James Connor Clark of Dallas, Tex., was charged with making a false and fraudulent statement to the Department of Agriculture in trying to get GI preference to stocks of edible molasses. According to the indictment, he said he planned to use the molasses in a business of his own, but instead agreed to sell 50,000 gallons of it to a sugar concern.

Conciliator Notes 'Progress' in D. C. Dairy Dispute

Federal Conciliator Thomas Martin announced yesterday he was making "progress" in efforts to settle a contract dispute between Washington dairy officials and unionized employes.

He conferred for more than four hours with representatives of nine dairies in the Greater Washington area and the Milk Drivers and Dairy Employes Local 246 (AFL). Talks will be resumed at 10 a. m. today at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Some 1500 union members have voted to strike Sunday if a satisfactory agreement is not reached by that time. The present contract expires then.

No 'Ringers' in Tests For Firemen, Says CSC

A Congressman's charge that "smart" Negroes have been "standing in" for other Negro applicants in firemen's examinations was denied yesterday by a Civil Service Commission official.

W. A. McCoy, chief of CSC's Examining and Personnel Division, said he found no basis for the charge recently made by Representative John E. Rankin (D., Miss.)

CSC inspectors checked every police and fireman appointment for the past year without uncovering any "irregularity," he said. This investigation included checks of handwriting on exam papers, personal descriptions, and physicial examinations, he revealed.

Rankin, meanwhile, refused a CSC request to divulge the names of persons he said "complained" about "ringers" at the examinations. He said he was going to insist that CSC restore the use of fingerprints and photographs in police and firemen's examinations so "imposters" would be excluded.

McCoy said he believed the "complaints" may have arisen because a person with a name similar to that of one applicant received the applicant's notice of rating on the police exam.

Discussion of this error may have given some persons the idea the examinations were "rigged," he said. He described the matter as a "tempest in a teapot" and declared he is confident the examinations are "on the level."

Fire Chief Clement Murphy said all appointees are fingerprinted when they join the force and an investigation of their record is made as soon as possible by the Police Department, he added.

Robbery Victim Held in Cooler As Thief Escapes With Cash

The victim and not the thief got put in the "cooler" as the result of a robbery of a frozen custard shop at 13 15th st. se.

Shortly before midnight Monday, Guy R. Sponseller, 35, of 135 North Carolina ave. se., manager of the shop, was removing empty 10-gallon milk containers from a freezer.

It was a big freezer—six feet tall, six feet wide and eight feet deep. Sponseller was inside when the freezer door slammed shut. He heard someone snap the latch so the door could not be opened from the inside.

"What are you doing in there?" someone shouted through the door.

Sponseller disdained to answer. Then he heard the ring of the cash register. That did it. Sponseller picked up a handy 18-inch iron pipe (used to tap the tops of the milk containers) and began battering at the freezer door.

It was cold in the freezer—between 36 and 38 degrees—and still the freezer door did not yield.

Sol Greenbaum and his wife, Rosa, who operate a tailor shop next door, at 15 15th st. se., were in the kitchen of their living quarters having a late snack. They heard the pounding.

Greenbaum went into the frozen custard shop and freed Sponseller, who after 15 minutes in the freezer was turning a delicate shade of blue.

Sponseller said between $50 and $60 in bills was missing from the register. A neighbor told police he had seen a man running from the shop at about midnight.

Area News in Brief

Woman Accused Of $155 Sorcery

A 47-year-old woman was charged in Municipal Court yesterday with mulcting a housewife out of $155 by promising to cure her hypertension by driving "the devils out of her soul."

Charged with grand larceny by trick and held under $2000 bond was Mrs. Cora Brooks of 129 E st. se. The case was continued until June 9 for a hearing.

The complainant in the alleged fake "faith healing" case was Mrs. Emma Reese, 48, of 1913 Gales st. ne.

According to Detective Sergt. Reuben R. Nichols, Mrs. Reese was told she could be cured of hypertension only by rare drugs from India and was given a brown powder to burn at 6 a. m. and 6 p. m. daily to "drive the devils out of her soul and out of her house."

Nichols said six additional complaints of a similar nature have been reported here during the past nine months, involving between $1300 and $1500.

The victims, all women, were mostly Federal Government workers, Nichols said.

Action on Hood Set

The Senate District Committee is slated to act Thursday on the nomination of Andrew M. Hood to continue in office as associate judge of the Municipal Court of Appeals here. Senate District Committee Counsel James R. Kirkland said there had been no reported opposition to Hood's reappointment. Judge Hood has served since the Municipal Appeals Court was set up in 1942. His first term was for six years, his new one is for the regular 10 year term fixed for the appeals judges in the law setting up the court.

Watching from the deserted throne are the girls' mothers, Mrs. Cleo Stewart and Mrs. Jean Sweeney, holding daughters' dresses

Slayer Loses Clemency Plea To Truman

President Truman refused yesterday to grant executive clemency to Baxter Griffin, 42, convicted of murder and doomed to die in the District Jail electric chair on June 11.

Griffin, a laborer, shot and killed Lee Hunter, 23, at the latter's home, 1719 9th st. nw., in February, 1947, during a card game. The Supreme Court refused to review the case after a District Court conviction and affirmance by the United States Court of Appeals here.

Griffin, according to the evidence, persisted in petting an infant at Hunter's residence, and Hunter ordered him from the game, it was said. Griffin went home to return with a revolver. He fired several shots through the closed door of Hunter's room, and then entered to empty his gun at his victim. Griffin claimed self defense.

As usual in such cases, President Truman issued no comment in denying mercy to Griffin.

Postlude

Composition Discussed by Ray Green

By Paul Hume

It's a good thing composers rarely discuss their music in public.

Ray Green talked about a new piece of his last night, and Margaret Tolson played it twice for the Southeastern Chapter of the American Musicological Society. Not only did she play it with virtuosity in the face of its difficulties, but Miss Tolson assisted the composer in dissecting it for the edificatoin of the musicologists (and us laymen).

The work is titled "Festival Fugues" and consists of two preludes and three fugues. A sub-title, intended to assist the unlettered public, goes with each of the five sections. Green also read a suitably foot-noted paper entitled "An American Style," admitting freely that there is as yet, no such thing.

His own music proved this point clearly. He reminds us strongly of Schonberg, Copland (though the idea will revolt him), and last night, good old Gershwin. The third fugue, with its companion prelude could not exist without Porgy and Bess to run interference.

Mrs. Milhollen Dies; Employe At Airport

Funeral services will be held today for Mrs. Margaret Crockett Milhollen of Oakton, Va., a Weather Bureau employe for the past six years, who died Monday night at Doctors Hospital.

Mrs. Milhollen

Mrs. Milhollen, who was 36, had become ill Friday and apparently died from complications due to adhesions.

Last rites will be held today at 2 p. m. in the Catholic Church at Purcellville, Va. Burial will follow in the Berryville, Va., cemetery.

A native of Upperville, Va., Mrs. Milhollen later moved to Berryville, where she attended a Catholic school. Later she attended Mount DeSales in Catonsville, Md., and Temple and Washington Schools for Secretaries here.

She was employed as a secretary and stenographer at the National Airport Weather Bureau office from May 4, 1942, until her death.

Surviving are her husband, W. K. Milhollen, and an adopted son, Thomas Smith, of Oakton; her mother, Mrs. T. C. Crockett of Berryville; three sisters, Mrs. Jack Thomas of Round Hill, Miss Nannie Crockett of Berryville and Mrs. John Frye Cole of Selma, Ala., and two brothers, Thomas and Ned Crockett of Ohio.

Saboia, Once Brazilian Aide Here, Is Dead

Fernando Saboia de Medeiros, 41, former First Secretary of the Brazilian Embassy here, was killed in an automobile accident on May 20, near Madrid, Spain, according to information received yesterday at the embassy. He was en route to Paris, where he was assigned as First Secretary of the Brazilian Embassy.

Mr. Saboia

Mr. Saboia served as Second Secretary of the embassy here for about eight years before he was promoted in 1946, following almost a year's absence in Brazil. He left Washington on April 26, and from New York City he flew to Lisbon, Portugal, about May 1.

A native of Petropolis, Rio de Janeiro's historic summer resort, Mr. Saboia was the son of a prominent Brazilian lawyer. He attended a Jesuit school in Rio, and after three years of study determined to join the Jesuits. When 14 years old, he entered the Jesuit Preparatory School in Sao Paulo, Brazil, and spent two years as a novitiate. At 24, he left the Jesuit Order to travel in Europe for three years. He continued his education at the School of Political Science in Paris.

Mr. Saboia later returned to Brazil, where he passed the Foreign Office's examinations.

Mr. Saboia received a master's degree from George Washington University in 1944 and was later graduated from the University's Law School.

He is survived by a brother, a member of the Society of Jesuit in New York City, and the sister whom he was visiting in Lisbon. She is the wife of a former Portuguese Minister to Japan.

28 Navy Men Die On Norfolk Launch

Norfolk, Va., June 1 (AP).—Stunned by swift-striking tragedy that drowned 28 of its men, a 12-ship naval task force sailed late today for the Mediterranean.

Eighteen Navy men and 10 Marines, all enlisted personnel, perished last night when choppy seas swamped a launch returning a liberty party of about 90 men to the task force flagship, the carrier Kearsarge.

The 50-foot open launch was swamped several hundred yards from the flattop, which was anchored in Hampton Roads, 2 miles off the Norfolk Naval Station.

(Names of 28 men unaccounted for and believed missing were released by the Navy Department in Washington. Only victim from this vicinity was Seaman H. J. Jones, RFD 5, Danville, Va.)

The disaster delayed sailing of the task force from 5 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. (EST). The force is going to the Mediterranean to relieve a similar squadron which has been on duty since last winter.

Other launches and picket boats sped to the scene of the accident, which was seen from the carrier, and rescued 65 men. Three others swam 2 miles to shore, making a total of 68 accounted for.

No bodies had been recovered this afternoon. Newsmen who boarded the Kearsarge were told by her skipper, Capt. C. S. Smiley, that "we are completely puzzled as to the cause of the swamping." Another launch made the run safely at the same time. The wind was 15 knots, but got up to 21 knots later.

None of the survivors was injured, Smiley said. He added that most of them suffered from shock and exposure. Eighteen were still confined to the carrier's sick bay this afternoon.

Smiley said the swamped launch was seaworthy, and was not overloaded. It has a rated capacity of 120 persons, including a five-man crew, he said.

Some of the Marines who drowned were members of the Second Marine Division, which, approximately 1000 strong, boarded the Kearsarge Saturday to relieve an equal number of men serving in the Mediterranean. Others were of the Marine detachment assigned permanently to the carrier.

James T. Walton, 23, seaman first class, USN, of Springfield, Mo., was coxswain of the swamped launch. He told reporters the vessel's bow "went under the water suddenly, due to the big swells." He said there were no officers in the launch. The launch did not sink.

Survivor's Story

Thomas H. Rowe, 22, boatswain's mate third class, swam from the swamped launch to Pier 5 at the Norfolk Naval Station, approximately 2 miles.

Rowe said he entered the Kearsage launch by mistake at the Naval Station landing. He is attached to the transport Randolph.

"I got into the launch and went to sleep before it left the landing," he said. "When I woke up I was swimming in the cold water. I kicked my shoes off. Men were all around me in the water. Everybody was trying to hold onto somebody else. There were life jackets on the launch, but they were not used. I never saw the launch again.

"The water was rough. It was dark and foggy. It was raining. I saw a dozen or so men go under the water and come up again. I saw a light on a ship at a pier and started swimming toward it. I suppose I was in the water two or three hours."

Chart shows daily high and low temperatures in May

May With 8.59 Inches of Rain Set Month's 3d Highest Total

If April showers bring May flowers, Jack the Giant Killer should be able to climb them beanstalkwise in June.

It was the wettest May of this century. On 19 days last month rain slanted down on Greater Washington, soaking into the earth (and numerous basements) to a total of 8.59 inches. Average May rainfall is 3.70 inches.

In the 77-year records of the Weather Bureau, only May of 1886, with 10.60 inches, and May of 1889, with 10.69 inches, were wetter.

The weatherman, perusing his records yesterday with one eye on his umbrella, revealed that 23.38 inches have fallen here so far this year, an amount that usually takes until July 12 to arrive. Normally, 17.54 inches would be the total to date.

"A wet year," commented the weatherman, soggily.

Heavy rain, however, brought no dip in the average temperature, which was 64.4 degrees—exactly the same as in May, 1947. Average daily maximum temperature last month was 75.1; average minimum was 55.7.

Hottest day was May 11, with 90; coolest was the sixth, with 45.

Nor did the rain, surprisingly enough, prevent the sun from coming out every day last month except the 26th. It shone 51 per cent of the time—227 hours and 44 minutes of a possible 443 hours and 33 minutes.

350 Coming Here For 4-H Meeting

An estimated 350 rural youngsters from all States and the Territories will gather here June 16 for the eighteenth National 4-H Club Camp.

The eight-day convention is under joint supervision of the State agriculture extension services and the Agriculture Department.

With emphasis on "creating better homes today for a more responsible citizenship tomorrow," daily assemblies will be held in the departmental auditorium.

Middy Staff Ribbing Dropped

June Week hi-jinks at the Naval Academy were considerably watered-down yesterday with the announcement that "No More Rivers," ceremony in which officers and instructors are ribbed by the graduating class, has been canceled.

Scheduled for last night, the ceremony was called off, the academy said, because the senior class asked the action "inasmuch as the ceremony is traditionally held immediately after completion of the last first class (senior) examinations."

But the word floating around the "yard" and in town was that a gag on gags had been invoked.

Those close to academy affairs say that the first class was told the program would have to be submitted for censorship.

Rather than submit to a review, it was said, the class voted for cancellation.

"No More Rivers," meaning no more examinations, lampoons academy individuals and customs somewhat on the order of the Gridiron Club's annual good-humored ribbing of political "greats."

Observers pointed out that last year the middies' show was held on Tuesday of June Week—identical with this year's scheduling.

The cancellation recalled to mind the banning of the annual academy play, a production of "Boy Meets Girl" after one performance last month.

At that time it was announced that Rear Admiral James L. Holloway, jr., objected that "the manner in which the play was presented did not seem suitable for the Naval Academy."

Charles S. Lawrenson Heads Civil Service in Montgomery

Appointment of Charles S. Lawrenson, 51, of 9904 Merwood la., Silver Spring, Md., as Montgomery County civil service commissioner at a salary of $3000 was announced yesterday by the Montgomery County Commissioners.

A Republican and former Army major, Lawrenson succeeds Jo V. Morgan, whose resignation became effective yesterday.

During the war, Lawrenson worked under the chief of civilian personnel, Army Transportation Corps, in charge of personnel records, job classification and employe relationship. Prior to that, he was assistant chief of the statistical division of the Civil Service Commission. He is married and has two children.

At their meeting yesterday, the commissioners heard an engineering report estimating cost of adequate sewage facilities to the Rockville, Md., area at $496,000.

The report by Whitman, Requardt & Associates said proportionate share of financing the project would be $181,500 for Rockville and $314,500 for the county government.

Barnes—Young

Miss Catherine Lorraine Young and Ernest Gray Barnes were married yesterday in a ceremony which took place at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Young. Mrs. Barnes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Young of Silver Spring, and her husband is the son of John R. Barnes and the late Mrs. Barnes of Kenly, N. C.

The Rev. E. Carl Lyon officiated at the ceremony, and a reception followed immediately afterward.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace with net yoke and ruffled bouffant skirt ending in a short train. Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried an old-fashioned nosegay of roses and stephanotis.

Miss Shirley Young attended her sister as maid of honor. She was costumed in pale peach marquisette and taffeta and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of spring flowers. Miss Wilma Young, also a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, gowned in aqua marquisette and carrying a nosegay of spring flowers.

Kenneth Barnes, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and the ushers were James Skinner and Robert Redick.

Mrs. Barnes attended George Washington University, and Mr. Barnes attended Iowa State College and is now at National University School of Law in this city. He is a member of Sigma Delta Kappa fraternity. During the war he served in the Army.

After a honeymoon at the Homestead in Hot Springs, Va., the couple will make their home at Silver Spring.

Bischoff—Sisemore

Miss Odetta Eileen Sisemore and August Bischoff were married May 22 in the Shrine of the Sacred Heart Church, with the Rev. Lawrence Nempe officiating. The bride is daughter of James Robert Sisemore of De Witt, Ark., and Mr. Bischoff is son of Mrs. Frank Bischoff and the late Mr. Bischoff of Freeport, Minn.

Louis Sisemore gave his sister in marriage. She wore white satin, trimmed with wide bands of lace and a veil held with a coronet of lace and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses. Miss Betty Marie Fleck was maid of honor and Charles Lohr the best man. Ushers were Paul Hermsmeier and Randall Huddle.

Tederick—Loven

Miss Betty Hope Fairfax Loven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Loven of this city, became the bride of Roy Edward Tederick, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Tederick of Martinsburg, W. Va., at 8 o'clock last evening at St. James Episcopal Church. The Rev. Alfred Plank officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her grandmother's wedding dress of ivory satin. She wore a veil of illusion held by a tiara trimmed in pearls and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white flowers with a center of orchids.

Miss Joan Peel was maid of honor, wearing blue taffeta and carrying yellow roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Frances Shearman, in pink; Miss Elizabeth Butts, in blue; Miss Valle Mae Tipton, in orchid, and Miss Eunice Mae Robertson, in yellow.

Ezra Roberts was best man, and the ushers were James and Raymond Cogswell, Claude and Jack Turlong.

A reception was held in the parish house, after which the couple left for New York and Canada. They will reside in Washington.

Solomon—Oisboid

Miss Doris Beverly Oisbold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alec Oisboid, became the bride of Stanley Lawrence Solomon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Solomon, on May 27 in Adas Israel Congregation, the Rabbi Solomon Metz officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. Jack Rosenberg was matron of honor and Miss Louise Oisboid was maid of honor. Miss Suzanne Bregman and Miss Mardelle Bregman were junior bridesmaids.

Robert Bregman was best man and Stanley Bregman, Morton Bregman, Jack Bobb, Sheldon Miller, Edward Oisboid, Gerald Miller and Leroy Peake were ushers. Arnold Pincus and Sylvan Solomon were junior ushers.

The bride attended Maryland University and is a member of the Phi Delta Sorority.

YWCA Will Continue Service Centers

The 10 Service Centers of the YWCA in Washington are proving to be popular with members of the armed forces, according to Miss Helene Johnson, director of the YWCA Service Center at 17th and K sts.

She reported that the Penthouse at the YWCA was visited by 52,429 young men and women in the first four months of 1948. They have gone there for dances, picnic suppers, variety programs, basketball, badminton and discussion groups.

At the request of the National Department of Defense, the U.S.O. board of directors decided to continue funds for this service in 1949, in locations where service to military personnel is indicated.

Iranian Military Men Feted; Clarks Entertain

THREE MILITARY men from Iran were honored yesterday at a cocktail party at the Iranian Embassy. The host and hostess were the Minister and Mme. Noury-Esfandiary. The honored guests were Col. Mahmoud Afsharpour, Col. Mehdi Hashtroudy and Col. Mohamed Taghi Madjidi.

The three colonels have made a three-week tour of United States military schools and establishments, and they are sailing for Iran on Friday.

At yesterday's fete to bid them farewell were chiefs of missions, members of the Iranian Military Mission, military attaches from various embassies and top officials of the State Department.

These included the Ambassador of Turkey, Huseyin Ragip Baydur; the Charge d'Affaires of Egypt, Anis Azer; the Charge d'Affaires of Iraq, Ahmed Izzet Mohammed; the Charge d'Affaires of Afghanistan, Abdul Kayoum; the Charge d'Affaires of Pakistan, M. O. A. Baig; the Charge d'Affaires of Saudi-Arabia, Sheik Ahmed Abdul Jabbar, and the Minister of Syria and Mme. El-Khouri.

Among other guests were several former United States Ministers to Iran—Louis G. Dreyfus, Leland Morris, and George Allen. And from the State Department came Mr. and Mrs. Loy Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Charbrand, John D. Jernegan, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Muir.

Mangors Entertain At Cocktail Party

A SMALL cocktail party was given yesterday by the Second Secretary of the Norwegian Embassy and Mrs. Elovius Mangor at their home on Massachusetts ave. The party gave Mrs. Mangor a chance to say goodby to some of her friends in the diplomatic group before she leaves for Newport on June 15. She will be accompanied by her son, Stephen Leonard, jr., who is a student at St. Paul's.

Among the guests at the party yesterday were the Norwegian Ambassador, Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne, the Ambassador of Turkey, Huseyin Ragip Baydur, the Ambassador of Sweden and Mme. Eriksson, the Minister of the Netherlands and Mme. Reuchlin, Mr. and Mrs. George Abell, Mr. and Mrs. James Cromwell, Mrs. Randall H. Hagner, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. John Caswell and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Graves.

Justice, Mrs. Clark Are Party Hosts

JUSTICE AND MRS. BENNETT CHAMP CLARK asked friends in for cocktails yesterday between the hours of 5:30 and 7:30. Over 75 attended.

Among those invited were the Chief Justice and Mrs. Fred Vinson, the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. John W. Snyder, the Secretary of the Army and Mrs. Kenneth C. Royall, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. John L. Sullivan, and Senator and Mrs. Harry Flood Byrd.

Also, Gen. and Mrs. Omar N. Bradley, Gen. and Mrs. Wade Hampton Haislip, Dr. and Mrs. William A. Morgan, Col. and Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, Mrs. Ollie James, former Ambassador and Mrs. Joseph Davies, Mrs. Henry D. Flood, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Graves and Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson of Berryville, Va.

Luncheon Parties Are Given at Shoreham

SENORA de MUNILLA, wife of the former Military Attache at the Cuban Embassy, was hostess at a luncheon Monday, at the Shoreham Hotel in honor of Mrs. Eugene Cox. Covers were laid for 35 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. O'Donnell of Syracuse, N. Y., gave a dinner there Monday in honor of their daughter, Miss Jeanne O'Donnell, a member of the graduating class at Trinity College. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Clark and Edward M. O'Donnell, jr.

Couple Entertains At Picnic Party

MR. AND MRS. Olaf Saugstad entertained at a picnic Monday afternoon at their home at Arcturus on the Potomac. Guests were local alumni of Augsburg College, Minneapolis, Minn., where Mr. Saugstad was a student in 1883.

Following supper on the lawn Norwegian coffee was served around the samovar. The president of the group, Anker B. Harbo, presided at a brief business meeting following the picnic. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Norberg, Mrs. Harbo, Miss Karen Norberg, Mrs. Alexander P. Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Evjen, Miss Celia Saugen, Mr. and Mrs. Rolf T. Harbo, Erling W. Dance Is Given At Pignatelli Residence

ABOUT 200 guests attended the dance given last evening at the residence of Prince and Princess Pignatelli on Massachusetts Avenue. Although no definite plans have been made, it is hoped another such fete will be given during the summer.

The Prince and Princess are out of town, and the dance was sponsored by a secret committee. At the invitation of the Princess, committee members were told to ask friends in for a dance, which they did. Floors were waxed, flowers were placed around the room, and Meyer Davis' orchestra played till the small hours.

Those who entertained at dinners before the dance included John Logan, Mrs. Thomas Blake, and Mrs. William Mann.

Auto Driving Classes Are Favored

By Genevieve Reynolds

Extension of automobile driver training in the District high schools was indorsed yesterday by the Metropolitan Police Department, the National Education Association, Department of Vehicles, plus the National Safety Department of the American Automobile Association.

Approval of the project came at a luncheon meeting of the Women's Safety Committee of the D. C. Division, American Automobile Association, held in the Mayflower Hotel.

Speaking in favor of the safety project, Dr. James A. Gannon, chairman of the District Board of Education's committee, declared that about $50,000 would be needed to put the course in the 18 local high schools. He pointed out that only one white and one Negro vocational school now have the safety driving classes in operation. However, he explained that congressional appropriations now provide for courses in four schools.

Suggests Voluntary Classes

Dr. Gannon suggested that the driver training courses be voluntary and that they be conducted after 3 p. m. or on Saturdays.

Inspector Arthur E. Miller, member of the Metropolitan Police Department in Charge of Traffic, expressed a hope that driver training be a "must" in every high school curriculum throughout the Nation as well as in the District of Columbia. "I think driver training in high school is excellent for teaching voluntary traffic regulations," he explained. "It comes at an opportune time when the students are eager to learn and most receptive to instruction. Also, it will prevent them from forming bad driving habits."

Mrs. Harold Burton, wife of the Supreme Court Justice, told how her home town of Cleveland, Ohio, had reduced traffic accidents 50 per cent since instituting driver training courses in the high schools there.

Indorsing the D. C. plan, George Keneipp, director of the D. C. Department of Vehicles and Traffic, said: "Teaching driving is a job for a professional—not just mom or dad."

Dr. Robert Eaves, secretary of the committee on safety education, National Education Association, said that last year nearly 5000 high schools in the country gave classroom instruction on driver training, and of that number more than 2000 had practical driving lessons.

"Number one problem is trained teaching personnel in the District," he said. "To include the courses the nine months school terms may have to be expanded to ten or eleven months," he continued.

Cars to Be Provided

Washington I. Cleveland, general manager of the D. C. Division, American Automobile Association, said that the AAA in cooperation with a local dealer would provide 16 new automobiles with dual controls needed to put the driver training courses in the local high schools.

"I can guarantee sufficient trained personnel to teach the courses," he promised. "Now all is needed is to get the Senate Subcommittee on D. C. Appropriations to add $42,080 to the Senate Appropriations Bill."

Mrs. George Thorpe, chairman of the Women's Safety Committee, presided at the luncheon, and announced four new members to the committee. They include Mrs. Walt Horan, wife of the Representative from Washington; Mrs. John R. Steelman, wife of the assistant to President Truman; Mrs. Hobart M. Corning, wife of the superintendent of the D. C. schools, and Mrs. Walter J. Casey, wife of the D. C. Municipal Court judge.

District WCTU to Convene For 74th Annual Meeting

Miss Helen Margaret Muti of Arlington Farms, Va., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmine F. Muti of Butler, Pa., and Roy Frank Lomicka of Jeannette, Pa., were married yesterday at Fort Myer Chapel, at 6 p. m., the Rev. William Fitzpatrick officiating. Mr. Lomicka is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lomicka of Jeannette.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin, with high neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a headpiece of rosepoint lace and orange blossoms, and she carried white roses and stephanotis with streamers over a white satin prayerbook.

Miss Matilda Muti, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of rose-orchid satin and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations with streamers. The other attendants, Miss Rose Muti, also sister of the bride, and Miss Marjorie Lomicka, sister of the bridegroom, wore gowns of pale blue satin and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations with streamers.

Miss Nancy Lomicka, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl, costumed in white satin and carrying a basket of rose petals. Charles Lomicka, brother of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer.

Francis E. Ringer of Lancaster, Pa., was best man. Angelo R. Muto of New York City, cousin of the bride, and Richard Carfang of Delmont, Pa., were ushers.

A reception was held at Arlington Farms, Va.

After a wedding trip to New York City and Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Lomicka will reside in Jeannette, Pa.

Sister to Be Hostess

Brazil's Bachelor Envoy Comes From Famous Family Of Authors, Statesmen

By Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer

MAURICIO NABUCO, the new Brazilian Ambassador, is handily equipped to cope with household problems. Last en poste at the Vatican, he uprooted his domestic staff, brought along seven Italian servants.

Washington is an old story to Senhor Nabuco. His father, Joaquin, whose efforts to abolish slavery in Brazil finally met success in 1888, a year before his country became a republic, was first Ambassador to our country. Stationed here from 1905 until his death in 1910, his body was taken back to Rio de Janeiro on the USS North Carolina with Brazil's then brand new battleship Minas Gerais as escort.

The present Ambassador's grandfather was also a statesman by trade. Known as Nabuco de Araujo, he served as Premier under Brazil's last Emperor, Dom Pedro II.

The Ambassador, who was on view Sunday at a party given by the Sumner Welles', is a bachelor and, though not a snappy dresser, exerts considerable fascination for the opposite sex. His sister, Carolina, whose arrival is as yet undetermined, will act as his hostess. Celibacy and belles lettres seem to go hand in hand in the Nabuco family, for Carolina, a well known authoress, is unmarried and a brother is a bishop.

Carolina, incidentally, is the lady who wrote a book similar in plot to Daphne du Maurier's "Rebecca" and instituted a lawsuit against the British novelist. The Nabuco effort, titled "A Sucessora" (The Successor) was sent to London for translation and the damage was done supposedly during this period.

To get material, however, the Nabuco family doesn't have to disinter elegant ghosts. There's plenty of copy right at home. The Ambassador's father wrote a book about his father and the Senhorita has penned one about hers.

Bonaparte in Washington

DROPPING into the Bonaparte Museum in Baltimore reminded this department that there is a descendant of Napoleon right here in Washington. He is a secretary in the Danish Embassy, Count Adam Moltke-Huitfeldt, whose Swedish wife is so very pretty. His mother was Louise Bonaparte, a great neice of the Emperor. Her great-grandfather was Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, Napoleon's younger brother, who dropped into Baltimore on a French naval mission, fell in love with and married Betsy Patterson.

Betsy's son and grandson both married Americans. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte (jr. one supposes) married Susan Mary Williams. The elder of their two sons, named after his father and grandfather, made Caroline Newbold his bride. They in turn had a son, the fourth Jerome, who was so well known in New York until his death a few years ago. The third Jerome served as a colonel in the French army under Napoleon III and, of course, his wife, the Empress Eugenie.

Though his son, the last Jerome, chose to live in this country, his sister, Count Moltke's mother, married the son of the Danish Minister in Paris and remained in Europe. Since the fourth Jerome had no children, Count Moltke, his three brothers and sister, are the only living descendants of Betsy Patterson and Napoleon's romantic brother.

One of the most interesting American Bonapartes, by the way, was Charles Joseph, a brother of the third Jerome, and Betsy's grandson, who became both Secretary of the Navy and Attorney General, was so uncurious about his family that he never set foot in France. He, too, died childless. Young Countess Moltke possesses a number of Bonaparte jewels and bibelots—among them an imposing diamond bee, given to her mother-in-law by Empress Eugenie.

Popular Graphologist

THE Women's Action Committee is giving its annual benefit garden party today at Evermay, 1623 28th st. nw. Featured are door prizes, among them five "sittings" with Miss Evangeline Balfour.

Miss Balfour is a graphologist and the latest craze around town. She reads handwriting at the Watergate Inn and has been so successful with telling all to wives of Cabinet members and high officials that her fame eventually attracted our First Lady. So not long ago Mrs. Truman lunched at the Watergate, had Miss B. read her character. Naturally, the graph keeps her professional counsel—but Mrs. Truman is said to have been impressed.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Indifferently Treated by Mother and Stepfather Who Preferred Her to Stay in Boarding School, Girl's Lonely Quest for Love Leads to Trouble

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a girl 18, living away from my mother and stepfather. My father died when I was 13, mother married again seven months later, and when I was 15 she sent me to boarding school, 300 miles away.

I wrote regularly to mother, who replied rather irregularly. When I had been away for more than a year, I asked the school principal if I could go home for a weekend. Permission was granted and when I got home, neither mother nor my stepfather seemed glad to see me.

Mother looked older than I had ever seen her, and I learned that she had lost an expected baby. I asked mother if she would want me to come home to stay. She said no, so I went back to school, and soon received a long letter from her. She said she still loved me and was sorry about the way she and stepdad had acted while I was home.

Expects Child; Feels Ashamed

I ADMIT I had felt rather badly coming back to school, but then I met Bart, a nice fellow, 27, who took me out for several months. I felt safe and secure with him, and at the end of the year I quit school without mother's knowledge and took a job in a small town near the school—the same town where Bart was working.

There I lived in a small hotel. Bart took me out almost every night. He asked me to elope with him and I said I would think it over. A few weeks later he left town; where he went, I don't know. On the heels of this, a friend (the only person who knows where I am) brought a letter from mother, who wants me to come home, as my stepfather is in bad health.

I really love mother and want to go home—I miss home—but I am ashamed, as I find I am expecting a child. Bart and I had an affair during the last few days before he left, and I can never explain this to mother—nor the fact that I truly love him, despite my condition—as we've never had a very close bond between us. In the circumstances, what can I do? Please answer soon. D. S.

Here Is Message For the Parents

DEAR D. S.: In the gospel according to John 8:7, Jesus said to the harsh accusers of a woman comparably ill used, terrified and friendless, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her." Then "they which heard it, being convicted by their own conscience, went out one by one . . ."

Spoken by the greatest exemplar of love and justice in the history of the world, this awesome rebuke to mean minds and uncharitable hearts, who in their ignorance know not what they do, carries a message for your mother and stepfather.

Assuming they have any conscience at all, they must surely feel convicted by it, if and when they hear the story of your betrayal by Bart, to whom you turned in pitiful quest of protective love after they had cast you off (almost literally) a second time.

Almost it might be said that you came to grief through no fault of your own; that the burden of guilt rests with your mother, stepfather and Bart, a man nearly 10 years your senior, who made a leisurely game of captivating your lonely heart and leading you into life's back alleys as a preface to seduction and final rascally abandonment.

Give the Mother One More Chance

NOW, taking into account your plight and the fact that your mother has summoned you home, I think it advisable to go on a trial basis, to discuss your trouble with her privately, letting her decide whether she wishes to share the confidence with your stepdad.

Growth consists in facing facts, and I think you owe it to yourself and her to take this step, in order to establish whether she has mother-love to give in emergency, or whether she is a "rejecting" parent through-and-through, as past performance suggests she may be.

If she is the latter, it is important for you to know it, thus to be rid of illusions about her as you proceed independently to work out the humane solution of your problem. In the event she lets you down, by professing uncomprehending shock and scorn, take your story—and this clipping—to any good clergyman reputed for his wisdom and compassion, and ask him to point the way to skilled agency help for unmarried mothers. M. H.

Equal Rights Bill Passes Committee

The House Judiciary Committee yesterday approved a proposed amendment to the Constitution to establish equal rights for women.

Sponsored by Representative Katharine St. George (R.) of New York, it would provide that "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex."

The National Woman's Party, which has been trying to persuade Congress for 25 years to pass favorably on the equal rights amendment, long has contended that women are entitled to absolute equality before the law. At the same time, party members testify that they have no objection to protective legislation that really helps their sex.

Backing the equal rights amendment are such organizations as the National Association of Women Lawyers, the National Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Miss Frieda S. Miller, chief of the Labor Department's Women's Bureau, spoke against the amendment at the hearings Monday.

"There are fields in which enlightened public opinion today is calling for—and fast achieving—the enactment of laws which treat men and women differently as a matter of principle and where identity of treatment would be detrimental to women," Miss Miller testified.

She said that the problem is deeper than one of "equality."

Mrs. Chesley Heads Association of Farms, Gardens

Mrs. Willoughby Chesley was installed president of the Capital division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association at a recent luncheon in the YWCA.

Other officers elected were the vice presidents, Mrs. W. H. McGlauslin, Capital; Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman, Maryland; Mrs. Frank R. Ball, Virginia, and Mrs. E. H. Hedrick, West Virginia.

On the board of directors are Mrs. Charles Fairfax, Capital; Mrs. Barlett F. Johnston, Maryland; Mrs. Robert D. Maltby, Virginia; Mrs. Roland Ringgold, West Virginia.

Miss Evelyn Cannon is treasurer, and on the international committee are Miss Grace E. Frysinger, Mrs. J. J. Durman, Miss Florence L. Hall, Mrs. Nelson Jonson, Mrs. Charles E. McNary and Mrs. Helen Carlton Smith.

Cooking Cues

Suggestions for the bride, in her first efforts in meal preparation, are given below in tasty recipes. There are also hints on how to use left-overs in ways that will stretch the food budget.

A simple corn pudding is made by combining two beaten eggs with two cups of milk, one cup of soft bread crumbs and No.2 can (2 ½ cups) of cream-style corn plus a dash of salt and pepper. It is then baked in a moderate oven until firm, about 1½ hours. This dish will serve four to six.

Leftover juice from canned fruits is excellent thickened and served over plain cake or cottage pudding

Celery may be cooked and served in different ways: combine it with cubed cooked carrots or cream it and serve it with toasted almond nutmeats; or add it to creamed cooked onions.

About Danger of Lightning

We have recently built a small house, clearing a place in the woods for it. There are many tall trees all around it. This house has an aluminum roof. In an article just recently, extolling the virtues of aluminum roofing, they mention casually the necessity for lightning protection without going into it any further. Inasmuch as I was stunned by a lightning bolt in my girlhood, I have an almost abnormal terror of lightning, so that this most casual reference has given me, in place of my former delight in my new home, a sense of uneasiness and fear. Allowing that there is always a certain amount of lightning risk in a wooded area, will an aluminum roof add to that risk? P. B. D.

I have talked over your problem with Chief J. W. Just, director of fire service extension at the University of Maryland, and he says chances are 999 thousand out of a million that you will never have any difficulty with lightning in your aluminum-roofed house. If lightning strikes in the area, it will undoubtedly hit one of the tall trees. The only possibility would be that it might "bounce" from there to the roof. He suggests that if you feel any anxiety about the matter, you do the following: Have someone drive in the ground next to the house an iron rod which will go down to a depth of 3 or 4 feet or until it strikes damp earth. Have a heavy wire welded to this, then taken up to the metal roof, and welded there. This will protect the house from lightning adequately and inexpensively.

Is is possible to remove sewing machine oil from cotton balloon cloth? C. B. R.

You should be able to take this out easily with carbon tetrachloride or some other cleaning fluid. Hold an absorbent pad under the spot and sponge with a cloth dipped in the fluid, working from the outside of the stain toward the center. If the oil stain is a fresh one, another way to remove it is with an absorbent powder, such as cornstarch or white talcum. Sprinkle the powder over the stain and when it becomes gummy, shake or brush it off. If this lightens the stain, repeat until all traces of oil are taken out. If after several treatments, the stain still shows, place it between clean blotting papers and apply a warm (not hot) iron for several minutes.

For the benefit of your readers who recently asked where to buy printed feed bags, I have purchased these at stand 72 in the Western Market at 21st and K sts. nw. They make very pretty curtains, aprons, and pillow covers. A. T. D.

I would like to know the type of clothes it would be necessary to take to New Mexico. Am going out there in two weeks to work. Also what would be best to wear on the train. C. B.

In the southern part of New Mexico at this time of year, you'll need light summer clothing of the type worn here in Washington in the summer. You may possibly have more need for sports clothes in that part of the world, especially if you are in one of the smaller towns, but will probably have ample opportunity to purchase such things there after you see what is generally worn. In the northern part of the State, the evenings are cool in the summertime. A lightweight topcoat will be a necessity and you can also wear suits comfortably at times. As to the train trip, a dark summer-weight suit would be quite appropriate for traveling, or dark tailored dresses.

Can you give me the recipe for making Metheglin, a wine made with honey? E. M. W.

I'm sorry but we haven't this recipe. Can any of our readers provide it?

Do you know of anything to take out tea stains in cups? My cups look real dirty from tea even though I have scrubbed with cleanser and steel wool. B. T.

Tea stains can often be removed from cups by wetting them with vinegar, then dipping a damp cloth in salt and rubbing the stain. Another method is to leave a strong chlorine bleach solution in the cups overnight. Household cleanser and steel wool are likely to mar the surface of china, roughing it up so that stains are more likely to penetrate in the future.

One of your readers recently inquired about removing lint from a dark suit. An excellent way is by using a rubber sponge such as is sold at shoe departments for suede shoes. Lint from white angora gloves was readily removed from broadcloth by the use of one of these sponges when other means failed. K. A. L.

Is it possible to get the paint off a cotton summer shirt that was put away with the paint still on it? F. E. S.

Sometimes old paint stains can be removed by softening them first by rubbing lard or colorless petroleum jelly into them. Allow the stain to stand with the fat on it, rubbing between the fingers occasionally to break the paint and make it easier for the lard to penetrate. When thoroughly softened, sponge the stain with carbon tetrachloride to remove the fat and the paint. This treatment may need to be repeated several times to remove the paint completely.

What can be done to get the perspiration marks out of a navy blue dress? F. E. S.

Colors which have been changed by perspiration can sometimes be restored by treating with an alkali. Dampen the stained area with water and hold in the fumes of an open ammonia bottle. If this treatment does not restore color, try sponging the area with vinegar. Colors changed by perspiration cannot always be restored.

What is a good book on furniture refinishing? E. M.

"First Aid for the Ailing House" by Roger B. Whitman (pub. by Whittlesey House, McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc.) has an excellent section on materials and methods for furniture refinishing. The University of Maryland Extension Service also issues a booklet entitled "New Touch on Old Furniture (Bulletin No. 49, Revised), one copy of which can be obtained free of charge by sending a request to the University Extension Service at College Park, Md.

Could you tell me the address and phone-list name for the Home for the Blind or whoever it is that conducts the workshop for recaning furniture, etc?

An Appreciator.

The Columbia Polytechnic Institute for the Blind, Inc., at 1808 H st. nw., is one local institution that conducts a chair caning workshop. The Home for the Blind, 3050 R st. nw., and the Home for Incurables, 3720 Upton st. nw., also have shops that do chair caning, as well as other crafts such as rug weaving (at the Home for the Blind) and furniture refinishing (at the Home for the Incurables). These institutions are listed in either the regular telephone directory or in the yellow section of the phone book under "Homes and Institutions." Since they sometimes have all the work they can handle, it might be well to telephone before taking furniture to them.

Please reprint your method of killing roaches and water bugs. R. C. G.

A roach killer that can be brushed on floors and woodwork and contains the new chemical, chlordane, is a very effective one to use in controlling roaches of all sorts. It is an invisible liquid and is in the housewares sections of several local department stores and is sold by a large drug chain here.

Have seen several questions in your column about softening marshallows. My method is just putting them in the bread box. I keep the fresh ones there and even the hardest ones will soften in a few days and will stay soft as long as kept there. K. G.

SPINACH plus half a pound of meat and a few eggs makes a de luxe main dish if you convert it into Spinach Roll. The directions follow:

SPINACH ROLL

4 eggs, separated
1/3 cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup milk
2 teaspoons butter, melted
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon cloves
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 tablespoons finely diced onion
3 cups cooked spinach, finely chopped

Meat filling

Beat egg yolks until light. Soak crumbs in milk and add to egg with butter, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper, spices, cheese, parsley, onion and spinach. Beat egg whites with remaining salt until stiff. Fold into spinach mixture. Pour into 10x14-inch shallow pan which has been oiled and lined with waxed paper. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Invert pan over waxed paper on a board. Peel off oiled paper. Spread with meat filling and roll as for a jelly roll. Serve sliced with egg sauce. Approximate yield: 6 portions.

MEAT FILLING

3 tablespoons drippings
½ pound ground beef
4 large mushrooms, finely diced
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon chopped chives
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Pinch of nutmeg
Salt

Heat drippings in a pan. Add remaining ingredients and cook, stirring occasionally, until meat is browned. Add more salt, if necessary.

LAPIANA AND WEEDA, Attorneys for Carvalee.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the District of Columbia, holding a Probate Court. In re Estate of Fannie A. Burlingame, Decd. Administration No. 70315. Order fixing new date for trial and providing for publication. The notification as to the trial of the issues in this case relating to the validity of the paper-writing dated the 3rd day of December, 1947, purporting to be the last will and testament of Fannie A. Burlingame, deceased, having been returned as to Helen Bassett, Eileen Bassett Durante, Mary Anna K. Handwerk, Mildred Rice, Charles H. Smith, Frances O. Lee, Martha Lee, Florence Nuss and Gertrude S. Storey, "Not to be Found," it is, by the Court, this 28th day of May, 1948, ordered that said issues be set down for trial on the 11TH DAY OF OCTOBER, 1948, and that this order and the substance of said issues be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Washington Law Reporter and twice a week for the same period in The Washington Post, the substance of said issues being as follows: Was the said paper writing, filed in this Court (1) the last will and testament of Fannie A. Burlingame, deceased; (2) executed and attested in due form, as required by law? Was said deceased at the time of the alleged making, subscribing, or acknowledging of the said paper writing, of sound and disposing mind and mentally capable of executing a valid deed or contract? Was the said deceased possessed of testamentary capacity to execute said paper writing? Was the said paper writing obtained, or the execution thereof, or the subscription thereto, procured from said deceased by fraud or deceit practiced upon her by some person or persons unknown to caveator? Was the said paper writing obtained, or the execution thereof procured from the deceased, by the undue influence, duress, or coercion of any person or persons? H. A. SCHWEINHAUT, Justice. Newsman's Daughter Has Own Ideas About Truthful Reporting

Christine Shackford is 9 years old and the daughter of United Press Diplomatic Reporter R. H. Shackford.

The other day Chris came home complaining that her girl friend was forever bragging about her father.

"Why don't you tell about your own father when she does that?" asked Mrs. Shackford. "You should be very proud of your father."

"Oh, I am," replied Chris, "and I brag about him, too. I tell her that we have five television sets and three automobiles and daddy makes a million dollars a week."

"But Chris," protested the startled Mrs. Shackford, "why don't you tell her some true stories about Daddy—like the story of how he covered the revolution in Bogota?"

"Oh," scoffed Chris, "who would believe that?"

EVERYBODY GETS THE WASHINGTON POST

When Adm. Sir Frederick H. G. Dalrymple-Hamilton was appointed admiral to the British joint service mission in Washington, our morning contemporary obligingly put this headline on the item:

Dalrymple-Hamilton Gets Washington Post

Now that Sir Frederick is moving over here, we'll be able to give him home delivery instead of the mail edition.

TAKE-A-DEEP-BREATH DEPT.

I was sure that District Liner Petty's long title wouldn't hold the record for very long.

Hal Feyling calls attention to Samuel W. Evans, who is Chief, Visual Aids Unit, Technical Aids Section, V. D. Division, U. S. Public Health Service, Federal Security Agency.

But Frederick G. Hamley, general solicitor of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners, has a better title. He is also:

Chairman of the Standing Committee to Survey and Report as to Developments During the Year in the Field of Public Utility Law, Public Utility Law Section, American Bar Association.

This information comes from Stanley Allyson, who doesn't have a bad little title himself. He's Treasurer and Acting Administrative Secretary of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners.

By comparison, Adm. Sir Frederick H. G. Dalrymple-Hamilton is a piker.

GIVE-AWAYS

"One radio, for hospitalized servicemen or veterans. Good set but needs minor repairs." (T/Sergt. R. S. Thorn, 2311 Washington circle nw.)

"One dozen beautiful kittens—assorted." (Alexandria 2257 or Alexandria 4912).

TAKE HEED, FELLOWS

A Randolph pl. man was held for the grand jury Monday on a charge of arson, after his wife told the judge that hubby got drunk and tried to set the house on fire.

The defendant explained that while his wife held down a job, he stayed home and spent 19 hours a day taking care of the kids and doing the housework.

"So every now and then," he told the court, "I go out on a spree."

He said he loved her very much,
And led her to the parson.
But now that burning love of his
Has got him charged with arson.

So here's advice for married men:
Don't start out on a spree
Unless you want to face a judge
And then the grand jury.

MAIL BAG

Dear Bill:

We're tired of hearing you and Jerry Strong talk about the wonderful game of golf you shoot.

We challenge you to meet us on the links, the terms of the challenge being that we pick the course and the referee. Bill Herson will be the referee, so that there will be somebody present who can match Strong's corn.

Now—put up or shut up.

Dutch Bergman
Steve Douglas

Dear WRC:

We accept the challenge, but we're amazed that you overlooked a couple of good angles in drawing up your provisions.

For example, you forgot to stipulate that we must putt while standing on one leg. Or tee off with our sacks on our backs.

So name the day, and we'll make those NBC chimes of yours sound like a tolling bell. It will toll for thee, duffers.

Bill

P. S.—Would you rather wait until we move into WTOP, and make this an internetwork scrap? Or do you think by that time you'll be too preoccupied for golf?

Leonard Lyons . . .

NEW YORK.—At a Los Angeles dinner attended by Gov. Earl Warren, some guests discovered that telling the harried bartender the drinks were for Governor Warren they could get quick service, one began "three martinis. They're for the Governor." He returned and asked: "daiquiris—for the Governor," and then "three Scotches, for the Governor." The bartender sighed: "The Governor sure is mixing his drinks tonight."

G. B. Shaw never resents, but is always amused by, people around him who capitalize on his friendship — particularly when the victim is a person of means. The press agent of a movie company found it necessary to see Shaw on a business matter. A man who was in charge of Shaw's appointments that day demanded a £250 fee for himself, for arranging the appointment . . . The press-agent managed to reach Shaw on the phone, and reported this incident. "And did you pay him the £250?" Shaw laughed . . . "Of course not," said the press-agent . . . "No?" said Shaw, just before hanging up. "Then why bother me?"

Max Band, the painter whose exhibition is at the Wildenstein Galleries, just returned from Hollywood, where he spent eight years without doing a portrait of any screen star. 'I kept telling those movie actors," Band explained, "How can I make you happier than Technicolor?"

Parks Johnson, of the "Vox Pop" program, claims the distinction of being the first to offer money giveaways on a radio program. Sixteen years ago he did a street-interview program, set up his equipment on a street in Houston, and discovered that the snowstorm had chased all people indoors. There was nobody for him to interview. The desperate Johnson searched his pockets, found $40 there, rushed to a movie across the street and changed his money into 40 $1 bills. Then he told a movie usher: "I'll give you $1 for every question you answer correctly" — and asked questions which were easy to answer. Within a few minutes the streets were jammed with people who had heard that by answering a question they'd win $1.

MacArthur Return Not Feared

By Drew Pearson

Prior to the Wisconsin primary, in which General MacArthur's presidential ambitions took their severest jolt, no Democratic leaders were enthusiastic about MacArthur's return to the United States. Since Wisconsin, however, they feel differently.

Pearson

Shortly before the Wisconsin balloting, Joe Keenan, who has patriotically spent two long years in Japan prosecuting war criminals, made a personal report to the White House. During the visit, Keenan told President Truman about a conversation he had had with General MacArthur in Tokyo.

"No hero's return for me," Keenan quoted MacArthur as saying. "If the President sends for me, I'd park my plane at the National Airport, drive to the White House, report to the President and then fly back to Tokyo immediately."

President Truman, greatly interested, remarked that if he thought that was what MacArthur would really do, he was tempted to send for him right away.

Note—More recently President Truman has sent word to MacArthur advising him that he is welcome to return to the United States any time he chooses, if he wants to return, and if he feels his absence from the Orient will not endanger our interests there. However, the President has made it clear to MacArthur that he will not exercise his authority as commander in chief to order him home.

GOP Nepotism

When Congressman "Runt" Bishop of Illinois heard that a cripple, Lonnie Franklin, was being fired as Democratic House doorkeeper in order to create a job for the son of Congressman Leo Allen, also of Illinois, Bishop remarked:

"I would have fired Lonnie long ago. I understand he's a Democratic committeeman in South Carolina."

What Congressman Bishop didn't know was that the crippled doorkeeper had been doing odd jobs for Bishop without pay. On that very day he had taken home 7000 envelopes to address for the Illinois Congressman after hours.

Secret New Lobby

A mysterious organization, called the Foundation for Economic Education, has set up a vigorous lobby aimed at wrecking the European Recovery Program. It is now busy entertaining Congressmen, writing statements for them and printing tons of propaganda.

Brains behind the movement is Leonard Reed, brought to Washington last month by New York's Republican Congressman Ralph Gwinn. Reed started off with a dinner, attended by about 35 Congressmen, at the fashionable Statler Hotel. He has now organized a spearhead of isolationist Congressmen who are trying to block appropriations for Europe.

Deep, John L. Lewis

Deep and devious are the ways of John L. Lewis.

The other day a little noticed news item appeared in the papers. It said that Ray Edmundson, formerly of United Mine Workers' District 12, Illinois, had been given a job as director of the Kansas City office of District 50.

To the average reader this meant nothing. To coal miners it meant that John L. Lewis was taking back to his bosom his worst miner enemy. And to inside politicians it meant even more—that John L. was brewing high-powered political medicine, probably had picked his Republican candidates for President and Vice President.

Ray Edmundson used to be John L. Lewis's right-hand man in Illinois. Later they broke, and Edmundson tried to run against Lewis for the UMW presidency. John L., however, permits no opposition to his rule, and Edmundson was kicked out of the convention hall.

They became bitter enemies. Few men in labor circles hated each other more. Lewis was even accused of trying to take an AFL salesman's union card away from Edmundson, when the latter, out of a mining job, started selling insurance.

However, Edmundson continued to have a political following among Illinois miners, and also carried weight in Illinois Republican circles. One of his friends has been astute Gov. Dwight Green, the Chicago Tribune's dark horse for the GOP nomination.

Last year Governor Green came near committing political suicide with Illinois miners and labor generally when 111 miners were killed at Centralia, Ill., after they had repeatedly protested that mine conditions were bad, and after a State mine inspector had reported that the mine should be closed. Instead it was kept open, and the mine owner sent a contribution to the Republican campaign fund.

At the time John L. Lewis cried "murder" at Secretary of the Interior Krug, significantly said nothing about Governor Green or the Republican Illinois leaders.

All of which may have bearing on the return of Ray Edmundson to an important job under John L. Lewis. For before Lewis would take his most hated enemy, Edmundson, back under his wing, you can be certain a political deal was in the background.

So here is a prediction: Lewis's candidate for the GOP nomination will be Speaker Joe Martin, with whom he suddenly arranged for a settlement of the recent coal strike. Lewis's candidate for Vice President on the Martin ticket will be Governor Green of Illinois.

I only wish

I wish I had the privilege now . . . To love and comfort you . . . And give whatever else you need . . . To make your dreams come true . . . Because I know your heart deserves . . . The best that life can hold . . . And every day and every night . . . You ought to gather gold There should not be a single tear . . . To touch your loving eyes . . . Or any color in your world . . . That does not harmonize . . . I only wish I had the chance . . . To keep you in my care . . . And offer you the paradise . . . That I would have you share . . . To kiss you and to promise you . . . That we would never part . . . And cherish you for evermore . . . With my adoring heart.
